In The Matter Of:

John Alfred Donovan v. Shell UK Ltd

> Day 1 June 15, 1999

Smith Bernal Reporting Ltd 180 Fleet Street London EC4A 2HG

> Original File DO150699.ASC, 149 Pages Min-U-Script® File ID: 3056024169

Word Index included with this Min-U-Script®

	Tuesday, 15th June, 1999		the next few minutes. I am informed that he is on his
2]	(10.30 am)	[2]	way from Liverpool Street.
3]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.	[3]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: What is the first application that we
4	Opening Submissions by MR COX	14	have to deal with?
	MR COX: May it please you, my Lord, I appear on behalf of	15	MR COX: The first is an application for extension of time the claimant, together with Ms Lindsey Lane and my	161	to serve - learned friend, Mr Geoffrey Hobbs, together with	[7]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That is not going to affect him.
	Mr Philip Roberts, appears on behalf of the defendant.	[8]	MR COX: No, we can deal with that.
9	My Lord, I hope and believe that your Lordship has	[9]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let us deal with that.
	had copies of the skeleton arguments, the various	[10]	MR COX: Thank you very much.
	reading lists, chronologies and bundles of authorities	[11]
	but there are, before entering into the substance of the	[12]	a month to see this. Why should it not go in?
	matter, a number of preliminaries which I have to	[13]	MR HOBBS: Your Lordship has read it, I think.
	trouble your Lordship with. Unless your Lordship has	[14]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have it available. I think I may have any other particular matter, may I introduce those to		read it at home but I have lost the file. Why should it
6]	your Lordship now?	1	not go in?
71	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.	[17]	MR HOBBS: I agree.
8	MR COX: My Lord, they are contained in brief at the end of	[18	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Paragraph 24.
	the claimant's outline of argument at pages 42 and 43.	[19	MR COX: Paragraph 23. This may be something your Lordship
	May I first deal with page 43 but I am reminded that	1	decides that can be dealt be equally swiftly. One can before I do, I ought to tell your Lordship one thing.	10.00	see that there may be an argument to wait until I have
2	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you repeat, where do I find it?	1	opened.
34	MR COX: I beg your pardon, your Lordship has the	(23
	page numbers that I will not.	10.00	to put any witnesses in the witness box. We have got
5	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am quite prepared to look at page 42, Page 1	25	rid of Star Chamber, it is a great mistake, but I cannot Page
	if I had one.	1	force him to put witnesses in the witness-box.
2	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be	[2	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What
21 31	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a	(2) (3)	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do.
21 31 41	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24?	[2] [3] [4]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble.
격 34 41 51	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do.	[2] [3] [4] [5]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that
21 34 41 51 61	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices
21 34 41 51 61 71	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these
21 34 41 51 61 71 84	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship	(21) (31) (41) (51) (61) (71) (81)	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as
21 31 41 51 61 71 81 81	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say.
21 34 41 51 61 77 84 89 01	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody
21 34 41 57 64 77 84 94 01	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [10]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice?
23 34 57 88 99 01 11 21	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things
23 34 57 84 89 01 11 21 34	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not?	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are
21 34 41 57 84 99 01 11 21 34 41	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [11] [12] [13] [14]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of
21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 2	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every
23415789011234456	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15] [16]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton
	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [15] [16] [17]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not
23445677899011234456778	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructing mc and I, as I understand it, were	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [14] [15] [16] [13]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined,
23445678990112344567899	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructing me and I, as I understand it, were instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [7] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [13]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them.
23445678999123445678990	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructing me and I, as I understand it, were instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago notice was served changing that situation, so that the	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them. Secondly, if they decide to say to you, "We are
	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructing me and I, as I understand it, were instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago notice was served changing that situation, so that the position is that the company is without any	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [13] [14] [13] [13] [13] [13] [20] [21]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them. Secondly, if they decide to say to you, "We are not sure who we are going to call, if anybody", and you
	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago notice was served changing that situation, so that the position is that the company is without any representation. It will only be able to be represented	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [13] [14] [14] [14] [14] [20] [21] [22]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them. Secondly, if they decide to say to you, "We are not sure who we are going to call, if anybody", and you have to proceed – you must therefore proceed on the
	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago notice was served changing that situation, so that the position is that the company is without any representation. It will only be able to be represented by its company secretary and he is not here.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [13] [14] [14] [14] [14] [14] [20] [21] [22] [23]	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them. Secondly, if they decide to say to you, "We are not sure who we are going to call, if anybody", and you have to proceed – you must therefore proceed on the basis that you must prepare to cross-examine all of
23456789012345678901234	MR COX: Yes, paragraph 23 and paragraph 24, that should be an accurate guide. I apologise. Do you have a paragraph 23 and 24? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I do. MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, it is paragraph 24 that I wanted to go to first but before I do, I am reminded of something I should have told your Lordship straightaway; that is, Ms Lane and I do not represent the company who are defendants to the counterclaim. The company is at the moment, as I understand it, without representation in court. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has gone up the spout, has it not? MR COX: No, it has not. It is still in existence and its secretary, as I understand it, is on his way this morning but has not yet arrived. My Lord, it is true to say that originally those instructed on behalf of the company but some time ago notice was served changing that situation, so that the position is that the company is without any representation. It will only be able to be represented	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10	MR COX: I am not asking your Lordship to do that. What I am asking your Lordship to do. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is to grumble. MR COX: No, not to grumble. What I am asking for is that your Lordship should say that these hearsay notices should not entitle witnesses to be read and that these witnesses should attend for cross-examination. That, as I understand, your Lordship can say. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do I have the power to stop somebody relying on a hearsay notice? Let me put it to you this way, Mr Cox: two things appear to me to arise out of the fact that there are Civil Evidence Act Notices filed in respect of 12 out of the 14 witnesses, including, as far as I can see, every witness referred to in the defendant's skeleton argument. If they intend to run a defence but are not prepared to put up the witnesses to be cross-examined, I will inevitably construe that against them. Secondly, if they decide to say to you, "We are not sure who we are going to call, if anybody", and you have to proceed – you must therefore proceed on the

	Page 6	[25]	Page 8
[8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [14] [14] [15] [14] [16] [17] [17] [20] [21] [22] [23] [23]	Mr Hobbs, raised in his skeleton argument. They need not detain us [7] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Are they the questions of which passages I should notionally cut out? MR COX: Exactly. I was rather hoping that Ms Lane and Mr Roberts could get together with a blue pencil. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do you want to do that now? Do we want to continue? The trouble with all of this, Mr Hobbs, is that if I was a jury the damage has been done, because I have read it all. On the contrary, from your point of view, it may have exactly the reserve effect; it may be that it makes me think that they are all hysterical. MR HOBBS: It may do, my Lord. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Does it make much sense cutting out things like this? MR HOBBS: Yes, it does. One cannot do this to the nth degree, but it does, because it puts down a clear marker as to what is not in issue for the purposes of cross-examination. I am going try, as I always try, to	[8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	MR JUSTICE LADDE: Secondly, even on the basis of material that I have seen, I think it would be advantageous for you to encapsulate your client's case to me on the nature of the proposal he put forward because, by the time you have got through the experts' reports, there is an awful lot of jargon about and you can end up, I think in all of these things, either identical or quite different and at some stage I will have to distinguish between them.
(2) (3) (4) (5)	that nothing of any significance has happened in the first ten minutes or so of the trial. You have missed nothing. Now that Mr Gill is here, we can carry on. MR COX: We can. My Lord, there are one or two other matters which I have not had a chance to discuss with	[2] [3] [4] [5]	<ul> <li>set out there. There are a number of matters which, by</li> <li>way of amplification and examination of certain parts of</li> <li>the discovery, I would like your Lordship to have in</li> <li>mind prior to embarking upon hearing the evidence.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I tell you what I have done in the</li> <li>way of reading because I have not read all of the</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[6]</li> <li>[7]</li> <li>[8]</li> <li>[9]</li> <li>[10]</li> <li>[11]</li> <li>[12]</li> <li>[13]</li> <li>[14]</li> <li>[15]</li> <li>[16]</li> <li>[17]</li> <li>[19]</li> <li>[20]</li> <li>[21]</li> <li>[22]</li> <li>[23]</li> <li>[24]</li> </ul>	see any witnesses at all until 30 seconds before they go into the box is not an attractive way of conducting efficient litigation but I do not see that we can do anything about it at the moment. Mr Hobbs knows about these things; he knows what the consequences will be if he plays hard to get. Do we need to go any further than that? MR COX: We do not. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Now everybody is sitting down. MR COX: Yes, my Lord, I am just anxious about Mr Gill, who is on his way from the company. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: What time is his train supposed to arrive? MR COX: I am told he was at Liverpool Street half an hour ago. I do not know whether those instructing me are able to give me a better update than that. I think he has probably arrived. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is this Mr Gill? MR COX: It is. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Gill, would you like to take a seat somewhere in the front row? You will be happy to know Page 5	<ul> <li>[6]</li> <li>[7]</li> <li>[8]</li> <li>[9]</li> <li>[10]</li> <li>[11]</li> <li>[12]</li> <li>[13]</li> <li>[14]</li> <li>[15]</li> <li>[16]</li> <li>[17]</li> <li>[18]</li> <li>[19]</li> <li>[20]</li> <li>[21]</li> <li>[22]</li> <li>[23]</li> <li>[24]</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>his initial batting order and that can be done over the short adjournment.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: We do not need to stop now.</li> <li>MR HOBBS: No, we do not.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Your junior and Mr Cox's junior can set about extracting bits which are offensive to you.</li> <li>MR HOBBS: My Lord, yes.</li> <li>MR COX: We really are moving very swiftly indeed.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Would you like a judgment now?</li> <li>MR COX: I am afraid I have not provided my skeleton on disc</li> <li>but I will, if it will assist your Lordship. We will do</li> <li>that today. I apologise for not having done so before.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I think your clerk was told my clerk, I would like to have, if it is available, the pleadings</li> <li>and the witness statements on disc as well.</li> <li>MR COX: We will do our very best to achieve that.</li> </ul>
[2]	in advance, that will no doubt have consequences in cost which will be visited on them, whatever the outcome of this case. The idea that you are not sure you are going to	[2] [3]	focus on matters that I believe to be relevant. I know from past experience that my view of what is relevant does not coincide necessarily with everyone else's. It does help to have some clear guidance as to what we can

-		-1-
[1]	Pharaoh of the authenticity of the miracles that he	1	] pleadings and Mr Hobbs' helpful outline that if it is
0.0	wrought because of the similar tricks able to be	-	capable of being confidential information it is accepted performed by the magicians. It may well be that the		that the circumstances gave rise to an obligation.
[4]	no o to a do o ta se hiter	1 1	I see that from the various written forms of the setting not the same, is a fundamental part of your Lordship's		out of their case that they have put forward.
	judgment in this case.	F	Your Lordship, I think, will not, unless I am much
[7]	·	P	mistaken, be considered with confronting that issue.
[8]		18	] The essential issues that -
1.0	I understand your case, you do not object, so to speak.	1	MR JUSTICE LADDE: That is not quite right.
	Let us see if I have the outline right. There are, in a	[10	m MR COX: Subject obviously - breach of confidence action, at least as you put	[11	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Because although Mr Hobbs may concede forward, the following: there has to be information	[12	] that the transmission - let us leave that to one side.
	which is capable of being treated as confidential. It	[15	] The third point is whether or not it is being used.
	has to have been communicated to the defendant and it	[14	MR COX: Yes.
	has to have been misused by the defendant in one way or	[15	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Once again, the question of whether or another.	[te	i) not the features in the package handed over were unheard
17]		-	of before, completely new or not, may throw light upon
18]		1	the defendant's case that they got it somewhere else
19]		1	because, of course, if these are features which are
-	individual features are discernible elsewhere, the	1	readily known, it makes it less likely that they took package as a whole, whatever that package may be, is		them from your clients. That is the argument.
22]	sufficiently non-trite to be capable of being the	122
	subject of a breach of confidence action.	123	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It also seems to me that that question,
24]		[24	that is the commonness of the features, may also reflect
25]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It does not have to be inventive but if	[25	on the question of whether these were handed over with
	Page 9		Page
		-
	it is trite $\pi$ there is a point at which something is so	1	) an obligation of confidence, in the sense that it may be
[2]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable	[2	that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely
[3] [2]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information.	[2 [3	that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have
[2] [3] [4]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes.	[2 [3 [4]	that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was
[2] [3] [4] [5]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to	[2 [3 [4] [5]	that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was explained and was taken on board and as soon as the
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [9]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular ff	[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] 1] 2]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they –</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] 2] 3]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular IT MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique.	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular ff MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes.	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they –</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> </ul>
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [5] [6] [5] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected - it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> </ul>
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [5] [6] [5] [6] [7] [6] [6] [6] [7] [6] [6] [7] [6] [6] [7] [6] [6] [7] [6] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular ff MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes.	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> </ul>
	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so.	(2 (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (10) (11) (12) (13) (14) (14) (15) (16) (17)	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> </ul>
	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> <li>question whether or not it is a confidential package.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [6] [7] [8] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> <li>question whether or not it is a confidential package.</li> <li>MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that,</li> </ul>
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9] [9	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence.	(2  3  4' (5) (6) (7) (8) [9] (10] (11) (12) (13) (14) (15) (16) (16) (16) (19) (20)	1 that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely 1 obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have 2 known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was 3 explained and was taken on board and as soon as the 3 recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this". MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way. MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who 3 received the information, if they – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite, 3 you would not have expected – it may be said. I just 3 want to check all the factors. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that, even though the issue of handing over in confidence is conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the question whether or not it is a confidential package. MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that, with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1] [1	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence. MR COX: Yes.	(2) (3) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (10) (11) (12) (13) (14) (15) (14) (15) (16) (15) (16) (17) (18) (19) (20) (21)	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected – it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> <li>question whether or not it is a confidential package.</li> <li>MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that,</li> <li>with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you</li> <li>perhaps early on. It may be helpful to see how others</li> </ul>
[2]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]       [2]     [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]       [3]     [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]       [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [0]     [1]     [2]       [4]     [5]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [0]     [1]     [2]       [4]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]       [6]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [6]     [7]     [8]     [9]     [1]     [2]     [3]     [4]     [	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am not sure to what extent there is	[22] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22]	1 that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely 1 obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have 2 known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was 3 explained and was taken on board and as soon as the 3 recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this". MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way. MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who 3 received the information, if they - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite, 3 you would not have expected – it may be said. I just 3 want to check all the factors. MR COX: I quite understand. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that, even though the issue of handing over in confidence is conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the question whether or not it is a confidential package. MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that, with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you perhaps early on. It may be helpful to see how others have approached the task, in not wholly dissimilar
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] 1] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1] 2]	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am not sure to what extent there is even a dispute T	[22] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected - it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> <li>question whether or not it is a confidential package.</li> <li>MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that,</li> <li>with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you</li> <li>perhaps early on. It may be helpful to see how others</li> <li>have approached the task, in not wholly dissimilar</li> <li>circumstances, but obviously each one turning on its</li> </ul>
	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am not sure to what extent there is even a dispute T MR COX: I was going to say to your Lordship that it may	[2 [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	1 that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely 1 obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have 2 known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was 3 explained and was taken on board and as soon as the 1 recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this". MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way. MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who 1 received the information, if they - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite, 1 you would not have expected – it may be said. I just 1 want to check all the factors. MR COX: I quite understand. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that, even though the issue of handing over in confidence is conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the question whether or not it is a confidential package. MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that, with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you perhaps early on. It may be helpful to see how others have approached the task, in not wholly dissimilar circumstances, but obviously each one turning on its facts.
	trivial and so common knowledge that it is not capable of being confidential information. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, you are going to say, or at least you may well say that individual features can be found in other packages but what you are saying is the whole body of proposals your client put forward. MR COX: I am certainly saying that. I am also saying that certain features were unique and, in particular T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Package qua package is unique and some of the features within it are unique. MR COX: Exactly so. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Secondly, you say that that was communicated to the defendants under terms of confidence. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am not sure to what extent there is even a dispute T	[22] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>that if something was absolutely trite, absolutely</li> <li>obvious, the sort of thing that anybody would have</li> <li>known, as soon as the obligation of confidence was</li> <li>explained and was taken on board and as soon as the</li> <li>recipient saw it he said, "There is nothing in this".</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may be throw light on it that way.</li> <li>MR COX: Or indeed the reverse. The conduct of those who</li> <li>received the information, if they -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If they had really thought it was trite,</li> <li>you would not have expected - it may be said. I just</li> <li>want to check all the factors.</li> <li>MR COX: I quite understand.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It may have something to do with that,</li> <li>even though the issue of handing over in confidence is</li> <li>conceded, the reaction to it may be relevant to the</li> <li>question whether or not it is a confidential package.</li> <li>MR COX: As reflected in certain of the authorities that,</li> <li>with your Lordship's permission, I shall show you</li> <li>perhaps early on. It may be helpful to see how others</li> <li>have approached the task, in not wholly dissimilar</li> <li>circumstances, but obviously each one turning on its</li> </ul>

1

<ul> <li>[1] setting the scene because although I know your Lordship</li> <li>[2] will have it, there are various other matters that</li> <li>[3] I wanted to draw your Lordship's attention to.</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Volume what?</li> <li>[2] MR COX: My Lord, the first will be volume 1.</li> <li>[3] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[4] This was between the claimant and the defendant</li> <li>[5] not a case, we say, of the foisting of unsolicited</li> <li>[6] information upon a large company To an extent if you</li> </ul>	[4] MR COX: At page 42. My Lord, an example of what I mean is [5] set out here. This related to a "Let's go racing"
<ul> <li>[6] information upon a large company. To an extent, if you</li> <li>[7] read the witness statements of the defendant, you will</li> <li>[8] get the impression, often in passing rather than</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[6] promotion, a promotional game and an option that had</li> <li>[7] been sought by Mr Danson, the then sales development</li> <li>[8] manager of Shell UK Oil Ltd, on 8th November 1985.</li> </ul>
[8] get the impression, often in passing rather than [9] explicitly spelled out, that Mr Donovan, the claimant, [10] was treated to an extent T this may be a slight	<ul> <li>[9] Mr Donovan responded to Mr Danson's request and he said:</li> <li>[10] "Following our discussions this morning"</li> </ul>
[11] exaggeration $\pi$ as somebody who was one of the general	[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it.
<ul><li>[12] common run of nuisances who would pester them with</li><li>[13] valuable, as they saw it, or invaluable information.</li></ul>	[12] MR COX: Your Lordship will see that the option was to be [13] enforced for a period of two years and Shell would have
[14] This was a situation where the claimant had a long [15] trusted and successful record with Shell as a devisor of	<ul> <li>[14] the right to mount the promotion.</li> <li>[15] Here is what is important: of course there is a</li> </ul>
[16] promotions; a record that went back as far as the early	[16] level here of two parties trying to do their best to
[17] 1980s and your Lordship will have seen the broad setting	[17] satisfy each other. Shell did not have a budget. If
<ul> <li>[18] out of what occurred.</li> <li>[19] So satisfactory had that relationship been to</li> </ul>	[18] you read Stuart Carson's witness statement, who was in [19] 1990 in the Promotions Department, you will see that
[19] So satisfactory had that relationship been to [20] those then responsible for the promotions in what was	[20] Mr Carson refutes the idea generally that options were
[21] called the Promotions Department at Shell-Mex House,	[21] ever granted $\pi$ we say that is just plainly wrong $\pi$ and
[22] that those in charge, chiefly Mr Paul King, National	[22] secondly, that they could have been ever granted. Your
23] Promotions Manager, had got into a habit, when he could	[23] Lordship will have the significance of this because it
[24] not use a particular idea put forward by this claimant, [25] of attempting, by one means or another, to secure the	[24] comes in 1990, as I shall draw your Lordship's attention [25] to in due course, and that options could not have been
Page 1
<ul><li>[1] idea. In other words, the track record of success,</li><li>[2] spectacular in the case of a particular promotion called</li></ul>	[1] granted because there was no budget. That is perfectly
[3] Make Money, which we may have to look at in a little	<ul><li>[2] true. We accept there was no budget within the Shell</li><li>[3] Promotions Department.</li></ul>
[4] while, had meant that Shell had become used to	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Lunderstand the point that your clients
[5] believing, we submit, that an idea from that source was	[5] make. Your clients say, "We had such a good track
<ul> <li>inherently, or likely to be inherently valuable.</li> <li>On various occasions throughout the 1980s, Shell</li> </ul>	[6] record that when we came along with a good idea, whether
[8] had sought to retain for its disposal an idea that it	<ul><li>[7] there was a budget or not, Shell would say, 'That looks</li><li>[8] like a good idea. If we cannot use we will make sure</li></ul>
[9] could not otherwise at that stage use. May I give your	[9] nobody else uses it for a little while and if, within
[10] Lordship just an example or two, hoping that your [11] Lordship sees where I am coming from because it is	[10] the next however long it may be, we decide to use it, we
<ul><li>[11] Lordship sees where I am coming from, because it is</li><li>[12] important to set, when one considers the various</li></ul>	[11] will use it'." It is an indication of whether they [12] thought your chap was a good man, doing his job.
[13] allegations and counter-allegations that are made as we	[13] MR COX: A way was found in this case of using the balance
[14] move into 1989, 1990 and 1992, just to set this in its	[14] of an outstanding transfer of monies from Shell to Don
<ul><li>[15] proper context, to set both the conduct of Shell, its</li><li>[16] attitude towards this claimant and the way it had</li></ul>	[15] Marketing of producing and providing consideration for
[17] received other information and treated it in confidence	[16] that option. In fact, there was no extra money used but [17] there was a balance that would have been due back to
[18] and sought to secure it, knowing its obligations, for	[18] Shell and, therefore, it was agreed that that balance
[19] the future, though it could not then use it. [20] My Lord, the first document may I invite your	[19] would remain with Don Marketing.
<ul><li>My Lord, the first document may I invite your</li><li>[21] Lordship to have, whether your Lordship does I hope so,</li></ul>	[20] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I understand all this, Mr Cox. I do not
[22] but it may be necessary for this exercise to have at	<ul><li>[21] want to deflect you from the course you are adopting</li><li>[22] but, to some extent, this is consistent with what the</li></ul>
[23] your hand the discovery bundle section E, various of	[23] defendants concede in their defence. They concede $\pi$ at
[24] them, I am afraid, as I go through and chart for your [25] Lordship Π	[24] the end, the precise financial terms of other promotion
	[25] suggestions are secondary, it seems to me. Page 16

	new contraction of the second se
[1]	The defendants accept that over the years they	[1] unquestionably been devised by Mr Donovan, it was one of have accepted and have utilised projects put forward by	[2] the top five promotions of all time, I understand. He your client. There are one or two where they deny that	3] was credited on all of the documents and printed the idea was from your client but they say that your	4] leaflets as being the author of it. He won awards, as client did the work of putting it into operation $\pi$	[5] did Shell. This was the formative and crucial, there may be a little dispute about that $\pi$ but at the	[6] successful promotion which established Mr Donovan's [7] reputation and your Lordship will have seen throughout end of the day, that your client put forward a number of projects which were adopted by Shell, or secured by	[8] the 1980s that he devised a good number of others, not
	Shell, and in one or two cases were apparently very	[9] only for Shell but also for other main High Street
10]	successful is not really in doubt.	[10] retailers.
11]	MR COX: My Lord, it may be because what is in doubt and	[11] My Lord, in about 1985, about a year or so after
12]	what is denied is the option in 1990.	[12] Make Money had reached its zenith of success, it was a
13]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether there was an option in 1990 on	[13] game $\pi$ your Lordship may remember, I do not know $\pi$
14]	this idea will depend upon evidence relating to this	[14] where you could go and get a half of a money note and
15]	idea, or are you saying it was always done by way of an	[15] then, if you were lucky, you got one later when you made
16]	option?	[16] a transaction that matched. If it matched, you got the
17]	MR COX: No, what I am saying is that contrary to what is	[17] value.
18]	asserted by the only witness who can give real evidence	[18] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I probably would have remembered it i
19]	on this, Mr Carson, there was in the past a precedent,	[19] I had ever won any money.
	indeed, more than one, for giving options.	[20] MR COX: It was extraordinarily popular. Mr Donovan then 21]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Junderstand the point. You do not need	[21] began thinking $\pi$ he is, we say, a man of original mind, to really show me all of these because you can put them	[22] a man extremely good at inventing both games and to Mr Carson and make him feel uncomfortable, on the	[23] promotional ideas. He came up with an idea for a assumption that he is going to be called as a witness.	[24] multipartner game. It was going to be called Megamatch
	Work on that assumption throughout, otherwise this trial	[25] and it involved the playing of Make Money in
1	Page 17
[2] [3] [4] ] [5] ] [6] s [7] [7] [8] 1 [9] [9] [0] [1] ]	is not going to last very long. MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so	<ol> <li>national-represented High Street retailers all around</li> <li>the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>between potential partners in that T</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>company folding in?</li> <li>MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> </ol>
[2] [3] [4] ] [5] ] [6] s [6] s [7] [6] s [6] s [7] [7] [8] 1 [9] [9] [1] ] [1] ] [2] [6]	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] ] [5] 1 [5] 1 [5] 1 [5] 1 [5] 1 [6] 5 [7] [7] 1 [6] 5 [7] [7] 1 [7] 1 [7	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] ] [5] ] [6] s [7] [7] [8] 1 [8] 1 [9] [9] [1] 1 [1] 1 [3] [3] [3] [3] [3] [3] [3] [3] [3] [3]	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down.	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] ] [5] ] [6] s [7] [6] s [6] s [6] s [7] [7] [8] 1 [7] [8] 1 [7] [8] 1 [7] [8] 1 [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7]	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authoritics.</li> </ul>
2] 33] 44] 1 55] 1 55] 1 56] 5 77] 16] 5 17] 17] 1 17] 1 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 17] 18 17] 18 18 17] 18 18 17] 18 18 17] 18 18 17] 18 18 19] 18 19] 18	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that <sub>[7]</sub></li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authoritics.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> </ul>
2] 3] 4] 1 5] 1 6] 5 7] 1 6] 5 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 5 7] 1 7] 5 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1 7] 1	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may ay so.	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that [7]</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authoritics.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> </ul>
2] 3] 4] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5] 5]	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing.</li> <li>May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of.</li> <li>My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that [7]</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [5] [6] [5] [6] [5] [6] [5] [6] [5] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing.</li> <li>May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of.</li> <li>My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> <li>the 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that [[</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing.</li> <li>May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of.</li> <li>My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> <li>the 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship</li> <li>to something that is important, and that is volume 1,</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that [[</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> <li>the 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship</li> <li>to something that is important, and that is volume 1,</li> <li>age 67, because the very successful – again, I will</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> <li>[20] to go in order to produce the idea T it was not simply</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing.</li> <li>May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of.</li> <li>My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>cortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> <li>the 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship</li> <li>to something that is important, and that is volume 1,</li> <li>age 67, because the very successful – again, I will</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> <li>[20] to go in order to produce the idea T it was not simply</li> <li>[21] the work of a moment's inspiration in the bath, albeit</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go ortissimo and what I may go slightly less so - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may ay so. The next stage of events, if I can come through he 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship to something that is important, and that is volume 1, age 67, because the very successful – again, I will ot dwell on it, save to introduce your Lordship to the ocument – Make Money project which had been devised	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> <li>[20] to go in order to produce the idea T it was not simply</li> <li>[21] the work of a moment's inspiration in the bath, albeit</li> <li>[22] good ideas are often borne that way. It was the work</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5] [5	<ul> <li>MR COX: That may be a happy thing.</li> <li>May I take your Lordship then, because if I may</li> <li>I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that</li> <li>I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already</li> <li>several steps in advance of my own.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind</li> <li>made up.</li> <li>MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of.</li> <li>My Lord, the story to an extent, although may</li> <li>take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go</li> <li>fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will</li> <li>low everything down.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship</li> <li>tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may</li> <li>ay so.</li> <li>The next stage of events, if I can come through</li> <li>the 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship</li> <li>to something that is important, and that is volume 1,</li> <li>age 67, because the very successful – again, I will</li> <li>ot dwell on it, save to introduce your Lordship to the</li> <li>ocument – Make Money project which had been devised</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> <li>[20] to go in order to produce the idea T it was not simply</li> <li>[21] the work of a moment's inspiration in the bath, albeit</li> <li>[22] good ideas are often borne that way. It was the work</li> <li>[23] and product of a background of intellectual application</li> </ul>
	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may ay so. The next stage of events, if I can come through he 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship to something that is important, and that is volume 1, age 67, because the very successful – again, I will ot dwell on it, save to introduce your Lordship to the ocument – Make Money project which had been devised y, we say, this claimant, at least to this extent, that to lawful wave of elusion the again is the JUS	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in .</li> <li>[19] which the mental process through which the claimant had</li> <li>[20] to go in order to produce the idea T it was not simply</li> <li>[21] the work of a moment's inspiration in the bath, albeit</li> <li>[22] good ideas are often borne that way. It was the work</li> <li>[23] and product of a background of intellectual application</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	MR COX: That may be a happy thing. May I take your Lordship then, because if I may I want to trace a story for your Lordship. I know that I am dealing here with, if I may say so, a mind already several steps in advance of my own. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought you were going to say a mind made up. MR COX: That I would never accuse your Lordship of. My Lord, the story to an extent, although may take your Lordship's guidance on what I may go fortissimo and what I may go slightly less so - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I suspect me trying to stop you will low everything down. MR COX: I am very willing to be stopped if your Lordship tas a point and I am seeming to belabouring it, if I may ay so. The next stage of events, if I can come through he 1980s relatively quickly, is to take your Lordship to something that is important, and that is volume 1, age 67, because the very successful – again, I will ot dwell on it, save to introduce your Lordship to the ocument – Make Money project which had been devised y, we say, this claimant, at least to this extent, that to lawful wave of elusion the again is the JUS	<ul> <li>[2] the country. It would have been the largest game ever</li> <li>[3] to have been played and with Shell's enthusiastic assent</li> <li>[4] at that time, Mr Donovan chaired a number of meetings</li> <li>[5] between potential partners in that T</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was this the one that was actually</li> <li>[7] aborted at the last minute and resulted in the original</li> <li>[8] company folding in?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes. My Lord, page 67, because it is important to</li> <li>[10] track. One of the issues that your Lordship will have</li> <li>[11] to decide is whether this idea was simply an aspiration</li> <li>[12] on which no brain work, no ingenuity, no intellectual</li> <li>[13] effort had been expended in order to produce it. This</li> <li>[14] is one of the relevant features that I will certainly</li> <li>[15] take your Lordship to in the authorities.</li> <li>[16] One of the things that may assist your Lordship in</li> <li>[17] deciding that this idea was capable of being protected</li> <li>[18] by the obligation for confidence is to see the way in</li> <li>[19] the work of a moment's inspiration in the bath, albeit</li> <li>[20] good ideas are often borne that way. It was the work</li> <li>[21] and product of a background of intellectual application</li> </ul>

		645	COMEDUMV EISE HE COMES MOND WILL & PROMENT WINCOM 1
	Lordship briefly $\Pi$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Before you do that, once again, I am	1	somebody else. He comes along with a project which, in fact, is very similar to other people's projects, not
[2]	very anxious to know where the battleground between you		identical, but similar. He says, "This is confidential, and he goes along to Mobil and says, and Mr Hobbs is. Let us assume that your client, without any effort, completely by good luck, struck upon	[4]	"Here is my promotion, you can have it in confidence".
		[0]	Assuming that it happens to be different to everything something which had never been done before. MR COX: Yes.	[0]
[7]		[7]	that has gone before and was presented to Mobil in
[8]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: And said, "Gosh, I could commercialise	1	confidence, can Mobil use it without regard to his this". Because of the nature of the case, let us assume	1	wishes, even though it is not a breakthrough, not a $\pi$
	it is a proposal for a game. It was something which	[10]	MR COX: No, they cannot.
• •	came to him in a dream. There was no conscious effort	[11]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I thought that would be your position.
• •	at all. Let us assume for the moment that it was indeed	[12]	MR COX: It is my position.
	novel, so nobody else in the world knew it. He went to	[13]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The question of whether or not this is Shell and said, "I have this fantastic idea, it took me	Same	very similar there comes a point, we will see it no zero effort to produce it, do you want it?" Is that not	[15]	doubt in due course in Coco v Clark, that you cannot confidential information?		protect trivial tittle-tattle and you cannot protect [17]	MR COX: Yes, of course.		stuff which is already public. We can see that in
[18]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am a little bit concerned about	[18]	Spycatcher, amongst other things.
	whether we are going to end up with a quasi patent	[19]	MR COX: Yes.
[20]	action on how much effort was put into designing this.	[20]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I think you can probably see it in OSI,
[21]	MR COX: When one looks at the authorities, any judgment of		that long case about contact lenses. All of that this kind, as your Lordship knows better than I, is a		I understand, and the question of how close you are to matter of balancing various factors and one of the		other things readily available may throw light upon things that may $\pi$ we say exactly to your Lordship that		whether the similarities between what the donor gave and [25]	the idea in this case was of just such a kind, Page 21	[25]	what the donee used indicates misuse of the information Page immediately companyially attractive incerting line to a immediately commercially attractive, immediately a saleable proposition one that could be seen to put a		handed over or is consistent with spontaneous,
[2]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a	[2]	independent derivation.
(2) (3)	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that	[2] [3]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes.
(2) (3) (4)	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and	[2] [3] [4]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand
(2) (3) (4) (5)	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought	[2] [3] [4] [5]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6)	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth <sub>i</sub> shattering. If there was a category of Nobel
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7)	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won,
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth <sub>s</sub> hattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth <sub>s</sub> shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth <sub>s</sub> hattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [13] [14]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough.
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [13] [13] [13] [14] [4] [16] [16]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [13] [13] [13] [13] [14] [16] [4]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.
<ul> <li>[2]</li> <li>[3]</li> <li>[4]</li> <li>[5]</li> <li>[6]</li> <li>[7]</li> <li>[8]</li> <li>[10]</li> <li>[11]</li> <li>[12]</li> <li>[13]</li> <li>[14]</li> <li>[16]</li> <li>[17]</li> <li>[18]</li> <li>[18]</li> </ul>	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to pring people together who had never been brought before n a particular relationship before.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [15] [15] [17] (18]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated. MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only
<ul> <li>[2]</li> <li>[3]</li> <li>[4]</li> <li>[5]</li> <li>[6]</li> <li>[7]</li> <li>[8]</li> <li>[10]</li> <li>[13]</li> <li>[13]</li> <li>[14]</li> <li>[17]</li> <li>[18]</li> <li>[19]</li> </ul>	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before n a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem T not	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] (18] [19]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated. MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem T not problem, the things that are crossing my mind after	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [18] [18] [19] [19] [20] (18]	independent derivation. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was carth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two. MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the curpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated. MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [22] [21] [1]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem mot a problem, the things that are crossing my mind after reading a fair amount of the evidence, the witness	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [17] [17] [19] [20] (19] [21] [21] [21] [21] [21] [21] [21] [21	<ul> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [13] [14] [13] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [2] [21] [1]	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem f not a problem, the things that are crossing my mind after reading a fair amount of the evidence, the witness tatements and the skeletons. Assume that the claimant	[2] [9] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [19] [20] [21] [22]	<ul> <li>independent derivation.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the words of the wise.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [13] [14] [15] [13] [14] [15] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem for a fair amount of the evidence, the witness tatements and the skeletons. Assume that the claimant and not been Mr Donovan, it had been somebody	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22]	<ul> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the curpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the words of the wise.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You do not want to just persuade me.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem f not a problem, the things that are crossing my mind after reading a fair amount of the evidence, the witness tatements and the skeletons. Assume that the claimant had not been Mr Donovan, it had been somebody rightfully less capable than him. Mr Donovan does not	[2] [9] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>independent derivation.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the words of the wise.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You do not want to just persuade me. For example, the last thing you want me to do is find in</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [22] [22] [23] [1] [22] [23] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem for a fair amount of the evidence, the witness tatements and the skeletons. Assume that the claimant and not been Mr Donovan, it had been somebody	[2] [9] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>independent derivation.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the curpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the words of the wise.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You do not want to just persuade me.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [19] [19] [19] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10] [10	saleable proposition, one that could be seen to put a new twist or slant upon existing schemes and one that was taken up with enthusiasm by those at Shell and indeed, first when Shell received it, an option sought on it. However, if your Lordship should be foxed, as we would put it, by a lot of other schemes being cast upon the ground and said to be similar and share individual features, we say that one of the factors your Lordship may consider is that it was not just that kind of idea that could emerge from the ether. It did require an insight into the way the relationships might work, for example, between High Street retailers and major national brands and the background of this idea in this case was a lot of exhausting, patient work, trying to oring people together who had never been brought before in a particular relationship before. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. Let me explain the problem f not a problem, the things that are crossing my mind after reading a fair amount of the evidence, the witness tatements and the skeletons. Assume that the claimant had not been Mr Donovan, it had been somebody rightfully less capable than him. Mr Donovan does not	[2] [9] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>independent derivation.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I can see all of that. I can understand why you would wish to persuade me that this was earth-shattering. If there was a category of Nobel prizes for forecourt promotions this would have achieved one, or two.</li> <li>MR COX: If one listens to the rhetoric of Shell and one also takes into account the awards that this scheme won, one might think that those claims were not entirely unjustified.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt you are going to have fun if you are given anybody to cross-examine; fair enough. All I am wondering is whether I need any of this for the purpose of deciding whether there was material which was capable of being treated.</li> <li>MR COX: If one examines the authorities, and I am only unxious to assist your Lordship, various learned judges over the years have found this a helpful factor to take into account. I will never be one not to listen to the words of the wise.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You do not want to just persuade me. For example, the last thing you want me to do is find in</li> </ul>

[1	] Court of Appeal or the House of Lords or the European	[1] good deal of work and patient assimilation of experience
12	g Court of Justice, or the Hague Tribunal.	[2] in the putting together of these partners, and he says
Į2		[3] at page 110:
-	l Lordship's judgment will, I am sure, weigh heavily with	[4] "Successful cooperation in this promotion may also
Į.	us all in relation to any further proceedings.	[5] lead to future joint promotional projects for premium or ſe		[6] continuity programmes which could also take advantage of setting out the kind of explicit confidential assertion	[7] the vast purchasing power of the project 100 consortium of condition with which all of Mr Donovan's proposals to	[8] to minimise unit costs. Such a joint venture would
Į2	Shell were habitually covered.	[9] provide consumers with an opportunity to collect a
{10		[10] particular premium item or a full set of items in a
[11		[11] relatively short time."
[12	-	[12] My Lord, the proposed members of the consortium at in confidence and, in this case, more strongly set out	[13] that time were set out in page 75 $_{\text{ff}}$ can I take you back because the consortium, as it is referred to at	[14] very quickly and 76 as being Woolworths, Shell, Bass, paragraph 2, or the proposed consortium, was already in the process of being assembled.	<ul> <li>[15] Sketchley; in other words, High Street retailers</li> <li>[16] providing different services or products. 75 and 76.</li> </ul>
[17		[17] This game was original. It had never been done
118		[18] before. It was held in confidence by Shell but plainly, normal way which Mr Donovan and his company would put	[19] it gave rise to other thoughts and thinking by this proposals. It is a document of about 40 pages. It sets	[20] claimant.
	out definitions of the particular matching halves.	[21] My Lord, the next phase of this is simply this:
[22	i waa waa ahaa ahaa ahaa ahaa ahaa ahaa	[22] that that project, as your Lordship rightly observed, the experts that the form in which Mr Donovan put	[23] folded because Shell withdrew from it after some months
[24	forward the multibrand loyalty concept with which your	[24] of work by the claimant. He has no complaint about
[28	Lordship is dealing is deficient in some way or would	[25] that. That was a commercial decision they could take.
	Page 25	Page 27
	not have been taken seriously commercially. That form
[3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22]	<ul> <li>was by no means incompatible with the way he put forward</li> <li>other schemes or ideas to Shell.</li> <li>My Lord, he sets out in this document the way the</li> <li>game was to be played. He says at page 74 that Don</li> <li>Marketing were the instigators of the concept and are</li> <li>acting as coordinators for the project T page 74.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.</li> <li>MR COX: Top of page 73, if I can invite you back to it:</li> <li>"The proposed multibrand promotion will involve several major High Street multiples, operating in</li> <li>complementary but non-competitive retail trades, each</li> <li>with national or near national representation,</li> <li>participating at the same time in the same colossal</li> <li>game."</li> <li>Once you start reading those phrases, one begins</li> <li>to see how the germ of the idea for a long-term scheme,</li> <li>not dependent upon a game, began to occur to this</li> <li>claimant.</li> <li>At the end of the document, at page 110 of the</li> <li>bundle, having set out various advantages of the game</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] As a consequence, the predecessor of Don Marketing, as</li> <li>[2] it now exists, folded. It was put into liquidation.</li> <li>[3] Some years went by Shell operated a fairly</li> <li>[4] straightforward standard collection scheme called</li> <li>[5] Collect and Select.</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In your chronology T</li> <li>[7] MR COX: My Lord.</li> <li>[9] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The folding of Make Money referred</li> <li>[9] to here?</li> <li>[10] MR COX: Autumn 1986, page 1.</li> <li>[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Autumn 1986.</li> <li>[12] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have the wrong chronology.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: This should be one in table form for the claimant,</li> <li>[15] if your Lordship has it.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: LE 2436.2 at the bottom.</li> <li>[17] MR COX: No. Your Lordship has another one. There are</li> <li>[18] Lusually two versions of history in a case. That one is</li> <li>[19] the defendant's. My Lord, this is T</li> <li>[20] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have it.</li> <li>[21] MR COX: I do propose to move as swiftly as I can, if</li> <li>[22] I may.</li> </ul>
[3] [4] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	<ul> <li>was by no means incompatible with the way he put forward</li> <li>other schemes or ideas to Shell.</li> <li>My Lord, he sets out in this document the way the</li> <li>game was to be played. He says at page 74 that Don</li> <li>Marketing were the instigators of the concept and are</li> <li>acting as coordinators for the project T page 74.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.</li> <li>MR COX: Top of page 73, if I can invite you back to it:</li> <li>"The proposed multibrand promotion will involve</li> <li>several major High Street multiples, operating in</li> <li>complementary but non-competitive retail trades, each</li> <li>with national or near national representation,</li> <li>participating at the same time in the same colossal</li> <li>game."</li> <li>Once you start reading those phrases, one begins</li> <li>to see how the germ of the idea for a long-term scheme,</li> <li>not dependent upon a game, began to occur to this</li> <li>claimant.</li> <li>At the end of the document, at page 110 of the</li> <li>bundle, having set out various advantages of the game</li> <li>that he is proposing, it speaks of the possibilities for</li> <li>the future. Bearing in mind that your Lordship on</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] it now exists, folded. It was put into liquidation.</li> <li>[3] Some years went by. Shell operated a fairly</li> <li>[4] straightforward standard collection scheme called</li> <li>[5] Collect and Select.</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In your chronology T</li> <li>[7] MR COX: My Lord.</li> <li>[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: T is the folding of Make Money referred</li> <li>[9] to here?</li> <li>[10] MR COX: Autumn 1986, page 1.</li> <li>[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Autumn 1986.</li> <li>[12] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have the wrong chronology.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: This should be one in table form for the claimant,</li> <li>[15] if your Lordship has it.</li> <li>[16] MR COX: No. Your Lordship has another one. There are</li> <li>[18] Usually two versions of history in a case. That one is</li> <li>[19] the defendant's. My Lord, this is T</li> <li>[20] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have it.</li> <li>[21] MR COX: I do propose to move as swiftly as I can, if</li> </ul>
[3] [4] [6] [7] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [16] [17] [19] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	<ul> <li>was by no means incompatible with the way he put forward</li> <li>other schemes or ideas to Shell.</li> <li>My Lord, he sets out in this document the way the</li> <li>game was to be played. He says at page 74 that Don</li> <li>Marketing were the instigators of the concept and are</li> <li>acting as coordinators for the project T page 74.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.</li> <li>MR COX: Top of page 73, if I can invite you back to it:</li> <li>"The proposed multibrand promotion will involve</li> <li>several major High Street multiples, operating in</li> <li>complementary but non-competitive retail trades, each</li> <li>with national or near national representation,</li> <li>participating at the same time in the same colossal</li> <li>game."</li> <li>Once you start reading those phrases, one begins</li> <li>to see how the germ of the idea for a long-term scheme,</li> <li>not dependent upon a game, began to occur to this</li> <li>claimant.</li> <li>At the end of the document, at page 110 of the</li> <li>bundle, having set out various advantages of the game</li> <li>that he is proposing, it speaks of the possibilities for</li> <li>the future. Bearing in mind that your Lordship on</li> <li>looking at this document a little more closely, which we</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] it now exists, folded. It was put into liquidation.</li> <li>[3] Some years went by. Shell operated a fairly</li> <li>[4] straightforward standard collection scheme called</li> <li>[5] Collect and Select.</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In your chronology T</li> <li>[7] MR COX: My Lord.</li> <li>[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: T is the folding of Make Money referred</li> <li>[9] to here?</li> <li>[10] MR COX: Autumn 1986, page 1.</li> <li>[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Autumn 1986.</li> <li>[12] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have the wrong chronology.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: This should be one in table form for the claimant,</li> <li>[15] if your Lordship has it.</li> <li>[16] MR COX: No. Your Lordship has another one. There are</li> <li>[18] Usually two versions of history in a case. That one is</li> <li>[19] the defendant's. My Lord, this is T</li> <li>[20] MR COX: I do propose to move as swiftly as I can, if</li> <li>[21] Imay.</li> <li>[23] My Lord, Shell began to run a Collect and Select</li> <li>[24] scheme. This was a simple scheme in which you collected</li> </ul>
[3] [4] [6] [7] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [16] [17] [19] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	<ul> <li>was by no means incompatible with the way he put forward</li> <li>other schemes or ideas to Shell.</li> <li>My Lord, he sets out in this document the way the</li> <li>game was to be played. He says at page 74 that Don</li> <li>Marketing were the instigators of the concept and are</li> <li>acting as coordinators for the project T page 74.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.</li> <li>MR COX: Top of page 73, if I can invite you back to it:</li> <li>"The proposed multibrand promotion will involve</li> <li>several major High Street multiples, operating in</li> <li>complementary but non-competitive retail trades, each</li> <li>with national or near national representation,</li> <li>participating at the same time in the same colossal</li> <li>game."</li> <li>Once you start reading those phrases, one begins</li> <li>to see how the germ of the idea for a long-term scheme,</li> <li>not dependent upon a game, began to occur to this</li> <li>claimant.</li> <li>At the end of the document, at page 110 of the</li> <li>bundle, having set out various advantages of the game</li> <li>that he is proposing, it speaks of the possibilities for</li> <li>the future. Bearing in mind that your Lordship on</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] it now exists, folded. It was put into liquidation.</li> <li>[3] Some years went by. Shell operated a fairly</li> <li>[4] straightforward standard collection scheme called</li> <li>[5] Collect and Select.</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In your chronology T</li> <li>[7] MR COX: My Lord.</li> <li>[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: T is the folding of Make Money referred</li> <li>[9] to here?</li> <li>[10] MR COX: Autumn 1986, page 1.</li> <li>[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Autumn 1986.</li> <li>[12] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have the wrong chronology.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: This should be one in table form for the claimant,</li> <li>[15] if your Lordship has it.</li> <li>[16] MR COX: No. Your Lordship has another one. There are</li> <li>[18] Usually two versions of history in a case. That one is</li> <li>[19] the defendant's. My Lord, this is T</li> <li>[20] MR COX: I do propose to move as swiftly as I can, if</li> <li>[21] Imay.</li> <li>[23] My Lord, Shell began to run a Collect and Select</li> </ul>

[1] catalogue. The problem with it was that you could not	[1] know.
[2] accumulate points to get the higher, better type of	[2] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is this right: essentially, it may be a
[3] gifts. So motorists and consumers became frustrated.	[3] bit of an oversimplification, Mr Cox, but what
[4] The policy, we say, the scheme was being seen to fail	[4] Mr Donovan suggested was, "Let us expand those places
[5] increasingly over the next few years. It is against	[5] where you can get qualifying points or currency, as it
[6] that background that Mr Paul King, the National	(6) is called, but without damaging Shell by having
[7] Promotions Manager at Shell, approached the claimant	7 competing petrol businesses in it", so a whole group of a again.	[8] non-competing businesses, all providing points, and they [8] By that time a gap of about two years, two and a	[9] would share in increased joint loyalty. So if you go to
[10] half years, had gone by. He had been engaged in work	[10] Sainsbury's to get points, you could also go to Shell to
[11] for other people. Shell had adopted this long-term	[11] get the points, and so on, so that all of them benefit
[12] scheme and, therefore, were not running short-term or	[12] from the speedier acquisition of large numbers of
[13] gaming promotions anymore. That is why, being based	[13] points, without, unlike Greenshield stamps, competing
[14] upon Shell, Mr Donovan's original company went into	[14] with each other.
[15] liquidation. But Mr King approached the claimant, and	[15] MR COX: Your Lordship has the point, save that there are
[16] this is an important moment, we respectfully submit,	(16) other T
[17] because it demonstrates that Shell's attitude at that	[17] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Other points as well.
[18] time, and also the way in which this idea was not only and the second
[19] not unsolicited but was commissioned by the defendant,	[19] exceesis of it just a little, if I may, because it is
[20] because Mr King contacted Mr Donovan in September 1989	[20] important to have it in mind.
[21] and said that there was now consideration, because of	[21] The idea we say was of something rather more
[22] Collect and Select's problems, of returning to	[22] interesting, perhaps, than simply as your Lordship put
23] short-term promotions and he gave Mr Donovan a	[23] it. It was to be, albeit any formulation sometimes
[24] three-fold brief: first, could he devise some short-term	[24] often does not capture its essence, my Lord, it was to
[25] promotions; second, could he think of a way of $\prod$ I hope	[25] be an exclusive consortium of major High Street
Page 29	Page 31
<ul> <li>[2] up Collect and Select, reviving it, because of its</li> <li>[3] apparent fading perception in the forecourts.</li> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. Yes.</li> <li>[5] MR COX: Third, would he think about a long-term replacement</li> <li>[6] for Collect and Select? The fundamental weakness of</li> <li>[7] Collect and Select, as Mr Donovan himself had identified</li> <li>[8] over the intervening years before Mr King had returned</li> <li>[9] to him, was the problem of frustration because of a long</li> <li>[10] time it took to collect for the better goods.</li> <li>[11] Mr Donovan had been thinking, based upon his experience</li> <li>[12] with Megamatch, how to cure those ills.</li> <li>[13] When Mr King came to see him, he asked him</li> <li>[14] directly that question, "Give me an answer to the</li> <li>[15] problems of Collect and Select. Short-term answers were</li> <li>[16] games, trying to make it more interesting by introducing</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] a common promotional currency.</li> <li>[3] Now, the exclusivity was important because, as</li> <li>[4] your Lordship rightly observes, Greenshield stamps died,</li> <li>[5] in effect, we submit as one of the reasons, because it</li> <li>[6] was promiscuous in its distribution of the stamps; in</li> <li>[7] other words, you could perhaps find it at three petrol</li> <li>[8] forecourts in the same local locality, different</li> <li>[9] companies.</li> <li>[10] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Putting it down to basic</li> <li>[11] terms, that was unsatisfactory because it cost the</li> <li>[12] petrol companies, not a lot, but it cost them, the</li> <li>[13] petrol companies, or retailers, for the amount involved</li> <li>[14] in supplying Greenshield stamps to people but they did</li> <li>[15] not get loyalty in exchange. So it cost them something</li> <li>[16] for little return.</li> </ul>
[17] games and other ideas into Collect and Select, but think	[17] MR COX: Yes. The marketing appeals was less. If you have,
[18] about a replacement for Collect and Select as a	[18] as Mr Donovan conceived it, a card which gave you a
[19] long-term loyalty scheme". This was a direct request,	[19] ticket of entry to a club, an exclusive consortium, you
[20] we submit, from the defendant to Mr Donovan.	[20] would not be going to two supermarkets, two oil
[21] In response to that, he produced what your	[21] companies, five ironmongers, whatever it may be. That
[22] Lordship has seen as one of the focal documents in this	[22] would give you a ticket of entry to an exclusive
[23] case. It is in the core bundle, my Lord, but it is also	[23] consortium. You would, if you wished to accumulate
[24] in the volume before your Lordship now at page 331. It	[24] those points, have to go either to Sainsbury's r
[25] may be useful to continue with that volume, I do not	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: This is all an advantage to the
Page 30	Page 32

<ol> <li>retailer, it is not an advantage to the cardholder. For</li> <li>example, nowadays, you can get a NatWest Visa card which</li> <li>gives you Air Miles. You can go to any shop you like</li> <li>and get Air Miles. That is an advantage to the consumer</li> <li>because he effectively can say, "I know that I can buy</li> </ol>	<ul> <li>[1] way in which people are placed in the market. Not only</li> <li>[2] could you manage that, together with the other partners</li> <li>[3] you selected and chose, and control your own scheme, you</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[6] all my requirements with Air Miles, can get Air Miles.</li> <li>[7] It does not mean that I am tied to Sainsbury's or</li> <li>[8] anybody. I cannot go to Marks and Spencers because they</li> <li>[9] do not take credit cards but other than that, I can go</li> <li>[10] just about everywhere". The advantage to the consumer</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[4] could also share the goldmine of information that would</li> <li>[5] be captured by the smart card. When you use your smart</li> <li>[6] card, you are giving the company into whose machine you</li> <li>[7] insert it a whole range of information about yourself:</li> <li>[8] your customer habits, your purchasing habits, what you</li> <li>[9] buy with your petrol, so that Shell could learn how to</li> <li>[10] stock its Select shops from your Lordship punching a</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[11] is the same. The advantage to the retailer is much</li> <li>[12] reduced because Mobil have got no advantage over Shell,</li> <li>[13] and vice verse, and Harrods have no advantage over</li> <li>[14] Fortnum and Mason and vice verse.</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[11] card, or rather getting the man at the desk to put it</li> <li>[12] in.</li> <li>[13] That was interesting because it meant that that</li> <li>[14] small, select consortium could share this vast database</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>MR COX: Exactly but, of course, Mr Donovan was advising</li> <li>Shell.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So all the advantages you are talking</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[15] of information and, thus, adjust and adapt their</li> <li>[16] marketing strategies to the information that they</li> <li>[17] received.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[18] about arc advantages to the promoter, not to the</li> <li>[19] consumer. The consumer would be happy to get free gifts</li> <li>[20] from everywhere.</li> <li>[21] MR COX: It was an advantage to the partners. It was an</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[18] So it had this central idea of an exclusive</li> <li>[19] consortium sharing this single currency, this common</li> <li>[20] promotional currency, non-competing, across mass appeal</li> <li>[21] retailers. We are not talking here about frequent</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[22] idea that we submit was powerful and we will see in</li> <li>[23] documents that that is the way it was described by Shell</li> <li>[24] itself, as well many others, in its ability to mobilise</li> <li>[25] loyalty to particular brands. It had this advantage as</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[22] flyers or merely travel-based or airline-based. We are</li> <li>[23] talking about major High Street retailer operations. It</li> <li>[24] had a vast and massive marketing appeal, we submit.</li> <li>[25] That it did is contained in every line that Shell wrote</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[1] well: the idea of an exclusive club, the partners could</li> <li>[2] be selected. There is some talk, for example, in the</li> <li>[3] documents of Shell regarding Tesco as too down-market.</li> <li>[4] Sainsbury's was perceived as being a suitable partner</li> <li>[5] for Shell, Tescos was perceived as being not so</li> <li>[6] suitable, so that they could manage the brand, the</li> <li>[7] combination of brands that came into the consortium.</li> <li>[8] You could not do that with a third party operated scheme</li> <li>[9] like Air Miles because each of them were clients.</li> <li>[9] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, once again, picking</li> <li>[1] it up from what I have read in the papers, the</li> <li>[2] advantage, I am not saying whether it was an advantage</li> <li>[3] which was exclusive to this, but let us see what the</li> <li>[4] advantages were. The advantage was you gave the</li> <li>[5] consumer a card that allowed him or her to acquire a</li> <li>[6] very large range of goods and rather than having a Shell</li> <li>[7] card, a Fortnum and Mason card, a Harrods card, a John</li> <li>[8] Lewis card, a Marks and Spencer card, you have one card</li> <li>[9] which allows you to a wide range of purchases but yet</li> <li>[9] ties the consumer in to a limited number of retailers,</li> <li>[9] therefore advantaging those retailers.</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Yes, and giving you numbers of other advantages</li> <li>[9] too. Not only could you manage the brand <sub>T</sub> it is very</li> <li>[9] important these days commercially, as your Lordship</li> <li>[9] knows, for managing the perception of the public and the Page 34</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] about this after 1992, after they, we say, pinched the</li> <li>[2] claimant's idea and then, right up the way to 1997, when</li> <li>[3] it announced in various terms, the successful completion</li> <li>[4] of its final ambition which was to put this idea into</li> <li>[5] operation. This idea has impacted and page 345 of the</li> <li>[6] bundle, though it had been confidential, when Mega Match</li> <li>[7] had been under discussion, it was as a direct response</li> <li>[8] from the responsible officer of the defendant who</li> <li>[9] addressed a concept for the document presented on 23rd</li> <li>[10] October. We say to Mr. Paul King, but also to Mr.</li> <li>[11] Hallagan who has no recollection and that your Lordship</li> <li>[12] will find to be a significant feature if they ever come</li> <li>[13] to the court, of the defendant, they have achieved a</li> <li>[14] remarkable corporate amnesia or loss of recollection of</li> <li>[15] the disclosures made by Mr. Donovan to Shell. Mr.</li> <li>[16] Hallagan was present, we submit, we say on 23rd</li> <li>[17] October, 1989, and so was Mr. King when this idea was</li> <li>[18] discussed, when this idea was presented and at concept 4</li> <li>[19] it was set up and perhaps I need not trouble your</li> <li>[20] Lordship with every line of it []]</li> <li>[21] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: What you say is it is</li> <li>[22] something special?</li> <li>[23] MR COX: And could be seen to be special at</li> <li>[24] the time. Was seen by the responsible officers of the</li> <li>[25] defendant as being special. We can see that. May I</li> </ul>

	<ul> <li>[1] invite your Lordship to have this in perspective.</li> <li>[2] Sometimes one loses one's sense of perspective as one</li> <li>[3] reads the defendant's evidence. This is a request from</li> </ul>	<ul><li>[1] the bundle, because Mr. King decided to explore the</li><li>[2] possibility of running the Mega Match game that had</li></ul>
		[2] possibility of running the Mega Match game that had
	m reads the defendant's evidence This is a request from a request non	[3] folded in 1996, your Lordship will recall, and at page
	[4] shareholders. Who is thinking for us? It is put	[4] 31, Mr. Donovan wrote to Mr. King dealing with the
	[5] forward Shell then proceeds, perceives its value	[5] discussions as they were then moving forward for the
	[6] because what then happens next as we submit is that it	[6] replacement of the failing Collect and Select scheme.
	[7] is put forward, bearing in mind that the whole of Shell	[7] When I say 'failing', perceived to be
	[a] is undergoing something of a revision, Collect and	[8] failing as an appealing proposition to the consumers and
	[9] Select is fading. This is the background to what is	[9] Mr. King had named what had been called Project 100 in
	[10] coming.	[10] 1986, Project Harbour. It is a letter dated 19th March,
	[11] Mr. Hannagan introduces these ideas to Mr. King and	[11] 1990. It is headed: Re: Project Harbour.
	[12] thereafter this document is put forward in October. My,	[12] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That is Mega Match?
	[13] Lord, that meeting is admitted by the defendant on 23rd	[13] MR COX: That is Mega Match. The name we
	[14] October III	[14] say Mr. King gave it and what this letter demonstrates
	[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is admitted that Mr.	[15] is that Mr. King was actively taking forward the
	[16] Hannagan was present?	[16] proposition of running Mega Match after it had been shut
	[17] MR COX: No, it is denied that Mr. Hannagan	[17] down in 1986, running Mega Match and your Lordship will
	[18] was present. Mr. Senior King was present; mr. King	[18] see:
	[19] received this and it is a feature of this case that one	[19] "On your instructions, we are now considering the
	20) hand does not know what the other is doing. This	[20] implications of a 16 week promotional period commencing
	[21] defendant III	[21] presumably in mid-August. We will take into account the
	[22] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No, no. You just	[22] desire to introduce seasonal prizes in the run- up to
	[23] criticised Mr. Hobbs' clients for collective amnesia.	[23] the Christmas period"
	[24] Amnesia is what happens when you forget something which	[24] and discussions what appropriate gifts would be for
	[25] occurred when you were there. You make up your mind. Page 37	[25] that period. It is then discussed about the appropriate Page 39
[] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [	<ul> <li>Indications T</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I understand it, your</li> <li>Clients say Hannagan is there. Mr. Hannagan says he was</li> <li>not there and Mr. King was not there?</li> <li>MR COX: Sadly not. Mr. Sotherton says Mr.</li> <li>Hannagan was there who was Mr. Donovan's then colleague</li> <li>in the company and we will come to that issue with your</li> <li>Lordship in due course, no doubt. There were then a</li> <li>series of meetings after the 23rd October, 1989 meeting</li> <li>in which Mr. Sotherton and Mr. Donovan met Mr. King in</li> <li>November, 1989 and in February, 1990. On 19th February,</li> <li>Mr. King visited the Stowmarket offices of the company</li> <li>and discussed what should be the response of Shell to</li> <li>the document put forward by Mr. Donovan and his company</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] responsibilities for games and marketing.</li> <li>[2] Over the page, some discussions on the</li> <li>[3] Christmas period and discussions about what appropriate</li> <li>[4] gifts would be for that period. It is then discussed</li> <li>[5] about appropriate responsibility for games on marketing.</li> <li>[6] Over the page, some discussions about fees, the multi-</li> <li>[7] brand matching halves concept, the second last paragraph</li> <li>[8] down under: Active consideration:</li> <li>[9] "This was acknowledged by Ken Danson on behalf of</li> <li>[10] Shell. We did, in fact, make a presentation to the</li> <li>[11] current proposed partner@</li> <li>[12] they are talking there about, as we understood it,</li> <li>[13] Tesco at a senior level:</li> <li>[14] "but on Ken's instructions, wrote to them saying the</li> <li>[15] timing was not right. We then spent nearly 6 months in</li> <li>[16] developing the project for Shell with other potential</li> <li>[17] partners, before Ken decided to shelve the project and</li> <li>[18] run 'Collect and Select'".</li> <li>[19] Then he says:</li> <li>[20] "If the promotion is mounted, we propose to charge the</li> <li>[21] listed in items 1 to 9 above. For simplicities sake,</li> <li>[22] this will include handling major prize verification. We</li> <li>[24] would also ask for a concept fee of #25,000- half to be</li> <li>[25] invoiced to Shell and the balance to the partner This</li> </ul>
-	Page 38	Page 40
2  2	25] and, my Lord, that is helpfully evidenced at page 381 of	25] invoiced to Shell and the balance to the partner. This

1

<ul> <li>[1] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it.</li> <li>[2] MR COX: 419. Mr. Sotherton sends the</li> <li>[3] standard terms and conditions and your Lordship will</li> <li>[4] have seen those set out in the pleadings. They are the</li> <li>[5] clearest indication of confidentiality in material given</li> <li>[6] to the defendant, we submit. Mr. Carson gets them</li> <li>[7] through Mr. Sotherton on 1st May, 1990.</li> <li>[8] Now, my Lord, at that point, Mr. Donovan is</li> <li>[9] informed that one or two of the ideas he put forward,</li> <li>[10] for example a Disney idea I am truncating this as much</li> <li>[11] as I can- could not work because the licensing of Disney</li> <li>[12] had failed and Mr. Donovan- and this is now approaching</li> <li>[13] a focal point of your Lordship's decision- decides to</li> <li>[14] send out to other companies other than Shell, to see</li> <li>[15] whether or not he might have a response for any of the</li> <li>[16] ideas he has now been developing since Mr. King returned</li> <li>[17] in 1989.</li> <li>[18] One of those was Sainsbury's. Sainsbury's</li> <li>[19] in the marketing field is understood to be a prize</li> <li>[20] partner and a supermarket to be a very valued partner in</li> <li>[21] any kind of scheme. Sainsbury's, anyway, was approached</li> <li>[22] at page 420 and Mr. Horiey, the advertising and</li> <li>[23] marketing manager wrote back, simply indicating that it</li> <li>[24] was difficult to make an appropriate comment in the</li> <li>[25] information in his letter:</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[1] "but if you would like to send me the written</li> <li>[2] presentation you refer to, i will of course give it my</li> <li>[3] consideration."</li> <li>[4] It is important to note that what Mr.</li> <li>[5] Donovan was putting forward or the company was putting</li> <li>[6] forward to Sainsbury's, was a number of ideas but in</li> <li>[7] particular I think the Mega Match idea and it was really</li> <li>[8] to see whether Sainsbury's might be interested in</li> <li>[9] considering a promotion put forward by Don Marketing,</li> <li>[10] but the fact that Sainsbury's responded was significant.</li> <li>[11] Sainsbury's, as in the past, as at 1990, had never</li> <li>[12] been interested in running promotional games or</li> <li>[13] cooperating with anybody else It was a prize and the</li> <li>[14] fact of that nibble was significant and so Mr. Donovan</li> <li>[15] told Mr. Carson and Mr. King about Sainsbury's'</li> <li>[16] interest. My Lord, what happened was that Mr. Sotherton</li> <li>[17] took over the role of fill</li> <li>[18] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Who did he tell?</li> <li>[19] MR COX: He told Mr. Carson and Mr. King</li> <li>[20] that Sainsbury's had expressed some interest in having</li> <li>[21] promotional ideas put to them and Mega Match in</li> <li>[22] particular. Page 421 indicates that because Mr. Donovan</li> <li>[23] writes to Mr. Carson on 25th June, 1990 and says: "Dear</li> <li>[24] Stuart, Re: J Sainsbury Plc. "This becomes important</li> <li>[25] and relevant in 1992, for your Lordship's consideration:</li> </ul>

<ul> <li>[1] "Sainsbury's have never before expressed the</li> <li>[2] [slightest] Interest in promotional games. I was</li> <li>[3] therefore very surprised to receive a letter this</li> <li>[4] morning from Brian Horley, their Advertising and</li> <li>[6] Marketing Manager, taking us up on an offer to make a</li> <li>[6] presentation. I therefore thought it might be worthwhile</li> <li>[7] taking advantage of the opportunity to mention the</li> <li>[8] multibrand game concept to them- hence my call to you</li> <li>[9] this morning requesting permission to do so. I will</li> <li>[10] make it clear to Sainsbury's that the approach in regard</li> <li>[11] to the multibrand game, is at out instigation and purely</li> <li>[12] to explore the possibility of joint promotional activity</li> <li>[13] between Shell and Sainsbury's, without any commitment</li> <li>[14] from either party."</li> <li>[15] Mega Match still being considered, as your</li> <li>[16] Lordship has seen, under the name of the Project Harbour</li> <li>[17] with Mr. King considered with Tesco but Tesco considered</li> <li>[18] as down market. On 10th July there is a letter that</li> <li>[19] need not concern us too much because it is a letter to</li> <li>[20] Mr. Horley about some possible short- term promotional</li> <li>[21] games that could be run by Sainsbury's and if we go over</li> <li>[22] the page, my Lord, at this time Mr. Donovan has put</li> <li>[23] Gorward an idea to sell for a short- term promotional</li> <li>[24] game called Star Trek, with a Star Trek and indeed</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>(1) on the defendant's case and in our submission is not in</li> <li>(2) any way changed by anything the defendants put forward,</li> <li>(3) is that Mr. King became concerned when he saw that Don</li> <li>(4) Marketing was interesting Sainsbury's in the whole idea</li> <li>(5) of promotion which it had not been interested in before</li> <li>(6) and particularly when he was informed that Don Marketing</li> <li>(7) was proposing at that stage to raise the question of the</li> <li>(8) consortium- based idea. He asked Don Marketing, 'Will</li> <li>(9) you hold, before your speak to Sainsbury's, before you</li> <li>(10) form an identity in writing and have further</li> <li>(11) discussions, will you hold that idea?', the very idea</li> <li>(12) which your Lordship is looking at, at the disposal of</li> <li>(13) Shell because of the relationship.</li> <li>(14) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That was Mr. King?</li> <li>(15) MR COX: That was Mr. King, because Mr.</li> <li>(16) Donovan was used to Shell and was used to a trusting and</li> <li>(17) confidential relationship with Shell because of the</li> <li>(18) and indeed had been in the past, to allow such</li> <li>(19) and indeed had been in the past, to allow such</li> <li>(20) arrangements to come into being.</li> <li>(21) At this time it was agreed between the</li> <li>(22) defendant, Mr. King before, for the defendant and Mr.</li> <li>(23) Horley, which would be approved by Shell and, my Lord,</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[12] loved it and he enthusiastically took it and indeed it</li> <li>[13] did one in 1991, we say, successfully. There may be</li> <li>[14] some minor grousing, rather ungenerously, but it as a</li> <li>[15] good promotion, and it was at just this time that</li> <li>[16] because Mr. Donovan took over the Star Trek which looked</li> <li>[17] as though it were now a commercially viable proposition,</li> <li>[18] Mr. Sotherton took over the tentative connection with</li> <li>[19] Sainsbury's and Mr. Sotherton, during a 'phone</li> <li>[20] conversation with Mr. Horley of Sainsbury's, mentioned</li> <li>[21] the Mega Match, discussed the Mega Match idea with him</li> <li>[22] but also- and this is important my Lord, mentioned the</li> <li>[23] possibility of the multibrand loyalty concept, concept 4</li> <li>[24] and explained it in confidence to Mr. Horley.</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] that letter is on 24th July, 1990 and it is the second</li> <li>[2] core document in the plaintiffs' case. It is at 449 in</li> <li>[3] the bundle, addressed to Mr. Brian Horley and it is</li> <li>[4] extremely important to note that this letter was written</li> <li>[5] having been amended by Mr. King.</li> <li>[6] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Written to Sainsbury's?</li> <li>[7] MR COX: By Don Marketing.</li> <li>[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Written to Sainsbury's?</li> <li>[9] MR COX: By King. My lord, this letter is</li> <li>[10] MR COX: By King. My lord, this letter is</li> <li>[11] important to consider in my submission. No doubt your</li> <li>[12] Lordship has already read it:</li> <li>[13] "Dear Mr Horley, I am writing to confirm the main</li> <li>[14] points of the telephone discussions which John Donovan</li> <li>[15] and I have had with you."</li> <li>[16] rThis is Mr. Sotherton writing. It deals with the</li> <li>[17] Disneytime and Mega Match proposals:</li> <li>[18] "You have decided that the timing would not be right</li> <li>[19] for Sainsbury's to move into promotional game activity</li> <li>[20] in 1991. You are willing to reconsider the opportunity</li> <li>[21] at a later date."</li> <li>[22] Under the heading: A Multibrand Loyalty Programme:</li> <li>[23] "When the timing is suitable for Shell, Sainsbury's</li> <li>[24] will be willing to consider the consortium based</li> <li>[25] customer loyalty promotion which (with Shell's approval)</li> </ul>

1] we disclosed to you in strictest confidence."	[1] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I understand that.
2] This letter, your Lordship, of course, recalls, is	[2] MR COX: Pausing again there, this is a approved by King and some minor amendments are made.	[3] moment in the case when it might be worth reflecting Mr.
"Copies of pages 12, 13 and 14 of 'Concept 4', a	[4] King on behalf of the defendant then conducting the
5] section of a multiconcept proposal we presented to	[5] promotional policy or at least on behalf of the
5] Shell, are attached for your information. We foresee a	[6] defendant, engaged in negotiations, has approved a
7] wide variety of redemption options (perhaps including	[7] letter under terms of confidence.
a) 'Air Miles'). As mentioned, if the project proceeds, 9] Shell would be the lead partner in organising the of consortium, which would consist of a range of retailers,
1] plus possibly fincg brands"	[11] Mr. Donovan to say, 'This is very confidential it is a
2] which I understand means Fast Moving Consumer Goods	[12] great idea and Mr. Donovan has a great stake in it and
3] "and other businesses, with each partner operating the	[13] it is going to invite money.
4] scheme on an exclusive basis within their own market	[14] MR COX: Not a whisper, it was not
5] sector. The programme could even be set, up as a	[15] confidential and it is important to note this. May I
6] separate business venture in which all of the partners	[16] invite you to do this in case you have read some of 7] issuing and redeeming the common promotional currency,	[17] those stray references to Mr. King's illness which may a could share the costs and the benefits. The partners	[18] be an attempt subliminally, we think. Mr. King should
g could issue the currency against a different purchase	[19] be treated less seriously. There is a tendency, if you
y value e.g. One point with every #5 spent at Shell	[20] have read it, Mr. King had been the national promotions
1) Stations and one point with every #2 spent at	[21] manager for the defendants for years. He was the most
2] Sainsbury's Some other businesses might be linked to	[22] experienced promotions manager that Shell had. If he
i) the scheme only to the extent of redeeming the	[23] had thought this idea was the ordinary currency, the
a) the scheme only to the extent of redeeting the	[24] daily stuff of the trade, he would have spotted it
5] May I pause to submit this is as Professor Page 49	[25] quickly. He had been collaborating on projects for Page
Υ.
1] Worthington has opined, a succinct and very accurate	[1] Shell since the late 1970s, certainly 1980 or 1981 and
1] Worthington has opined, a succinct and very accurate 2] description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in	<ul> <li>[1] Shell since the late 1970s, certainly 1980 or 1981 and</li> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> </ul>
g] description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in	[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those ej description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in aj March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we	<ul><li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li><li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li></ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>g description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion, Who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion. UK and</li> <li>International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>plus agency commission on merchandise (Instant gifts or otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>say, very clear:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>on those words:</li> <li>"Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion, who has a personal</li> <li>stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>b) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>C) Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>D) Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) do ur Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>C) Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>D) Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> <li>royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> <li>have attached to it a commission fee.</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) do ur Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>C) Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>D) Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> <li>[21] cyclical nature of promotional activity on petrol</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) do ur Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>C) Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>D) Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> <li>royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> <li>have attached to it a commission fee.</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> <li>[21] cyclical nature of promotional activity on petrol</li> <li>[22] forecourts, we anticipate that there is likely to be a</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) and the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> <li>royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> <li>have attached to it a commission fee.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That would not apply to</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> <li>[21] cyclical nature of promotional activity on petrol</li> <li>[22] forecourts, we anticipate that there is likely to be a</li> <li>[23] substantial interval, perhaps 5 years or 6 years, before</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) and the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> <li>royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> <li>have attached to it a commission fee.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That would not apply to</li> <li>a Smart card?</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> <li>[21] cyclical nature of promotional activity on petrol</li> <li>[22] forecourts, we anticipate that there is likely to be a</li> <li>[23] substantial interval, perhaps 5 years or 6 years, before</li> <li>[24] Shell decides that the timing is suitable. The proposed</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>a) description of the Shell/Smart scheme as it became in</li> <li>b) March, 1997. He goes on, in its uncannily similarity we</li> <li>b) say, very clear:</li> <li>b) Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion."</li> <li>c) May I invite your Lordship to pause a moment to reflect</li> <li>c) on those words:</li> <li>c) "Being the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) and the originators of the idea, Don Marketing and</li> <li>c) our Managing Director, John Donovan, who has a personal</li> <li>c) stake in the project, would require an appropriate</li> <li>c) concept fee, a role in the promotion, UK and</li> <li>c) International, royalties covering proprietary rights,</li> <li>c) plus agency commission on merchandise (instant gifts or</li> <li>c) otherwise) and on promotion and advertising."</li> <li>Can I tell your Lordship that the payments to Mr.</li> <li>Donovan in the past had been a concept fee and then</li> <li>royalties on a points run. So, whatever game card would</li> <li>have attached to it a commission fee.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That would not apply to</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] he had been personally responsible for all of those</li> <li>[3] promotions. He knew what he was doing.</li> <li>[4] "Mr. Paul King of Shell has given me authority to</li> <li>[5] disclose to you that he recently approached Tesco (via</li> <li>[6] FKB) to explore the possibility of a joint promotion.</li> <li>[7] This followed up a meeting which John Donovan had with</li> <li>[8] Tesco directors some time ago on the Shell led</li> <li>[9] consortium principle. Although Tesco apparently gave a</li> <li>[10] favourable response to FKB, Shell senior management</li> <li>[11] decided against pursuing the discussions with Tesco. We</li> <li>[12] have reason to believe that Sainsbury's would be Shell's</li> <li>[13] preferred partner. We informed Shell of our discussions</li> <li>[14] with you and Mr. King subsequently approved the content</li> <li>[15] of this letter, which was drafted following a long</li> <li>[16] telephone conversation with him.</li> <li>[17] "Either Don Marketing or Shell will be in contact with</li> <li>[18] you at an appropriate date in the future to discuss</li> <li>[19] making a detailed presentation to Sainsbury's (and other</li> <li>[20] selected potential partners). Bearing in mind the</li> <li>[21] cyclical nature of promotional activity on petrol</li> <li>[22] forecourts, we anticipate that there is likely to be a</li> <li>[23] substantial interval, perhaps 5 years or 6 years, before</li> </ul>

-	cards. In the not too distant future, a multipurpose	[1] analysis carried out by Gill Shaw on the Fundraiser/FCB smart card' could not only process the common	[2] project."
	promotional currency, but also provide other functions,	[3] This refers to the marketing research carried out by Don ] including data capture"	<ul> <li>[4] Marketing.</li> <li>[5] "Although we made some suggestions to enhance Collect &amp;</li> </ul>
	That is the information I spoke of to your Lordship
	g "and even financial transactions (we have already g discussed possibilities with Barclays Bank). It is	<ul><li>[6] Select, a revolutionary concept along the lines proposed</li><li>[7] would put Shell miles ahead of the opposition if you</li></ul>
3.50	possible that the cards could, to some degree, be	[8] decide to return to collection schemes at a later date.
	personalised in terms of design and function to suit the	[9] "Even though senior management accepted our marketing objectives of individual partners"	[10] recommendation to come out of long term schemes for the all that $\pi$	[11] foreseeable future, it is nice to know that they want to [12		[12] keep our multibrand loyalty concept in the locker. It
0.5.0	at Cambridge University IT a trout and salmon fishing	[13] was also interesting to hear that at some stage it could farm. I know them well! (Laughter)	[14] have applications in other Shell markets."
[15		[15] as we submit it is proved to be
	"Who could reap the benefits of shared customer	[16] "The exercise has therefore been well worthwhile, even data, shared costs, and unprecedented advertising	(17) if there are no immediate dividends. And we do seem to exposure at many thousands of retail outlets. All using	[18] have won a great consolation prize!"
	the same basic continuous programme under a universal	[19] which is Star Trek.
	j identity."	[20] "I refer of course to the Star Trek project. We are
	] It became Smart. There was the second option. My Lord,	[21] currently analising details with Stuart Carson and Sarah what happens about that not only is that letter,	[22] Harman It was especially good to hear from Stuart carefully worded so that Shell is reserving its position	[23] that we will be working with Alan Roman again. On the [24	as entitled to be the lead partner, but it is	[24] basis that Shell does adopt our proposal for a Star Trek
[25	accompanied by another letter which is at page 446, to	[25] themes 'blockbuster', we confirm our agreement (as you
	Page 53	Page 55
(2) (3) (4) (5)	Mr. Paul King, reflecting the discussions. Mr. Paul King on 24th July, Promotions Coordinator, Shell UK Oil, Shell Mex House, strictly confidential: "Dear Paul, Thank you for confirming by telephone Shell's approval of the letter to Sainsbury's which you have now cleared with Stuart Carson and senior	<ul> <li>[1] requested), to forgo an option fee on the multibrand</li> <li>[2] loyalty scheme. This is on the understanding that the</li> <li>[3] rights to the multibrand scheme remain vested solely</li> <li>[4] with Don Marketing. I should add that John Donovan has</li> <li>[5] verified with John Chambers that Leo Burnett's agreement</li> <li>[6] with Don Marketing was only in respect of the</li> </ul>
	management."	[7] advertising campaign they devised for the Mega Match
[8]	That may be important, but certainly it is the	[8] multibrand game. That agreement is mentioned in a memo understanding that that is what occurred-	[9] regarding a discussion between Ken Danson and John
	"As per instructions, we have deleted the reference to	[10] Chambers".
	the research findings. The revised version (enclosed)	[11] My Lord, that reflects as we submit, the has been mailed to Sainsbury's. The letter does get	[12] situation as it had been reached in July, 1990. If one [13]	across the message you were keen to convey that Shell	[13] could have a clear, more compelling indication of the views Sainsbury's as an ideal partner. They are	[14] nature, we submit, confidential nature of the idea, it apparently not considered to be 'too down market'./	[15] would surely be it is not only Shell treated it in [16] confidence, but wanted to retain it in confidence and to put some flesh on the initial proposal we discussed	[17] sought some method, created a method perhaps of binding with you and Tim some months ago."	[18] the claimant and his company to holding it at the
	That refers to concept 4	[19] disposal of Shell, as I have told your Lordship.
		[20] That is because the department did have a [21] budget, they had to be creative, find a way of [22]		[22] satisfying each other and in this case what was [23] suggested was that Shell would go ahead with Star Trek.
	the second strate and the second state of the	[24] At that point, whether or not there was consideration
[25]		[25] given, perhaps does not particularly matter, we submit.
	Page 54	Page 56

is evidence of the response of the defendant and JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether it was important that it was a promise to keep this particular it to the option $\Pi$ COX: Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the bitons department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship cancelled after an enormous amount of work has lone and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[1] marketshares."</li> <li>[2] May I pause there for one moment because it may be a</li> <li>[3]</li> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. (Pause)</li> <li>[5] MR COX: My Lord, multibrand loyalty of</li> <li>[6] course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>[7] Short, term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short, term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether it was important intact it was a promise to keep this particular et to the option $\pi$ COX: Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the bitons department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship cancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[2] May I pause there for one moment because it may be a</li> <li>[3]</li> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. (Pause)</li> <li>[5] MR COX: My Lord, multibrand loyalty of</li> <li>[6] course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>[7] Short- term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short- term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
that it was a promise to keep this particular et to the option $\Pi$ COX : Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the obtions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship cancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[3]</li> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. (Pause)</li> <li>[5] MR COX: My Lord, multibrand loyalty of</li> <li>[6] course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>[7] Short, term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short, term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul> that it was a promise to keep this particular et to the option $\Pi$ COX : Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the obtions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship cancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. (Pause)</li> <li>[5] MR COX: My Lord, multibrand loyalty of</li> <li>[6] course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>[7] Short<sub>1</sub> term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short<sub>1</sub> term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
t to the option T COX: Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the bitons department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf heant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>MR COX: My Lord, multibrand loyalty of</li> <li>course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>Short-term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>clements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>necessarily the element of short-term games. So, when</li> <li>they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
COX : Solicited by Shell. Requested by and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the otions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf heant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[6] course has a somewhat different connotation from games.</li> <li>[7] Short- term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[a] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short- term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul> and carefully arranged by Mr. King and so, my we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the otions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf heant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[7] Short, term games run for six weeks or a little longer</li> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short, term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
we then come to the next and most curious stage of hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the bions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf heant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[8] but they are essentially limited. They are not</li> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short- term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul> hole affair, because Mr. King remains in the bitons department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf beant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[9] continuous programmes. But you can built loyalty</li> <li>[10] clements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short- term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
bitions department. Star Trek, to fill your Lordship ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, tappropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[10] elements into a game and building loyalty is not</li> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
ancelled after an enormous amount of work has done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, tappropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[11] necessarily the element of short, term games. So, when</li> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul> done and the simple reason for that is that body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf heant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[12] they say build loyalty to increase market shares, it may</li> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul> body had the bad taste to invade Kuwait and the Gulf meant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul> <li>[13] be there might be something there of relevance for your</li> <li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li> <li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li> </ul>
neant, my Lord, that it was thought by Shell that a on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	<ul><li>[14] Lordship's later on consideration. They were not only</li><li>[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is</li></ul> on the forecourts when the troops were fighting, happropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an	[15] considering Mr. Donovan as a games man which is appropriate and no doubt they were right. what happened was at page 456 an what happened was at page 456 an [16] sometimes said in the witness statement but they were and an an a hard and a share a hard a share a	[17] recommending him for purposes of building loyalty and nent was reached as to the costs to date of the	[18] market share. It is a small point but an important one.
done in relation to the cancellation of operation	[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: What you are saying is prise as it was then called, but at page 457, the	[20] whatever Mr. Donovan's expertise may be in relation to nt passage, perhaps of some significance, is the	[21] games concept 4 is expressly a loyalty building paragraph at the bottom, a few lines up:	[22] programme?
is arrangement would include Shell retaining the	[23] MR COX: Exactly. The whole point is, my to use the Star Trek concept at any time of their	[24] Lord, he was being accepted by Shell at that time as ing up until the end of 1991, with no further	[25] someone to put forward loyalty schemes. It might be
Page 57
pt fee"	[1] again as your Lordship enquiries more deeply in the
ey were really dealing with the aftermath of the	[1] again as your forosing enquires note deeply in the [2] evidence of the defendants, you detect to distinguish ms of the Gulf War. But, may I inform your	[3] between a games man and a loyalty man. I wold have ip that was run in 1991 after the war was ended.	[4] regarded him as games and when one looks at these then get to the point and could I just very	[5] documents, one needs to have in mind that possible and lightly touch on them.	[6] distinction the defendant may be seeking to draw.
his time when Mr. Donovan had sfully put forward Star Trek, which was sfully done, Sherlock Holmes was enthusiastically	[8] the whole of the events in 1989, as we submit, relies on up, Shell was recommending the claimant all round	[9] the problems with 'Collect and Select' and there is a orld to other divisions of its own company as being	[10] letter where he is recommended. There is another at 461, st man in the trade: I say with perhaps a little	[11] Shell had referred, Finnish Shell of Finland to him and ical flourish all around the world. Maybe	[12] he was responding as Shell's station to an enquiry from navia, but he extended to New Zealand and all	[13] Helsinki. My Lord, I can take you r Lordship further the world as he has in the past. But on	[14] forward now because what occurred is that $\prod$
The second secon	[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is that the end of that [16] bundle?
ber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell	[17] MR COX: My Lord, that is the end of that [18] bundle. Star Trek is on hold, your Lordship. We have aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson,	[19] moved to volume 2, if we may Star Trek is on hold and
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of	[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of t companies specialising in promotional games and	<ul><li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li><li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li></ul>
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of at companies specialising in promotional games and ts we hope you are able to help us with the	<ul> <li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li> <li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li> <li>[22] expired of exhaustion and in March, 1991, Star Trek was</li> </ul>
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of at companies specialising in promotional games and ts we hope you are able to help us with the ng: Shell Noway wants to launch a promotion for	<ul> <li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li> <li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li> <li>[22] expired of exhaustion and in March, 1991, Star Trek was</li> <li>[23] launched as it were, to take its place albeit at short</li> </ul>
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of t companies specialising in promotional games and ts we hope you are able to help us with the ng: Shell Noway wants to launch a promotion for h=paying private segment as soon as possible. Our	<ul> <li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li> <li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li> <li>[22] expired of exhaustion and in March, 1991, Star Trek was</li> <li>[23] launched as it were, to take its place albeit at short</li> <li>[24] term. Mr. Donovan's idea for this was remunerated and</li> </ul>
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of t companies specialising in promotional games and ts we hope you are able to help us with the ng: Shell Noway wants to launch a promotion for h=paying private segment as soon as possible. Our bjective is to build loyalty and to increase	<ul> <li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li> <li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li> <li>[22] expired of exhaustion and in March, 1991, Star Trek was</li> <li>[23] launched as it were, to take its place albeit at short</li> <li>[24] term. Mr. Donovan's idea for this was remunerated and</li> <li>[25] there is no complaint. In July, 1991, Shell have a</li> </ul>
aber 24th, 1990, at page 459 is an example, Shell nended Mr. Donovan at this time to Norske Shell, have been referred to you by Mr. Stuart Carson, K. As we understand that your company is one of t companies specialising in promotional games and ts we hope you are able to help us with the ng: Shell Noway wants to launch a promotion for h=paying private segment as soon as possible. Our	<ul> <li>[20] in March, 1991, 'Collect and Select' was withdrawn. So,</li> <li>[21] Shell had this problem: 'Collect and Select' really</li> <li>[22] expired of exhaustion and in March, 1991, Star Trek was</li> <li>[23] launched as it were, to take its place albeit at short</li> <li>[24] term. Mr. Donovan's idea for this was remunerated and</li> </ul>
n	are been relation to jour of the beauty one out

<ol> <li>position where there is now a problem. They have pulled</li> <li>out of 'Collect and Select' They have gone back into</li> <li>the short term and are running or going to run short-</li> <li>term games.</li> <li>Mr. Watson arrives in July and he becomes</li> <li>the retail brand communications manager. Mr. Watson</li> <li>comments in his witness statement- does your Lordship</li> <li>have the defendants' witness statements, bundle C2 at</li> <li>tab 3? Mr. Watson comments in his witness statement</li> <li>that the department was in a mess, as he put it. He was</li> </ol>	<ul> <li>MR COX: Could you keep them to one side?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Very well.</li> <li>MR COX: Page 623 in volume 2 is a note from</li> <li>Mr. Hannagan to Mr. Watson. Your Lordship will recall</li> <li>that Mr. Watson says that this was in secrecy. He</li> <li>wanted to improve Mr. Hannagan's communication skills.</li> <li>That was one of the objectives and the other</li> <li>objective was that he should look into this electronic</li> <li>points and what the objective was is set out there</li> <li>clearly at page 623. "To evaluate the use of Magnetic</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[11] told by his boss, Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Slavin:</li> <li>[12] "They explained that the Promotions Department was in a</li> <li>[13] bit of a mess. The 'Collect and Select' had finished in</li> <li>[14] March, 1991. There had been problems with customers</li> <li>[15] getting irate about not receiving prizes"</li> <li>[16] problems with the prizes not being distributed and he</li> <li>[17] was asked to deal with it. Mr. Watson plainly came into</li> <li>[18] that department and sometime in 1991, in the autumn of</li> <li>[19] 1991, Mr. Watson's mind was plainly moving over the</li> <li>[20] problems of his department and he gave to Mr. Hannagan</li> <li>[21] on 13th September, 1991 a project, top of page 3 of the</li> <li>[22] plaintiffs' chronology. He gave to Mr. Hannagan what he</li> <li>[23] called or what became called project Onyx. This</li> <li>[24] features in the defendants' pleadings as being a</li> <li>[25] somewhat significant development. Mr. Hannagan was told</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[11] Stripe Cards and Smart Cards and any similar products in</li> <li>[12] future promotional activity."</li> <li>[13] Nothing about the promotional framework or the scheme at</li> <li>[14] all. It was a really in any future activity, 'Can we</li> <li>[15] use magnetic stripe cards or electronic points, Smart</li> <li>[16] cards?'</li> <li>[17] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Smart Cards are III</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes, and the magnetic ones are the</li> <li>[19] chip. The chip stores the information. I will not take</li> <li>[20] your Lordship through all of it but as at March, 1992</li> <li>[21] and this is very significant, my Lord, as we will see,</li> <li>[22] as this inquiry into the facts as I am afraid it will</li> <li>[23] require before your Lordship begins to uncover what we</li> <li>[24] submit is the truth about this case because one of the</li> <li>[25] versions given by the defendant over the years has been</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>11) a long- term scheme to abandon it because of the</li> <li>12) experience of the 'Collect and Select'. But, Mr.</li> <li>13) Watson, in secrecy, entrusted to Mr. Hannagan, this was</li> <li>14) long- range, we say. It was nothing like the scheme</li> <li>15) being proposed by Mr. Donovan in 1990, up to July,</li> <li>16) 1'990. It was simply and broadly to look into long-</li> <li>17) term promotions generally and particularly the use of</li> <li>18) the electronic points in them.</li> <li>19) Now, my Lord, project Onyx, we say, has</li> <li>19) absolutely or very little relevance to the decision that</li> <li>11) your Lordship will have to make. We can see what</li> <li>12) project Onyx was because at volume 2, page 623, my Lord,</li> <li>13) his report is there for us to see.</li> <li>14) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I put away the</li> </ul>	<ol> <li>we had reached this idea by 12th May, 1992 when Mr.</li> <li>Donovan, the complainant, once again disclosed to our</li> <li>then project manager, his multibrand loyalty scheme but</li> <li>the facts show that that is very far from the truth. It</li> <li>is plainly wrong and they had reached no more than the</li> <li>barest investigative exploratory stage with no formed</li> <li>conclusions or even ideas about how the future scheme</li> <li>should progress. What they had was a third party</li> <li>proposal which I shall come to in a moment from a</li> <li>company GHA Associates. But, the electronics, save for</li> <li>the use of the Smart card, bore no relation m</li> <li>for a second?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Would you bear with me</li> <li>for a second?</li> <li>MR COX: Of course, my Lord. (Pause) The</li> <li>document evaluates the various advantages of having a</li> <li>Smart card and vouches and magnetic stripes. It deals</li> <li>with the advantages of a Smart card which would produce</li> <li>data capture but the central idea is not here. The</li> <li>consortium exclusive of major retailers in the high</li> <li>street issuing and receiving a promotional currency and</li> <li>the various other secondary features that exist, were</li> <li>not addressed at all in project Onyx and it is also in a</li> <li>project m</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You are saying that this</li> <li>project Onyx is not to use Smart cards or swipe cards,</li> </ol>

[7]         [8]       MR JUSTICE La         [9]       understand that []         [10]       MR COX: You way         [11]       electronic card be         [12]       involved or chip t         [13]       would not use if f         [14]       So, what he is doin         [15]       further up, he is c         [16]       thinking of the fut         [17]       project. However,         [18]       says although the         [19]       with in his statement         [20]       longterm and in Ja         [21]       with two agencies         [22]       retained as an adv         [23]       MR JUSTICE LA	vould only really use an ing a stripe because of the costs echnology for something longterm. You or a short- term six or eight week. ng here, perfectly reasonably, is go onsidering more options. He is ure and he has given Mr. Hannagan his his mind clearly works and he himself timing of his thinking we take issue ent, his mind is thinking towards the muary, 1992, he has various meetings : One Senior King who has been isor to Shell IT DDIE: This is January? muary, 1992, there was a	<ul> <li>[6] known. Mag Stripe cards have increased the potential</li> <li>[7] for encouraging and rewarding loyalty.</li> <li>[8] "In its most sophisticated form it has a huge memory</li> <li>[9] and can cope with multiple memory/function</li> <li>[10] requirements."</li> <li>[11] May I just help your Lordship a little. When you have a</li> <li>[12] computer based chip you can go to the machines and at</li> <li>[13] the garages every day out goes the computer signals that</li> <li>[14] takes your Lordship;'s purchase every day and stores it</li> <li>[15] on the central computer. With a Mag stripe you do not</li> <li>[16] have that facility of doing that information to be</li> <li>[17] stored. It sets out the competitive schemes. It is</li> <li>[18] quite important because these competitive schemes are</li> <li>[19] now relied upon by being similar and as destroying the</li> <li>[20] quality of confidence of the claimant's information.</li> <li>[21] Hut, they were reviewed at the time Shell, Argos, Mobil,</li> <li>[22] which is Premier Points T72 we will have to come back</li> <li>[23] to these in due course. I am afraid your Lordship will</li> <li>[24] become very familiar m</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[2] in the corner pro</li> <li>[3] It is long rang</li> <li>[4] pretty set against</li> <li>[5] and Select', so he</li> </ul>	o your Lordship. This is a slight hole ject. Mr. Hannagan only working on it. e, he knows his senior management is going back to anything like 'Collect has given Mr. Hannagan this to go	<ul> <li>[1] MR COX: By 12th May, what did Shell have?</li> <li>[2] Well, they had Senior King at 768, reviewed for them the</li> <li>[3] competition and at 769 there is an introduction.</li> <li>[4] Loyalty schemes, or frequent shopper schemes, the Coop</li> <li>[5] Dividend and Green Shield Stamps, probably the best</li> </ul>
	you chronologically to see how that ch, 1992, Onyx is nothing more than Pa	[24] may see them in these documents. [25] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Take your course. Page 65 Page
20] course. Mr. Hobb 21] document. We be 22] This is a docume	s and I may have to discuss that lieve that is out of the chronology. In relating to a much later period and the September/October. Therefore, I	<ul> <li>[19] by then those responsible has heard and appreciated</li> <li>[20] forcefully if they had not before, the idea of the</li> <li>[21] claimant and we can give some suggestive indications,</li> <li>[22] although it will be interesting to see them cross-</li> <li>[23] examined, at least I hope your Lordship will be, but we</li> </ul>
[17] reference to page [18] MR COX: I am	ld your Lordship please make a cross 467? afraid there will be quite a encing. We will get to that in due	<ul> <li>[16] May, this you can see that lights have gone on in those</li> <li>[17] responsible for the management of the project in Shell</li> <li>[18] and we say that the lights have gone on because at least</li> <li>[19] by then those responsible had heard and appreciated</li> </ul>
<ul><li>13] Shell when they</li><li>14] My Lord, the posi-</li></ul>	indeed and it was considered by had problems with technology later on. tion if I can move on $\pi$ wiew of what my learned friend	<ul> <li>[12] leading now to the point of the 12th May disclosure. By</li> <li>[13] the 12th May disclosure, the claimant submits no views,</li> <li>[14] clear or otherwise, had been formed as to promotional</li> <li>[15] framework as to the longterm loyalty, but after 12th</li> </ul>
[9] MR JUSTICE L 10] sort of thing limit 11] retailers?	ADDIE: You could have had that ted to a small select group of	<ul> <li>[9] Don't worry about it or get irritable on Day 3!</li> <li>[10] MR COX: You are not going to find me on my</li> <li>[11] feet on Day 3! The purpose of this is this: I am</li> </ul>
9 principle have fu	nctioned without Smart cards. In deed, Il see, because I am afraid it is going	<ul> <li>[6] Lordship fatigue to go through document after document</li> <li>[7]</li> <li>[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It has to be done.</li> </ul>
<ul><li>[3] to use them? Will</li><li>[4] range of projects</li></ul>	nart cards for whatever project you want this bit of hardware work on a wide ? tly. Our idea could in	<ul> <li>t [2] launched by others in the market and signor King gives</li> <li>[3] them an opportunity to present an electronic system run</li> <li>[4] by Hughes Electronics, Smart card. That is at volume 2,</li> <li>[5] page 768. I am conscious that I may be causing your</li> </ul>

-
14	palming, is that forecourt staff putting money in their		1 today through observation and market intelligence and pockets?	-	put such knowledge to practical use in the development
		1 -	of second generation systems. It is our view that
[3	the cards or sometimes if the customer does not ask for	10	schemes such as these will continue to be developed and
19 17		1	will become more and more sophisticated as time goes by.
	his card to be striped T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is it 50,000 or 50m
[6		[6
	7 Green Shield stamps?		outlets in the hundreds and therefore their capital
(8		[8	investment is smaller. Shell with its 2500 must consider
Į9		[9
[10	n this, I am afraid. I have to tell your Lordship with a	[10	] cost effectively to meet developing retail needs."
[11	heavy heart to ignore them, because the defendants'	[11	My Lord, the next page The Way Ahead, can I
[12	experts say, 'Well, they are features', they say that is	[12	encapsulate what we say about that. This was Senior
[13	j irrelevant, but we shall have to look at them. What it	[13	King trying to sell its Hughes Electronics Smart card
[14	does indicate is that it perceives Shell as doing	[14	system. It was a technology based submission. It s something just the same as these schemes we say why is		contained no real recommendations as your Lordship will it apparent for 2,3,4,5 years they consider themselves		see through to the end of this concerning promotional to be doing something innovatively different, but they	-	framework. It is all to do although it reviews other are reviewed in 1992. What this company, Senior King,		schemes, it is all to do with technology, over the put forward is the future $\pi$		pages, technology, 787, 788, storage of data and so on
	- 10
į 20		[20
[21			) tag rather than a Smart card. Mr. Watson says as much,
[22		[22	he says what they were putting forward $\prod$
[23	- In the second s	[23
	interest in saying if the battery goes flat, you lose	[24]	battery on this. When you go to the till there is an
[25	i) all your accumulated points? Page 69		electronic magnetic field whatever that may be, which Page 71
_
D.	MR COX: I don't think so anymore.	111	generates an electrical burst, enough power inside the
[2]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: My wife uses mine, no	1 1 1 1 1 1	cards to operate m
[3]	end!	[3]
[4]	MR COX: Well, I think you can get your		but the point from our point of view and I do not want
[5]	point back if you apply for another one. Over at 783:		to take up too much time on it, is that Mr. King's
[6]			presentation is Mr. Watson really deals with the [7]	currently in place will rapidly become obsolete, as		electronic system, using the new technology and on 27th retailers look to get more control of the systems they have in place. This will mean that many retailers will		January, 1992 Mr. Hughes and Mr. Sotherton went to be looking for new and more controllable systems. As a	19	Scotland to look at the technology they were using and result much of the current capital investment made in	[10]	Mr. Watson says: 'We were looking at electronic systems magnetic stripe technology will be obsolete. In	[[11]	quite seriously. It is quite important to look at the point the development had reached by early January, [13]	addition current schemes offer no real upgrade path for		1992.
	the future. New interactive and intelligent systems are	[14]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Sorry, you say their [15]	now being developed to provide a solution that will	[15]	evidence III enable retailers to communicate directly with the	[16]	MR COX: Page 100, paragraph 15:
	consumer at the point of purchase.	[17]	"A visit to Hughes Electronics wa made on 27 January
[18]	In addition there is the opportunity to develop		1992We were beginning to look at electronic loyalty schemes that have a much longer life, due to the nature		schemes quite seriously."
[19]	of the capture medium and the ability to upgrade the		Yes, indeed they were looking at the technology. Mr.
[20]	base system. These second generation systems also will	1211	Hannagan reported on March on technology. They had
[20] [ 21]			The second secon
[20] [21] [22]	provide the opportunity to control, monitor and	[22]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the
[20] [21] [22]	provide the opportunity to control, monitor and	[22]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the
(20) (21) (22) (23)	provide the opportunity to control, monitor and manipulate tactical promotional activity in a way that	(22) [23]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the scheme, we submit, or even were addressing very much if
(20) (21) (22) (23)	manipulate tactical promotional activity in a way that to date has not been possible.	[22] [23] [24]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the scheme, we submit, or even were addressing very much if at all, that issue. Mr. Watson says as much at
(20) (21) (22) (23) (24)	provide the opportunity to control, monitor and manipulate tactical promotional activity in a way that to date has not been possible. "We can learn from what is happening in the market	[22] [23] [24]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the scheme, we submit, or even were addressing very much if
(20) (21) (22) (23) (24)	manipulate tactical promotional activity in a way that to date has not been possible.	[22] [23] [24]	reached no conclusions on the form and nature of the scheme, we submit, or even were addressing very much if at all, that issue. Mr. Watson says as much at paragraph 16:

	·
<ul> <li>[14] third parties."</li> <li>[15] He says having third parties in the scheme was least</li> <li>[16] important at this stage.</li> <li>[17] "Although our competitors were keen on the involvement</li> <li>[18] of third parties, I was keen to get a scheme that would</li> <li>[19] meet the needs of Shell."</li> <li>[20] So, my Lord, as at early 1992, that is the state of his</li> <li>[21] thinking. On 12th March, 1992, I will not deal with this</li> <li>[22] one, we submit there was another presentation. Smart</li> <li>[23] card with a catalogue scheme. At volume 2, page 723, I</li> <li>[24] am sorry to take you back, that is because it is out of</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] is constantly receiving unsolicited communications of</li> <li>[2] this kind. Many are rejected or not followed up but on</li> <li>[3] this occasion, as the proposal seemed very much in line</li> <li>[4] with the research we were undertaking, I arranged a</li> <li>[5] meeting. On 12 March 1992 Sheard Thompson did a</li> <li>[6] presentation about loyalty schemes and the use of a</li> <li>[7] tagcard."</li> <li>[8] But, again, if your Lordship reads that paragraph, the</li> <li>[9] focus is on the technology and were you to be able to</li> <li>[10] guess, I do not propose to go to it now, to go through</li> <li>[11] this, this is a rather interesting document, the nearest</li> <li>[12] it comes to promoting a promotional documents, is at</li> <li>[13] page 729, linked to a high street retailer. In other</li> <li>[14] words, the general and wholly unspecific suggestion is</li> <li>[15] made of a link with retailers. Page 729 of volume 2:</li> <li>[16] Their ultimate goal is to have 400 suites operating 1</li> <li>[17] month before Christmas. I am not in a position at this</li> <li>[18] stage to disclose the offer, but the urgency and</li> <li>[19] emphasis being placed on being 'up and running' for the</li> <li>[20] month of December, should in itself indicate that it is</li> <li>[21] not a merchanise based collector scheme but something</li> <li>[22] which could be linked with a high street</li> <li>[23] retailer/retailers."</li> <li>[24] May I just give your Lordship one more</li> <li>[25] example of the stage they had reached. That was on 12th Page 75</li> </ul>
[11] schemes.       [12]         MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do you want me to go       [13] back? I do not kind.         [14] MR COX: I do apologise.       [14]         [15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No, it is not your       [15]         [16] fault.       [17]         [17] MR COX: Page 101, paragraph 19. He had       [17]         [18] received a letter on 14th February, 1992 from Sheard       [17]         [19] Thompson Harris concerning this tagcard.       [11]         [19] Thompson Harris concerning this tagcard.       [12]         [20] "I received a letter dated 14 February 1992 from an       [22]         [21] agency called Sheard Thomson Harris promoting what they       [22]         [23] were magnetic cards linked to the point of sale which       [23]         [24] could identify individual customers, they had a full       [25]	<ul> <li>[1] March. On 16th March they met GHA power points. This</li> <li>[2] is quite important to indicate how far they had got.</li> <li>[3] Mr. Watson tells you in his witness statement that at</li> <li>[4] this stage his least priority was a link with third</li> <li>[5] parties. How, what relationship. This is the question.</li> <li>[6] The way in which they linked, the nature of it is all</li> <li>[7] important. All of these schemes we are looking at.</li> <li>[8] User electronics through Senior King, the tagcard. They</li> <li>[9] were not going to be a consortium. These were companies</li> <li>[10] trying to sell their scheme to Shell, just like</li> <li>[11] Airmiles, the companies like Shell, the retailers would</li> <li>[12] have to buy the bids, but your Lordship appreciates the</li> <li>[13] distinction. This would not be like a single currency</li> <li>[14] amongst the partners as in the EU, this would be buying</li> <li>[15] the currency from the dollar to use, for example and it</li> <li>[16] would be a fundamentally different scheme. The control</li> <li>[17] of database and so forth. But, the GHA power points on</li> <li>[18] 16th March, to deal with this, at volume 2, page 843,</li> <li>[19] presented on 16th March, because again the GHA power</li> <li>[20] points presented a third party scheme and it is quite</li> <li>[21] nearly and helpfully set out in a pretty diagram at page</li> <li>[22] 857. The documents begins at 843 but 857 helps with a</li> <li>[23] graphic illustration of the scheme.</li> <li>[24] "Power Points provides: Hardware, Software, Systems</li> <li>[25] administration, Publicity, Catalogues, Gifts."</li> </ul>

	willingness to participate as a member of a Powerpoints network subject to the conditions of appropriate	<ul><li>[1] Smart Card technology as an option with some kind of</li><li>[2] link with third parties. They had only explored those</li></ul>
[3]	partners in noncompetitive market sectors and	<ul> <li>[3] things, apart from Project Onyx, through the</li> <li>[4] presentations of those that your Lordship has seen,</li> </ul>
[4] [5]	acceptability of the contract terms." My Lord, what we submit about this scheme is,	[5] usually technology based in the case of Senior King and
- C. (1997)	first, that Shell rejected it as being inappropriate to	[6] the tagcard Sheard Thompson presentation. In the case its needs and wanted to do something different; second,	[7] of GHA your Lordship has seen a third party scheme,
[8]	your Lordship has the point that the fundamental	[a] selling the points, managing the brand, no doubt
[9]	differences between this scheme and the scheme being	19] consulting those who are going to be involved but not a proposed is that it was a true partnership being	[10] partnership or a consortium directly between members of 200	proposed by Mr Donovan: a consortium of partners sharing	[11] the consortium managing its own currency in effect, with costs, who were engaged in the direct relationships	[12] all the intended advantages of that: the management of between each other that we shall see became the	[13] brand, of image, of perception and so on.
	modus operandi of the Shell Smart Scheme and the way in which it was developed. When you have a direct	[14] My Lord, we come at that point then to an [15] important period, a very important period. Because it relationship between major retailers and when you put	[16] is at this point, my Lord, that Mr Lazenby has already major brands alongside each other, coroperating directly	[17] joined the Promotions Department. He joined on together, you have a different thing, we say $\pi$ for all	[18] 1st February 1992. He reported to Mr Watson, who was the various reasons I explored with your Lordship this	[19] his immediate superior, and Mr Watson reported to a [20]	morning $\prod$ from a third party scheme effectively selling	[20] Mr Sweeny, who was later replaced in September 1992 by its surplus. It may be that the expert evidence will	[21] Mr Frank Leggatt.
	need to address that with your Lordship as to the	[22] My Lord, Mr Lazenby's role in this, we say, is reasons why the claimant's experts contend that, why	[23] central to the case. It is the case that your Lordship published research suggests it and so on. There are	[24] may have to decide precisely how the events in 1989 and [25]	multiply reasons why and Shell's conduct in seeking to Page 81	[25] 1990 relate to the use of the idea, as we say, or it may Page do something different from it is suggestive, we say, of	[1] assist your Lordship in concluding whether the idea was that.	[2] used. But the claimant is in, we submit, the
[3]	May I come on then, my Lord? That was	[3] advantageous submission of being able to pinpoint the
	16th March. The 23rd March, your Lordship has already seen the Onyx Report. The Hannagan Onyx Report, which	[4] conduit through which at least without seeking to
	I showed your Lordship at page 623, postdates the GHA	[5] restrict our case, it is at least probable, we submit, [6] the idea entered the blood stream or the thinking $\pi$ if presentation. Mr Watson's conclusions are,	[7] I can put it that way $\pi$ of Shell. Because on
	I repeat $\pi$ asking forgiveness for the repetition $\pi$	[8] 12th May Mr Lazenby met Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton on that he was content at paragraph 26 of page 103 of	(9) behalf of Don Marketing.
	the bundle of statements, paragraph 26 of Mr Watson's,	[10] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: 12th May?
11]	"By this store the space materiality is the	[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated
11] 12]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the	[11]MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated[12]27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing
11] 12] 13]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions."	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> </ul>
1] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions."	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> </ul>
11] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 15] 16] 7] 8] 8] 9]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors.	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 15] 16] 17] 18] 19] 20] 21]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors. So we submit that, as of 12th May 1992, it is quite	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> <li>[21] a lot easier.</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 15] 16] 17] 18] 19] 20] 21]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors. So we submit that, as of 12th May 1992, it is quite wrong to suggest T and to the extent that it is being	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> <li>[21] a lot easier.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: It will be done. In fact I have such a document</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 15] (6] 17] (8] (9] (9] (9] (7] (9] (7] (9] (7] (7) (7) (7) (7) (7) (7) (7) (7) (7) (7)	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors. So we submit that, as of 12th May 1992, it is quite wrong to suggest $\pi$ and to the extent that it is being suggested still $\pi$ that Shell had reached formed	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> <li>[21] a lot easier.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: It will be done. In fact I have such a document</li> <li>[23] and I will ensure it is with your Lordship on disk as</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 14] 15] 16] 17] 18] 17] 18] 19] 20] 21] 23] 34]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors. So we submit that, as of 12th May 1992, it is quite wrong to suggest $f_{\text{T}}$ and to the extent that it is being suggested still $f_{\text{T}}$ that Shell had reached formed conclusions or indeed any conclusions or indeed had done	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> <li>[21] a lot easier.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: It will be done. In fact I have such a document</li> <li>[23] and I will ensure it is with your Lordship on disk as</li> <li>[24] well as in writing.</li> </ul>
11] 12] 13] 14] 14] 15] 16] 17] 18] 19] 20] 21] 22] 23] 34]	"By this stage the grass roots opinion in the Shell Promotions Department was that Shell should move towards long-term promotions." Now, nothing is said in that evidence, beyond the statement of his priorities at paragraph 17, as to the shape, the nature, the form, the promotional framework in which these elements would be combined and it is the relationship in relationship marketing, which it is sometimes called, which is one of the crucial factors. So we submit that, as of 12th May 1992, it is quite wrong to suggest $\pi$ and to the extent that it is being suggested still $\pi$ that Shell had reached formed	<ul> <li>[11] MR COX: 12th May 1992. He had had a letter dated</li> <li>[12] 27th April 1992 from Don Marketing introducing</li> <li>[13] themselves to the new Promotions Manager. That letter,</li> <li>[14] my Lord, is at 952 of the bundle your Lordship has</li> <li>[15] open. It is introducing himself to Mr Lazenby.</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, your chronology is very useful.</li> <li>[17] Would it be possible for somebody on your side to</li> <li>[18] produce it with a third column which contains references</li> <li>[19] to the documents? For example, 27/04/92, which is this</li> <li>[20] one, is on page 3 of your chronology. It would make it</li> <li>[21] a lot easier.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: It will be done. In fact I have such a document</li> <li>[23] and I will ensure it is with your Lordship on disk as</li> </ul>

141	introductory letter. Our case is that Mr King had		seems to me to be along the lines of what is covered by suggested that we write to Mr Lazenby. Mr King had told		your skeleton and is included expressly in some of the us Mr Lazenby had arrived. He had come to be the	1.	witness statements on your side $\pi$
-	National Promotions Manager and this was the letter
		[4]
[5]		[5]	Mr Hobbs can advise his clients that, if that serious
[6]
7			allegation is made, his clients can know whether they long term promotional or a partnership promotional		need to send somebody into the witness box to refute it.
	project at all. It is all about games of course.	[9]
10			nobody else will be left in any doubt as to the nature
11		1000000000	of the case made by the claimant. But I do propose to 12	n an	[12]	advance it, if I may, logically and step-by step.
	changing or the thinking was changing in Shell. There	[13]
4	had been, as your Lordship will recall, a decision to	[14]
15		[15]	·
16	Hannagan Project Onyx was a confidential project and it		tells us in his witness statement $\prod$ and I can give
17		[17]	your Lordship the paragraph without inviting you
18	throughout this year known to Mr Donovan $\pi$ that Shell	[18]	unless your Lordship feels it is necessary T
1.1	was becoming orientated towards a return to the	[19]
	long-term loyalty type scheme. Throughout 1992 T and	[20]	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
	this will be an important feature of the case for	[21]	that he asked around the office and that I think is 22	your Lordship, the claimant's case $\pi$ Mr Donovan in fact	[22]	paragraph 9 of Mr Lazenby's witness statement. When he
23	was being told the contrary: that there was at that	[23]	received the letter:
24	stage no intention to go back into long-term or	[24]	"On 27th April I received a letter from
25	certainly not imminently. Throughout 1992 he was told,	[25]	John Donovan introducing himself never met or heard
	Page 85	-	Page
	amongst others by Andrew Lazenby, that it would be some		of him The letter referred to previous promotions."
2]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be	[2]	His standard practice was to ask around the
2] 3]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship,	[2] [3]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to
[2] [3] [4]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have	[2] [3] [4]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says:
2] 3] 4] 5]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan	[2] [3] [4] [5]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton,
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] 7]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\parallel}$ they were entertaining submissions from	[2] [3] [4] [5]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it.
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\uparrow}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\uparrow}$ that it was only short-term and	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] 7] [8] [9]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\parallel}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\parallel}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\parallel}$	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present <sub>[]</sub> MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt
2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{T}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{T}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{T}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{II}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{II}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{II}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{II}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{II}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{II}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] 1] 2] 3]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{II}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{II}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{II}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{II}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{II}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{II}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty
234 567 899 912 91 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97 97	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies f that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{\text{T}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{\text{T}}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{\text{T}}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f$ that it was only short-term and that $f$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it.
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{f_{t}}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{t}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{f}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16] [17] [18]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing $f_{f}$ they were entertaining submissions from different agencies $f_{f}$ that it was only short-term and that $f_{f}$ MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to $f_{f}$	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [12] [13] [14] [15] [19]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to ff MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [12] [13] [14] [15] [19]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same message as Mr Hobbs has picked up. Before Mr Hobbs'	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and retrieve a copy of the Concept Four document that
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same message as Mr Hobbs has picked up. Before Mr Hobbs' clients have to make up their minds whether they are	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and retrieve a copy of the Concept Four document that your Lordship has already seen. My Lord, it is the
[2] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] 0] 1] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1] 2] 3] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1] 2] 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1] 2] 3]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies f that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same message as Mr Hobbs has picked up. Before Mr Hobbs' clients have to make up their minds whether they are going to risk putting up any witnesses for	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He-asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and retrieve a copy of the Concept Four document that your Lordship has already seen. My Lord, it is the united case of both men who were present for the
[2] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] 0] 1 2 3 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1 2 3] 4] 5] 6] 7] 8] 9] 0] 1 2 3] 4]	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing they were entertaining submissions from different agencies that it was only short-term and that T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same message as Mr Hobbs has picked up. Before Mr Hobbs' clients have to make up their minds whether they are going to risk putting up any witnesses for cross-examination, if you are going to be saying that it	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and retrieve a copy of the Concept Four document that your Lordship has already seen. My Lord, it is the united case of both men who were present for the claimant that there is no doubt that on that day those
	time later, considerably later, that Shell would be looking to go into the long-term. Now, your Lordship, if your Lordship accepts that evidence, is going to have to ask, we submit, why Mr Lazenby was telling Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton throughout 1992 when in fact the policy was changing f they were entertaining submissions from different agencies that it was only short-term and that f MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Shell were not under an obligation to your client to disclose what their future plans were. MR COX: I completely agree. But your Lordship, when we tie it together, as I hope to do so, may see that it forms part of a picture, which is premature for me at the moment to advance, as to why that might have been the case. Because it was coupled with requests not to approach anybody else with the loyalty concept. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. MR COX: That is the point. May I come back to T MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I am sure that I have picked up the same message as Mr Hobbs has picked up. Before Mr Hobbs' clients have to make up their minds whether they are going to risk putting up any witnesses for cross-examination, if you are going to be saying that it	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23] [23]	His standard practice was to ask around the office. He did it and, as a result, he went on to arrange a meeting for 12th May 1992. He then says: "Mr Donovan and his colleague, Roger Sotherton, were present [] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: Thank you. My Lord, the position is this: having asked about the office, the meeting is held. No doubt because Mr Donovan is considered to be worth seeing. It is at that meeting that the claimant contends there was a disclosure. Broadly speaking in that meeting, amongst other subjects, Mr Sotherton first raised with Mr Lazenby the Megamatch concept and then the loyalty concept that had been so closely related to it. (2.15 pm) My Lord, Mr Lazenby, it is our case, exhibited immediate interest. He asked details concerning it and he said that he would get in touch with Mr King and retrieve a copy of the Concept Four document that your Lordship has already seen. My Lord, it is the united case of both men who were present for the

847	statements naragraph 10 of Doger Sotherton and	643	MR JUS III > I AIB IN HAS ANY CHAILENGE NEED MAKE AS AS AS statements, paragraph 19 of Roger Sotherton and	[1]
	John Donovan, witness statement paragraph 53.	1	authenticity of it?
[3]	My Lord, that is denied by the defendant: that	[3]
	there was any discussion of the multibrand loyalty	[4] concept. It is accepted that Megamatch was discussed,	[5]
	but not the multibrand loyalty concept. But, my Lord,		course, we do not know when it was taken. I will need
1	that sits uneasily, we submit, and more than uncasily $_{ m II}$	[7]	to ask questions. But, as a note that has been
3]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just tell me this: in the reading of	[8]	fabricated since, no.
3]	this material, in particular yours and Mr Hobbs'	[9]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Thank you.
ŋ	skeletons, I remember Mr Hobbs referred to a number of	[10]	MR COX: My Lord, there are a number of features of this.
	occasions where he says his client's recollection of	[11]
	what happened at meetings was confirmed or was	[12]
	consistent with the contents of minutes.		want to put to Mr Lazenby if he turns up in the witness
4]	MR COX: Yes.		box?
5]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Was the 12th May meeting one which was	1
	the subject of any minutes?		foreshadow the whole reasons why we say Mr Lazenby's
7	MR COX: My Lord, what there were were handwritten notes,		failure to recollect this is implausible. But the not so much minutes but notes, which Mr Lazenby kept.	1000	letter on 14th May is one of them and is plain at
ŋ	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Where are they?		page 981. At page 981, just two days later, Mr Donovan
ŋ	MR COX: I think, my Lord, in volume 3 at page 973.	[20]
]	MR HOBBS: It is E2, my Lord, page 980/A.		follow up letter, at page 981. There he referred to
]	MR COX: I am very grateful. Your Lordship may see the	[22]	their discussions:
	notes. Mr Lazenby points out that there is no explicit	[23]	· ·
4]	reference of course to the multibrand loyalty concept.	[24]	the time you gave to our presentation. With your
5]	But what we say, my Lord, apart from the evidence of	[25]	authority I will now be contacting the various potential
	Mr Sotherton and Mr Donoma is that the Managetal
	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [18] [19]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been cen as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton vere there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [17] [18] [19] [20]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be
	concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been een as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton vere there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know. MR COX: Yes. May I take instructions? Just over an hour,	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [18] [17] [18] [20] [21]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be cross-examined: was there any letter back from Lazenby
	concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been een as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton vere there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know. MR COX: Yes. May I take instructions? Just over an hour, is thought.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [18] [17] [18] [20] [21]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be cross-examined: was there any letter back from Lazenby saying "I do not know what you are talking about"?
	concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been cen as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton vere there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know. MR COX: Yes. May I take instructions? Just over an hour, is thought. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you tell me one another thing? This	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [17] [18] [17] [18] [20] [21]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be cross-examined: was there any letter back from Lazenby
	concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been cen as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton vere there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know. MR COX: Yes. May I take instructions? Just over an hour, is thought. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you tell me one another thing? This occument was produced on disclosure?	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22] [23]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be cross-examined: was there any letter back from Lazenby saying "I do not know what you are talking about"?
	concept was very closely related, historically and indeed in other ways, to the multibrand loyalty concept and that for the first time meeting the new National Promotions Manager it would have been perfectly natural, and was, that they should raise, albeit it may be by a side wind and not the focus of the conversation, the consequence and logical and natural development of Megamatch which had taken place: namely, the loyalty scheme. Because it after all was a scheme on which shell still possessed an option. So, in passing, it may very well have been in the sense that it formed a topic of separate discussion but would not perhaps have been cen as the main reasons why Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton were there. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can I ask two questions in relation to his: how long did this meeting go on for? MR COX: My Lord, that is a question that may not be ddressed and may have to be addressed in oral evidence. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No doubt your clients will know. MR COX: Yes. May I take instructions? Just over an hour, is thought. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you tell me one another thing? This ocument was produced on disclosure?	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	proposal. I will supply them with outline proposals, plus invitations to attend exploratory discussions at Shell-Mex House in June as per instructions." So there it is apparent that Megamatch was the focus of the discussion and Mr Lazenby, as his own note suggests, had given the go ahead for the Megamatch scheme, which had appealed to and attracted, it seems, most of those at Shell who listened to it, to go ahead. But Mr Donovan adds: "We also noted you interest – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read it. MR COX: My Lord, Concept Four was included and it is admitted by the defendant that Concept Four arrived. So it is accepted that the document was sent to Mr Lazenby, but Mr Lazenby says that he cannot recollect reading it. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Whether he can recollect reading it, can you tell me this, and no doubt these are matters that you will want to put to Mr Lazenby if he is to be cross-examined: was there any letter back from Lazenby saying "I do not know what you are talking about"? MR COX: None. None whatsoever. Indeed, as we shall see,

[1]
	there were further contacts during the year. My Lord,	[1] it was almost exactly contemporaneous. Because one thing is important of course: the defendant admits	[2] Mr Armstrong-Holmes puts the follow-up conversation on having received Concept Four. So with the letter of	[3] or about 13th May. So within days certainly of 14th May went Concept Four and your Lordship will see a	[4] 12th May. If Mr Armstrong-Holmes's evidence is fairly straightforward "Please read Concept Four"	[5] accepted, it is further evidence that there was such a invitation in that paragraph. "Enclose a copy and	[6] discussion and further evidence that Mr Lazenby was please read Concept Four", and that he had agreed that	[7] interested in it and considered it to be of sufficient
[8]	sufficient merit was to be retained on file.	[8] merit to be worthy of use.
[9 ]	a second assessed as the second s	[9] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If Mr Armstrong-Holmes's evidence is
[10]		[10] accurate, Mr Lazenby also said that Shell had an option.
[14]	disclosure was made. We submit it was made in	[11] MR COX: Indeed. Forgive me. I thought I had mentioned
[12]	circumstances of confidence, certainly all habitually of	[12] that. Shell had an option, yes.
- 10 I	the correspondence were entitled so, and the two men	[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It was not just they were interested, present, Mr Sotherton and Mr Donovan, say it was the	[14] but they had some sort of right.
	explicit understanding and assertion of Mr Lazenby that	[15] MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship then is already - what they disclosed would be kept and treated as in	[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On the other hand, Mr Armstrong-Ho
[17]	confidence.	mes,
[18]		[17] if the rest of his witness statement is anything to go
(19)	the same time, something else was going on. We have	[18] by, is not well disposed towards Shell.
[20]		[19] MR COX: No doubt that is what the defendant will say: he is your Lordship from a man by the name of	[20] just a liar. I do not know. But certainly to fabricate
~	Mr Armstrong-Holmes. Mr Armstrong-Holmes was a former	[21] and invent an account which gives as its centerpiece the leader of, I think, Berkshire or Bedfordshire	[22] explanation that his gardening concept could be used as Council ~	[23] part of a long-term loyalty scheme upon which Shell held
[25]	singer weiter sold in operational and the state of the sold of the sold of the sold sold and the sold of the sold	[24] an option and then a mention of Don Marketing in that
	Page 93	3 [25] context, when it in fact became part or a gardening Page 95
	MR COX: Nottinghamshire. My Lord, broadly speaking, Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost	[1] theme with incorporated subsequently, as we shall see,
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know.	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men arc just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [10] [10] [11] [12] [13]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is -	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said ~ MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail.	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose,	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [20]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot temember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [19] [20] [2]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> <li>[20] body was, but it was a play on words of some ethical</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [20] [20] [21] [1] [22] [1]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said - MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this point. Which is that Mr Armstrong-Holmes was told "We	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [20] [20] [21] [22] [23]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said - MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this point. Which is that Mr Armstrong-Holmes was told "We can use this as part of a long-term loyalty concept on	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> <li>[20] body was, but it was a play on words of some ethical</li> <li>[21] statement which had been made on behalf of Shell.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: Yes.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [15] [16] [17] [20] [21] [22] [22] [23] [23] [24] [24]	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this point. Which is that Mr Armstrong-Holmes was told "We can use this as part of a long-term loyalty concept on which we have an option", and the name Don Marketing was	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> <li>[20] body was, but it was a play on words of some ethical</li> <li>[21] statement which had been made on behalf of Shell.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[23] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Were Mr Armstrong-Holmes and Mr McMahon</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [15] [16] [17] [20] [21] [22] [22] [23] [23] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24] [25] [25] [25] [25] [25] [25] [25] [25	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said - MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot remember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this point. Which is that Mr Armstrong-Holmes was told "We can use this as part of a long-term loyalty concept on	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> <li>[20] body was, but it was a play on words of some ethical</li> <li>[21] statement which had been made on behalf of Shell.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[23] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Were Mr Armstrong-Holmes and Mr</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17] [20] [21] [22] [23] [23] [23] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24] [24	Mr Armstrong-Holmes had contacted Mr Lazenby at almost exactly the same time, had met him and put forward an idea for a gardening concept. To cut a longish story short, my Lord, the upshot of it is this, as your Lordship read: the gardening concept was unenthusiastically treated, Mr Lazenby said to Mr Armstrong-Holmes it would be kept in confidence and he said MR HOBBS: Your Lordship knows that this is the subject of objections on my side. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I know. MR COX: For the moment, my Lord, I want to concentrate upon its direct and immediate relevance, which is - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The direct relevance is he says that Don Marketing was mentioned to him at the time. I think he said in relation to a long-term project but I cannot termember the detail. MR COX: The reason I mention it is for this purpose, conscious of Mr Hobbs's objection: I did not understand that this could reasonably be taken issue with on this point. Which is that Mr Armstrong-Holmes was told "We can use this as part of a long-term loyalty concept on which we have an option", and the name Don Marketing was mentioned. So we have that piece of evidence and indeed	<ul> <li>[2] into the reward structure of the Smart Scheme, is</li> <li>[3] something your Lordship will have to consider. But it</li> <li>[4] is not just Mr Armstrong-Holmes. No doubt of course my</li> <li>[5] learned friend will say these men are just men with a</li> <li>[6] grudge against Shell. Your Lordship will have to make</li> <li>[7] up your mind. But Mr McMahon of course, again at a very</li> <li>[8] similar time, on 26th May, at around this time, Lazenby</li> <li>[9] rings him. Mr McMahon was the Managing Director of</li> <li>[10] Concept Systems Limited who had an arrangement with a</li> <li>[11] technology supplier who was trying to sell smart cards.</li> <li>[12] He had put up a document to Shell -</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have read this.</li> <li>[14] MR COX: Your Lordship has.</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I know at one stage your client was a</li> <li>[16] moving force behind the body which was protesting at</li> <li>[17] Shell's allegedly improper business practices.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[19] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I have forgotten what the name of that</li> <li>[20] body was, but it was a play on words of some ethical</li> <li>[21] statement which had been made on behalf of Shell.</li> <li>[22] MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>[23] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Were Mr Armstrong-Holmes and Mr McMahon</li> </ul>

[1]		[1] contributing to the cost of the scheme as part-owner
[2]		[2] acceptable partners being", and the partners there.
	until discovery in this case. It was only when	[3] Albeit in a short letter one cannot encapsulate it all, discovery was given that Mr Donovan came across	[4] but one sees the thinking has gone several stages
	references to them in the papers and traced them that	[5] forward. In the handwritten note, at the top "David",
6	they were ever known to Mr Donovan at all.	[6] it is addressed to Mr Watson one assumes:
7	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see.	[7] "For your information, I have my own hard
[8]	MR COX: Your Lordship will have to make up your mind. But	[8] copy - let's discuss."
la	Mr McMahon's evidence is very similar to that of	[9] My Lord, if one takes Mr McMahon's evidence,
[10	Mr Armstrong-Holmes. Indeed, Mr McMahon's evidence is	[10] because it is Mr McMahon's evidence that is specifically
[11]	rather more significant because, if Mr McMahon were to	[11] in relation to that, the name of Don Marketing was be accepted as being right, then Mr Lazenby on	[12] mentioned in connection with the concept, but Mr Lazenby
[13	16th July gave him an oral brief at Shell-Mex House to	[13] said he preferred to work with agencies that he had approach potential buyers for a novel plan, as he was	[14] chosen. It is important to remember it may be a feature told it, for a multibrand loyalty scheme -	[15] of this - so often in these cases, one has to remember [16		[16] one is dealing with human beings. Of course Mr King had
[17		[17] been, for many years, the National Promotions Manager -
[18		[18] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, and you are going to suggest that [19] maybe Mr Lazenby wanted to show clear water between him
[19	• Contract of the second se
[20	- Construction of the second	[20] and Mr King and was going to do it his own way without paragraph 11, four lines down:	[21] Mr King's contacts. Yes.
(22	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	[22] MR COX: New broom sweeps clean.
	confirm the basics of the brief he had given to me."	[23] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see the suggestion. Whether that is
[24	The presentation of decomposition and the second of the presentation of the second sec	[24] true or not will depend upon what happens when you
[25]	MR COX: My Lord, at page 1168 in volume 3. Page 97	[25] cross-examine. Page
	now?	<ul> <li>[1] MR COX: Ultimately upon your Lordship's judgment of the</li> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord from that position</li> </ul>
[2] [3]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to	<ul><li>[2] witnesses.</li><li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li></ul>
(2) (3) (4)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions.	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help?	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed).	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> </ul>
(2) [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here.	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (10) (11) (12) (12) (13) (14)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D.	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1 st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (10) (11) (12) (12) (13) (14) (15)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168.	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (10) (11) (12) (12) (13) (14) (14) (15) (16) (17)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July - late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July - a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partiy seen,</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July - late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July - a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partiy seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partiy - and it will be a matter for</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [19] [20]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [20] [21]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view,	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Reference?</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [120] [20] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Reference?</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [20] [22] [22] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell owning the scheme, inviting other retailers to:	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[9] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR GOX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> <li>[23] document, at 1062, which suggests that either Mr Watson</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [22] [22] [22] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell owning the scheme, inviting other retailers to: " participate on a transaction-charged basis	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July - late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July - a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly - and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination - that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted -</li> <li>[21] MR COX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> <li>[23] document, at 1062, which suggests that either Mr Watson</li> <li>[24] or Mr Lazenby had formed any view, certainly that they</li> </ul>
(2) [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [15] [16]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July - late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July - a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partiy seen,</li> </ul>
(2) [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [15] [16]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July - late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July - a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (10) (11) (12) (12) (13) (14) (14) (15) (16) (17)	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partiy seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partiy – and it will be a matter for</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [17]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [13] [15] [15] [16] [17]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [13] [15] [15] [16] [17]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [17] [18] [20]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [20] [21]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new onc. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Let me look at volume 3, 1168. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view,	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Reference?</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [15] [120] [20] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[3] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Reference?</li> <li>[22] MR COX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [15] [20] [22] [22] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell owning the scheme, inviting other retailers to:	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[9] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR GOX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> <li>[23] document, at 1062, which suggests that either Mr Watson</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [17] [15] [20] [21] [22] [22] [22] [22] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell owning the scheme, inviting other retailers to: " participate on a transaction-charged basis	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[9] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR GOX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> <li>[23] document, at 1062, which suggests that either Mr Watson</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [17] [19] [20] [21] [22] [22] [22] [22] [22]	now? MR COX: No, by all means. It is a letter I was going to take your Lordship to immediately, so your Lordship has simply anticipated my actions. My Lord, I am suddenly made aware that your Lordship may not have witness statements cross-referenced. I do apologise. May I hand your Lordship a bundle? Would it help? MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second. Yes, you can hand me a new one. (Handed). MR COX: My Lord, the experts' bundle is also here. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Right. Experts' reports MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: They are at bundle D. MR COX: My Lord, Mr McMahon adds to his evidence by saying that it was put forward as a novel concept, different from other schemes, effectively as a partnership and he was being asked in effect to test interest with potential partners. He says it was only at this meeting that he became aware that there was this formed view, this idea. We submit that when one reads that, Shell owning the scheme, inviting other retailers to:	<ul> <li>[2] witnesses.</li> <li>[9] Moving on then, my Lord, from that position</li> <li>[4] Mr McMahon and Mr Lazenby had a number of other</li> <li>[5] meetings. On 30th July Mr McMahon had joined forces</li> <li>[6] with Fortronic and at the same time he has conversations</li> <li>[7] with Mr Armstrong-Holmes, telling him that his garden</li> <li>[8] concept would be used in the long-term scheme.</li> <li>[9] Mr Armstrong-Holmes would ring him up and ask him from</li> <li>[10] time to time. My Lord, by 1st August it is plain,</li> <li>[11] certainly between May/June/July – late May into the end</li> <li>[12] of July – a pretty clear idea had been formed of what</li> <li>[13] Shell would want. It may not have been fully formed and</li> <li>[14] it may well have to be subjected to research and</li> <li>[15] testing. But a light had gone on in the minds of</li> <li>[16] Shell. My Lord, we submit that that can be partly seen,</li> <li>[17] albeit it only partly – and it will be a matter for</li> <li>[18] cross-examination – that in a document slightly earlier</li> <li>[19] in-between 12th May and 16th July meeting, Mr Watson had</li> <li>[20] minuted or noted –</li> <li>[21] MR GOX: Reference volume 3/1062. This is the first</li> <li>[23] document, at 1062, which suggests that either Mr Watson</li> </ul>

1.20
	framework of this long-term scheme. It comes a month	[1] participants before we can judge how serious an option after the disclosures made by the claimant and a month	[2] it is. Our proposed action plan has continued to keep before the meeting with Mr McMahon. Albeit it is at the	[3] up-to-date with technical improvements continue to end of May that contact, according to the defendant's	[4] investigate Powerpoints, actively pursue other agencies evidence, 26th May Mr Lazenby first makes contact with	[5] like GHA for other options and schemes, approach certain
[6	Mr McMahon. It is headed "Promotional Strategy" and it	[6] key third parties, most notably the grocers directly to
7	is really a note to Mr Sweeny, Mr Watson's superior,	[7] gauge their true levels of interests and to ensure we
[8]	about what they had been doing:	[8] are not messed about by agencies. Before pursuing this
19	"We have been assessing feasibility and options of	[9] action plan I believe it is important these thoughts and
[10		[10] plans should have the broad endorsement of yourself."
[11		[11] My Lord (d) approaching directly third parties,
[12		[12] Mr McMahon comes in on 16th July and is asked to [13] approach them. It is important to remember about [13
[14		[14] Mr McMahon that it was never Mr McMahon's suggestions to [15		[15] Shell that he would be a third party running a scheme in [16	Mr Watson's department, " do not believe it is worth	[16] which Shell would be a client or a member. He was
[17		[17] coming forward with a technological idea and what was [18		[18] being asked of him was to test the reaction of third between a more modern promotional mechanic and what	[19] parties.
[20	would remain a relatively simple offer would be clearly	[20] My Lord, this document is on 11th June. The
[ 21	perceived by the client/consumer. In addition, we would	[21] discussion with the claimant was on 12th May. My Lord,
(22	be implementing a significant project for no obvious	[22] it will be an issue as to what extent - and we submit
(23	commercial gains. We would not be leapfrogging our	[23] clearly Mr Lazenby's thinking was being influenced by competitors or perceived as catching up and there are no	[24] the disclosures that had been made to him by clear cost savings tagcards would be the same as	[25] Mr Donovan, My Lord, Mr McMahon's and vouchers. This leads us to the same decision point as	111 Mr Armstrong-Holmes's gvidence as well as the vouchers. This leads us to the same decision point as we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should	[1] Mr Armstrong-Holmes's evidence, as well as the
	Page 101
[2]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should	[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.
[2] [3]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions	<ul> <li>documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> </ul>
[2] [3]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term	<ul> <li>documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> </ul>
[2] [3]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic	<ul> <li>documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points.	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>(8) at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[3] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes."	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes."	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>(8) at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>(9) the bundle.</li> <li>(10) (2.45 pm)</li> <li>(11) The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>(12) important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>(13) Mr Donovan. Redemption – I should have made this plain</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>(8) at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>(9) the bundle.</li> <li>(10) (2.45 pm)</li> <li>(11) The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>(12) important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>(13) Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>(14) and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>(15) Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>(16) redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph:	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [12] [13] [15] [16] [17] [18]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option"	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>[19] because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16] [16] [16] [16] [19] [20]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>[19] because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>[20] of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16] [16] [16] [16] [16] [20] [21]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it already:	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>[19] because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>[20] of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> <li>[21] and issuers. This was central to the scheme put forward</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [12] [13] [14] [16] [16] [16] [16] [17] [16] [20] [21] [22]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it already: "We are of course currently pursuing the	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>[19] because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>[20] of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> <li>[21] and issuers. This was central to the scheme put forward</li> <li>[22] by Mr Donovan: that the members of the consortium, the</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [15] [12] [20] [21] [22] [23]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it already: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option"	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>(8) at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>(9) the bundle.</li> <li>(10) (2.45 pm)</li> <li>(11) The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>(12) important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>(13) Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>(14) and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>(15) Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>(16) redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>(17) organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>(18) this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>(19) because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>(20) of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> <li>(21) and issuers. This was central to the scheme put forward</li> <li>(22) by Mr Donovan: that the members of the consortium, the</li> <li>(23) exclusive consortium, would be redeemers and issuers.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [20] [21] [22] [22] [23]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it already: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints optionWe require, however, a lot more information from Powerpoints as to the technical	<ul> <li>[2] documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>[4] I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>[5] was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>[6] a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>[7] long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>[8] at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>[9] the bundle.</li> <li>[10] (2.45 pm)</li> <li>[11] The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>[12] important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>[13] Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>[14] and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>[15] Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[16] redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>[17] organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>[18] this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>[19] because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>[20] of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> <li>[21] and issuers. This was central to the scheme put forward</li> <li>[22] by Mr Donovan: that the members of the consortium, the</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [14] [15] [20] [21] [22] [22] [23]	we have reached by other means. During 1993 we should plan, either to get out of national promotions altogether or to plan to implement a longer term collections scheme. Such a scheme would be electronic and should involve other retailers, not only in the redeeming of points, but also in the issuing of points. A long-term electronic collection scheme with such third party link-ups would leapfrog our competitors. Our scheme would be the only one with multiple retailer issue of points and it would encompass all aspects of other existing schemes." Then a warning is entered, that, if they did not move fast, then third parties would be get snapped up in different types and different forms of schemes run by Mobil, Total, Burma and so on. They then say something about Powerpoints, my Lord, at the last paragraph: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option" I think your Lordship has probably read it already: "We are of course currently pursuing the Powerpoints option"	<ul> <li>(2) documents, we submit, assists and supports our case.</li> <li>(3) My Lord, it then moves on from there and may</li> <li>(4) I take us forward in time? By August what was happening</li> <li>(5) was that Mr Lazenby and Mr Hannagan had been talking to</li> <li>(6) a number of potential suppliers of technology for</li> <li>(7) long-term loyalty schemes. Lazenby's witness statement</li> <li>(8) at paragraph 19, my Lord, helps us with that. Page 9 of</li> <li>(9) the bundle.</li> <li>(10) (2.45 pm)</li> <li>(11) The issuing and redeeming of points is an</li> <li>(12) important feature of the scheme as put forward by</li> <li>(13) Mr Donovan. Redemption - I should have made this plain</li> <li>(14) and forgive me if I did not - if you think back to the</li> <li>(15) Powerpoints diagram, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>(16) redemption takes place by Powerpoints, the network</li> <li>(17) organiser. But in the partnership of course you have</li> <li>(18) this enormous advantage: you can go with your card,</li> <li>(19) because it is a single currency, and redeem at any one</li> <li>(20) of the partners, if they are full partners, redeemers</li> <li>(21) and issuers. This was central to the scheme put forward</li> <li>(22) by Mr Donovan: that the members of the consortium, the</li> <li>(23) exclusive consortium, would be redeemers and issuers.</li> </ul>

<ol> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: The effect.would be, for the purpose of</li> <li>this card, you treated all the partners as a department</li> <li>store. You might buy on one floor, but you redeem your</li> <li>points on another floor.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You could buy on any floor and redeem on</li> <li>any floor. The only difference is that the floors</li> </ol>	<ol> <li>v Copytext (?) that is enough.</li> <li>MR COX: Exactly.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: But that is not the story you are</li> <li>putting to me now. The story you are putting to me now</li> <li>in the form you are doing it comes down to this: this</li> <li>was crucial, it was soon realised by Mr Lazenby to be an</li> <li>important possible way of advancing the business of</li> </ol>
<ul> <li>[12] begins to surface in documents after 12th May. Not, we</li> <li>[13] submit, before. Powerpoints is fundamentally</li> <li>[14] different. The redemption alone shows that, but also</li> <li>[15] for the various reasons I have mentioned before. But</li> <li>[16] after 12th May that is why I have said to your Lordship</li> <li>[17] a light has gone on. The ideas are beginning to show</li> <li>[18] through, the various evidence that we can approach</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[7] important possible way of advancing the business of</li> <li>[8] Shell. "Gosh, he was interested. Let us see what the</li> <li>[9] proposal is, get it in Donovan, see it, send people out</li> <li>[10] all over the place, finding out whether it will work"</li> <li>[11] and the story that he does not remember is unlikely to</li> <li>[12] be a reflection of poor memory.</li> <li>[13] MR COX: "Fundamentally implausible" is the way I put it in</li> <li>[14] my skeleton. It is always -</li> <li>[15] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: He is lying, is what you coming down</li> <li>[16] to? It is not necessary to your case.</li> <li>[17] MR COX: It is not necessary to my case, and may I say of</li> <li>[18] course there are other individuals involved here - for</li> <li>[19] example, Mr Leggatt - further removed, who no doubt</li> <li>[20] could not for a moment have a trace of suggestion</li> <li>[21] levelled at their door that they might have perceived</li> <li>[22] knowingly that they were using somebody else's idea.</li> <li>[23] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You have no material upon which to make</li> </ul>
[24] was turning back to long-term, he realised that [25] investigations and explorations had been made and, when Page 105	[24] such an assertion. [25] MR COX: No. But, in relation to Mr Lazenby, I have to say Page 10
<ul> <li>[11] construction -</li> <li>[12] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, but you are enthusiastic about this</li> <li>[13] possible construction and there are consequences of it.</li> <li>[14] The consequence is, if you are going to be brutally</li> <li>[15] frank about it, as you put it, if this is right, then it</li> <li>[16] is going to be very difficult to say that Mr Lazenby's</li> <li>[17] current version of events is truthful. Because I notice</li> <li>[18] in your skeleton you say the confidential information -</li> <li>[19] assuming it is confidential information - of your</li> <li>[20] clients has been used, knowingly or unknowingly, but has</li> <li>[21] been used by the defendants. You say, probably rightly,</li> <li>[22] that, as a matter of law, it does not matter whether</li> <li>[33] they knew that they were misusing confidential</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] to your Lordship, after long reflection, that I agree it</li> <li>[2] will be hard for your Lordship in judging his evidence</li> <li>[3] to shy away from having to make a decision as to whether</li> <li>[4] you believe him or not.</li> <li>[5] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No, Mr Cox, that is the wrong way</li> <li>[6] round. I do not decide that people are liars unless</li> <li>[7] I am invited to do so by one party or the other. If you</li> <li>[8] are going to say he is as clean as the driven snow and</li> <li>[9] Mr Hobbs is going to say he is as clean as the driven</li> <li>[10] snow I am not going to say you are both talking rubbish</li> <li>[11] and that I think he is a liar. The whole point is, as I</li> <li>[12] said to you earlier, you have to make it clear to</li> <li>[13] Mr Hobbs and his clients what you are saying. It sounds</li> <li>[14] to me ~ as it appeared to me in your skeleton - when</li> <li>[15] push comes to shove, what you are saying is there is a</li> <li>[16] very strong likelihood, the way you run this case, that</li> <li>[17] Mr Lazenby lied to your clients and is lying in his</li> <li>[18] witness statement.</li> <li>[19] MR HOBBS: While we are on this, does this extend to any one</li> <li>[20] of the other witnesses in Shell that we have been naming</li> <li>[21] as we have been going through this material? Is the</li> <li>[22] AMR COX: My Lord, there is a difficulty when the claimant is</li> </ul>

<ul> <li>invited to do this. With Mr Lazenby it is frankly not</li> <li>difficult. With Mr Watson, it is impossible to say.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: At the moment your position in relation</li> <li>to Mr Watson is you reserve the right to accuse him of</li> <li>not being honest, but you do not know yet whether that</li> <li>is a case that you are going to put. Is that right?</li> <li>MR COX: Exactly. I think, with Mr Watson, one would like</li> <li>to hear his answers in cross-examination. As</li> <li>your Lordship knows, these issues can arise and it is</li> <li>not necessary to my case to suggest that to Mr Watson.</li> <li>It may be that your Lordship is right that necessarily</li> <li>(inaudible) join issue on the facts of Mr Lazenby allows</li> <li>little room for alternatives. I do have this proviso to</li> <li>enter, if I may, concerning Mr Lazenby: it may be that</li> <li>on an analysis of this case at the end of this evidence,</li> <li>my Lord, your Lordship would come to the view that there</li> <li>was a fairly serious misunderstanding by the employees</li> <li>of the Shell Promotions Department as to just what</li> <li>confidentiality required them to do. What it meant. It</li> <li>as doing nothing wrong. That if somebody came to you</li> <li>with an idea, it did not matter much what they said</li> <li>about it or the circumstances, if you did not take it up</li> <li>and ask them to do the work for example, their ideas</li> <li>were otherwise unprotectable. They could not complain</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>(1) Shell were going to have to do is, broadly speak, the</li> <li>[2] mechanics. They were going to be doing technology, they</li> <li>[3] were going certainly to be testing their idea for market</li> <li>[4] research. But you would expect any idea to be tested</li> <li>[5] for practicability against market research, reviewed and</li> <li>[6] so on. But the idea, certainly towards the end of 1992,</li> <li>[7] had already crystallised in their minds. I am going to</li> <li>[8] show, I hope, your Lordship how that, on the balance of</li> <li>[9] probabilities, given all the other evidence, is a</li> <li>[10] reasonable conclusion.</li> <li>[11] May I take your Lordship to it? On 4th August at</li> <li>[12] volume 3, page 1200, an interesting letter is written by</li> <li>[13] Mr Lazenby. Mr Lazenby by now, as Mr Watson and he</li> <li>[14] comment, is fully onboard. He is the mainstream of his</li> <li>[15] department's activity; he is really at the centre of it</li> <li>[16] and becomes subsequently the Project Manager for</li> <li>[17] Hercules. This was perceived plainly as an important</li> <li>[18] project for Shell and it would be no doubt desirable to</li> <li>[19] be associated with it if it were going to be successful</li> <li>[20] and big. Mr Donovan was written to by Mr Lazenby about</li> <li>[21] the Megamatch. My Lord, it is quite important to</li> <li>[22] recollect what has happened. In May your Lordship will</li> <li>[23] recall the earlier letter, Mr Donovan had given the</li> <li>[24] go-ahead to try to reassemble this consortium. This is</li> <li>[25] about the third time that Shell, from its various</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[11] come to August now and I have referred your Lordship to</li> <li>[12] paragraph 19 of Mr Lazenby's statement where he says:</li> <li>[13] "By the start of August 1992 Tim [Mr Hannagan] and</li> <li>[14] I had seen and spoken to a number of potential suppliers</li> <li>[15] of technology for a long-term loyalty scheme and on the</li> <li>[16] 4th Tim had produced a note putting forward 14 possible</li> <li>[17] suppliers for running Project Onyx."</li> <li>[18] He had met with these suppliers, he had added AT&amp;T</li> <li>[19] and they had shortlisted six. My Lord, these were the</li> <li>[20] suppliers of technology, as he puts it, for long-term</li> <li>[21] loyalty schemes, who could supply the electronic</li> <li>[22] element. It will become fairly clear, in our</li> <li>[23] submission, to your Lordship from an analysis of the</li> <li>[24] evidence that, from then on really, what really mattered</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>(1) offices, had said</li> <li>(2) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Go and look at the consortium and,</li> <li>(3) according to Mr Donovan, at the same time put the</li> <li>(4) loyalty programme on the back burner. We will consider</li> <li>(5) that later.</li> <li>(6) MR COX: Yes. But, in reality, my Lord, in discovery there</li> <li>(7) is hardly a document about the Megamatch scheme. Shell</li> <li>(8) appear to be deafening in silence about Megamatch. So</li> <li>(9) if Mr Lazenby was asking Mr Donovan to go ahead with</li> <li>(10) Megamatch -</li> <li>(11) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Is the bottom line of what you are</li> <li>(12) saying that, every time they wrote about Megamatch, it</li> <li>(13) was an exercise in drawing a false scent across the</li> <li>(14) trail? Is that the point you are making?</li> <li>(15) MR COX: My Lord, certainly it is odd that, if Megamatch was</li> <li>(16) seriously being entertained by Shell, there are simply</li> <li>(17) no documents.</li> <li>(18) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: There are all sorts of things that are</li> <li>(19) odd, Mr Cox. I want to know how does it relate to the</li> <li>(20) issues before me? Is it going to be your suggestion,</li> <li>(21) subject to anything you hear in evidence which convinces</li> <li>(22) you to the contrary, that, insofar as Shell were</li> <li>(23) continuing to discuss Megamatch with Don, it was an</li> <li>(24) exercise of putting Don off the trail?</li> <li>(25) MR COX: My Lord, certainly it is a possible conclusion on</li> <li>(26) Page 112</li> </ul>

	J
<ul> <li>[1] the evidence. I would not wish to be drawn further on</li> <li>[2] it, because it is not necessary for my case to do so.</li> <li>[3] Can I come to this letter and your Lordship will see</li> <li>[4] what I say here?</li> <li>[5] MR HOBES: I must intervene. There were 64 volumes of</li> <li>[6] discovery on my side in this case. Not one person from</li> <li>[7] the plaintiff's solicitors came and inspected. They</li> <li>[8] left it to Mr John Donovan personally and it is nothing</li> <li>[9] short of outrageous for my learned friend to say "there</li> <li>[10] are no documents" in circumstances where he has no means</li> <li>[11] of knowing what documents there are. This is quite</li> <li>[12] wrong.</li> <li>[13] MR COX: I defer from my learned friend, although I always</li> <li>[14] defer to expressions of emotion. They are always</li> <li>[15] admirable, but the reality is that I have instructions</li> <li>[16] which I am entitled to assume are correct and, at the</li> <li>[17] moment, that is my instruction.</li> <li>[18] MR COX: is that, if you are not drawing it to my</li> <li>[20] attention for the purpose of showing a red herring, what</li> <li>[21] are you showing it to me for?</li> <li>[22] MR COX: My Lord, because of this letter -</li> <li>[23] MR COX: My Lord, Jeacause of this letter -</li> <li>[24] MR COX: My Lord, I am about to take your Lordship to a</li> <li>[25] letter which shows that the two projects in Mr Lazenby's Page 113</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] MR COX: That is why I do not wish to suggest - because it</li> <li>[2] is not necessary for me to suggest this, but it is a</li> <li>[3] possibility -</li> <li>[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: And it may become apparent in</li> <li>[5] cross-examination that this was a deliberate attempt to</li> <li>[6] put Don off the trial. I understand that All I am</li> <li>[7] saying is, if that is not the reason you are showing it</li> <li>[8] to me, just tell me what the point is.</li> <li>[9] MR COX: Let us come on to it, my Lord. It is a letter</li> <li>[10] telling us that Megamatch is not going to be run:</li> <li>[11] "We got our formal market research back on</li> <li>[12] 22nd July and Megamatch performed pretty well, faring</li> <li>[13] well over all groups and surprisingly not with any</li> <li>[14] avoidance by high mileage drivers. In fact it was the</li> <li>[15] third most successful concept in this research. I am,</li> <li>[16] however, not going to develop Megamatch for use in</li> <li>[17] quarter one 1993 for these three reasons: I do not</li> <li>[18] believe that high mileage motorists will be happy with</li> <li>[19] this concept despite the research. The crucial element</li> <li>[20] of this promotion was the group of participating</li> <li>[21] retailers, including a supermarket chain. I do not</li> <li>[22] believe it would be possible to pull together such a</li> <li>[23] group of participants and co-ordinate them all. The</li> <li>[24] research does show a significant degree of scepticism</li> <li>[25] among the customers. There is a significant degree of</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>11] If that is not the purpose of showing me this letter,</li> <li>12] what is the purpose of showing me this letter? I do not</li> <li>13] care. I have an open mind.</li> <li>14] MR COX: Let me put it this way: certainly it is part of our</li> <li>15] case that Mr Lazenby put up red herrings to the</li> <li>16] claimant. Having said that, whether or not Megamatch</li> <li>17] was one of them is a matter on which I would like, if</li> <li>18] I may, on reflection, to reserve my position. But this</li> <li>19] letter I am taking your Lordship to for another reason.</li> <li>10] There are sometimes, my Lord, themes and matters</li> <li>11] that arise on the analysis of any case in any trial</li> <li>12] where the advocate must say to himself "That may be a</li> <li>13] runable matter. I will have to see how the evidence</li> <li>14] unfolds in cross-examination".</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] resistance within senior Shell management to running a</li> <li>[2] competition. Despite all of these, in principle I still</li> <li>[3] like the idea of Megamatch and I will actively keep it</li> <li>[4] in mind for promotions later in 1993 and 1994. I am in</li> <li>[5] fact speaking directly to a variety of suitable partners</li> <li>[6] and, when it looks as though we will be able to get</li> <li>[7] together, I will get back to you to develop Megamatch</li> <li>[8] further."</li> <li>[9] My Lord, what is interesting about that final</li> <li>[10] paragraph is that Mr Lazenby has illuminated suddenly</li> <li>[11] that he is talking directly to a variety of suitable</li> <li>[12] partners. Now, that can only be for Megamatch or the</li> <li>[13] multibrand loyalty concept. Since Megamatch was not</li> <li>[14] going to be run, what we know is, when one looks at</li> <li>[15] discovery, that he was talking directly to partners</li> <li>[16] about a multibrand loyalty scheme. So that, not only</li> <li>[17] does his witness statement, when he says "I was putting</li> <li>[18] together possible suppliers for Onyx", what is clear is</li> <li>[19] party retailers. It could not be Megamatch, because he</li> <li>[20] said he was ending it: it had to be some other project.</li> <li>[21] We submit it was the multibrand loyalty concept.</li> <li>[22] So, my Lord, that is interesting as a letter</li> <li>[23] because it helps us show that direct approaches are in</li> </ul>

.-.

61	his mind to these third parties. My Lord, it may be we	[1] (3.15 pm) have to come back to that letter. But, for now,	[2] My Lord, that by itself needs to be looked at with my Lord, I will, if I may, leave it to one side. He has	[3] other documents. That was sent to six companies. They thanked Mr Donovan for his work.	[4] narrowed them down to two, jettisoning on the way
[5]	My Lord, by September Mr Lazenby was drafting a	[5] Concept Systems, Mr McMahon, and they selected GHA brief for the shortlisted candidates for the suppliers	[6] Associates and Senior King; those, in other words, that of technology. That is at 1272. This was a brief to	[7] had made presentations at the beginning of the year.
	form the basic requirements of the Project Onyx system.	[8] The other four, my Lord, they said, though they
	The first page of it is at 1268. My Lord, without going	[9] rejected them, they asked for further information and, through every detail of it now, the relevant passage is [10] as Mr Lazenby put it, kept their options open with them, at 1272 and the bottom of 1271 where the marketing	[11] and sent them scurrying around looking for information requirement is set out:	[12] at their request.
3]	"What is it not? A copy of current Mobil, Total	[13] My Lord, all that did not avail the two chosen [14] because by January 1993, even those two short-listed who [15] had been part of the tender process, who had given loyalty scheme, distinct and better. High degree of	[16] presentations throughout October 1992, were then
-	flexibility facilitating promotion of fuel sales. High	[17] jettisoned and rejected. It was at that point that a [18] new agency came in, called Option One, so that these six issue by third parties, points redemption by third	[19] companies make their presentations in October; two of parties, catalogue promotion, partnerships promotion.	[20] them are told that they are going to be selected on 27th
1]	Shell: our promotion."	[21] October but by January, both of them are out and a new
2]	It is a list only and it is a brief to be supplied	[22] agency has come in called Option One.
	to these six suppliers. My Lord, it may be, in due	[23] My Lord, may I make our case reasonably plain on course, that one needs to look at various other - the	[24] that? We say that it is a reasonable inference from the 25]	promotional requirement sets out on page 1271 multiple Page 117	[25] evidence that the following is the reason: both GHA and Page 1
	promotions and several different promotional activities,	[1] Senior King, certainly GHA – your Lordship has seen
2]	redemptions, and so on.	[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running
2] 3]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> </ul>
2] 3] 4]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies,	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> </ul>
2] 3] 4] 5]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality:	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> </ul>
2] 9] 4] 5]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> </ul>
2] 9] 4] 5] 7]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> </ul>
2] 9] 4] 5] 5] 7]	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning - were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> </ul>
2) 3) 4) 5) 5) 7) 3) 3) 3) 1) 1) 11	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project."	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the information contained in the documents that	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an indication, extending as it did to all of the	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an indication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] If I can invite your Lordship to look, on 28th</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be lisclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an indication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded he – of course, there was another information in the hom the state the twee the law be with the state the provided the remarks are the state t	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] scheme.</li> <li>[20] If I can invite your Lordship to look, on 28th</li> <li>[21] October, at volume 3, 1318, your Lordship will see that</li> </ul>
[2]         [3]         [4]         [5]         [6]         [7]         [8]         [9]         [1]         [1]         [2]         [3]         [4]         [4]         [6]         [7]         [8]         [9]         [1]         [1]         [2]         [3]         [3]         [4]         [5]         [6]         [7]         [6]         [7]         [7]         [8]         [9]         [9]         [1]         [1]         [2]         [3]         [3]         [4]         [5]         [6]         [6]         [6]         [6]         [6]         [6]         [6]         [7]         [8]         [9]         [1]         [1]         [2]         [	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be lisclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that rour Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an indication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded he – of course, there was another information in the locument, but how Shell regarded what it was doing. In	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] scheme.</li> <li>[20] If I can invite your Lordship to look, on 28th</li> <li>[21] October, at volume 3, 1318, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[22] the agenda of Mr Lazenby, together with Mr Watson, as it</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be lisclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an indication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded he – of course, there was another information in the kocument, but how Shell regarded what it was doing. In varticular the idea of a loyalty scheme	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] october, at volume 3, 1318, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[20] the agenda of Mr Lazenby, together with Mr Watson, as it</li> <li>[21] would appear, is already really inconsistent with GHA</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an ndication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded he – of course, there was another information in the locument, but how Shell regarded what it was doing. In particular the idea of a loyalty scheme consortium-based, partners in a partnership, Shell-led	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] scheme.</li> <li>[20] If I can invite your Lordship to look, on 28th</li> <li>[21] October, at volume 3, 1318, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[22] the agenda of Mr Lazenby, together with Mr Watson, as it</li> <li>[23] would appear, is already really inconsistent with GHA</li> <li>[24] and Senior King being retained because they are already</li> </ul>
	redemptions, and so on. My Lord, that was accompanied by a letter at 1266 to each of the six shortlisted companies, agencies, requiring confidentiality: "It is a condition of providing this brief and related data regarding Shell's performance that you enter into a personal undertaking with regard to preservation of confidentiality concerning all the information, oral and written, with which you have been provided. Preservation of confidentiality also extends to any information you have received or will receive in the future in connection with this project." Then various other remarks are made "kept strictly confidential may not be used and may not be disclosed to third parties". So that went with the nformation contained in the documents that your Lordship has had a look at. It is, we submit, an ndication, extending as it did to all of the nformation in the document, how Shell regarded he – of course, there was another information in the locument, but how Shell regarded what it was doing. In particular the idea of a loyalty scheme consortium-based, partners in a partnership, Shell-led	<ul> <li>[2] their presentations briefly this morning – were running</li> <li>[3] systems that they decided by certainly the end of 1992,</li> <li>[4] they did not want. They were third party systems of the</li> <li>[5] type that we have already examined and they brought in</li> <li>[6] Option One, not to run any scheme, as GHA were hoping to</li> <li>[7] do, but rather to do what Shell determined they should</li> <li>[8] do, a limited role. The idea was already there; the</li> <li>[9] scheme was already decided upon, the promotional</li> <li>[10] framework. Option One was simply going to, in effect,</li> <li>[11] review the idea and put forward together a strategy to</li> <li>[12] implement it. GHA, on the other hand, had a different</li> <li>[13] kind of approach, as your Lordship has seen.</li> <li>[14] My Lord, this was already in the mind, we submit,</li> <li>[15] it may be, in Mr Lazenby's mind in August when he was</li> <li>[16] writing himself direct to partners, or at least says he</li> <li>[17] was approaching direct partners, because that would not</li> <li>[18] necessarily we submit have been compatible with a GHA</li> <li>[19] october, at volume 3, 1318, your Lordship will see that</li> <li>[20] the agenda of Mr Lazenby, together with Mr Watson, as it</li> <li>[21] would appear, is already really inconsistent with GHA</li> </ul>

<ul> <li>[4] away clients.</li> <li>[5] "The second impact that a grocer giving out Air</li> <li>[6] Miles would have would be to enfranchise more of the</li> <li>[7] public into promotional awareness."</li> <li>[8] So, my Lord, it has dealt with Air Miles. Over</li> <li>[9] the page, at paragraph 2, under the words "Project</li> <li>[10] Onyx", which is the long-term loyalty scheme that Shell</li> <li>[11] are considering, is an important paragraph:</li> <li>[12] "A major grocer will be key to getting a truly</li> <li>[13] universal 'lifestyle' promotion, where customers collect</li> <li>[14] generic points, collected from different points, into a</li> <li>[15] pool. The grocer would act as a major collecting</li> <li>[16] source, beside ourselves, and neither of us will be a</li> <li>[17] key location for supply of rewards."</li> <li>[18] Then a point is made that if another grocer were</li> <li>[19] to go with Air Miles, then they would be in an extremely</li> <li>[20] strong position to tic up a second of the big three</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] say they would drive several miles out of their way to</li> <li>[3] find a Shell station. Yes, I know all about that.</li> <li>[4] MR COX: My Lord, quite. Number 4, though, is an</li> <li>[5] interesting part of it:</li> <li>[6] "We could launch a joint major 'points</li> <li>[7] promotion'. Customers would collect points, either in</li> <li>[8] paper form or electronically, from both Shell and</li> <li>[9] Sainsbury's outlets (and from other retailers, banks,</li> <li>[10] et cetera?) and redeem them for items from a mail order</li> <li>[11] catalogue.</li> <li>[12] "We are currently studying the feasibility of</li> <li>[13] this option and believe that it would be a powerful</li> <li>[14] marketing tool, 'leapfrogging' all of our and your</li> <li>[15] competitors."</li> <li>[16] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That is not quite the same thing, is it,</li> <li>[17] a mail order catalogue?</li> <li>[18] MR COX: You could redeem from a mail order catalogue - the</li> <li>[19] redemption techniques were matters that could be</li> <li>[20] varied. One will see in the discovery in this, one</li> <li>[21] could have simply a catalogue at Sainsbury's and at</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[1] Air Miles generally. It is not a mass market appeal</li> <li>[2] promotion because it is only for those who are able to</li> <li>[3] have the luxury or good fortune of travelling to far</li> </ul>	[1] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I cannot help but laugh at this. They
<ul> <li>[2] 28th October 1992 under promotional opportunities with</li> <li>[3] Sainsbury.</li> <li>[4] "Sainsbury's would be an ideal promotional</li> <li>[5] partner", he says, "due to their size and number of</li> <li>[6] stores and their brand image and market positioning.</li> <li>[7] Problems working with them will be that they have no</li> <li>[8] representation in Scotland and Northern Ireland. Also,</li> <li>[9] they claim to have 4 per cent petrol market share</li> <li>[10] "Still, they have 7 to 9 million customer visits</li> <li>[11] per week which, whilst the profile of their customers</li> <li>[12] oriented to women, and so away from high mileage</li> <li>[13] motorists, is still attractive target audience.</li> <li>[14] "Any partnership marketing activity we did with</li> <li>[15] them might fall into the following areas:</li> <li>[16] "Air Miles. If a major supermarket were brought</li> <li>[17] into Air Miles on a broad national basis, this would</li> <li>[18] cause a major UK relaunch of Air Miles. The grocer</li> <li>[19] would enhance the Air Miles offer to extend its appeal</li> <li>[20] to most of our customers, possibly 50 to 70 per cent,</li> <li>[21] though there would still be a significant number to whom</li> <li>[22] this offer will not be attractive, so we will still not</li> <li>[23] be able to make this our only promotion without losing a</li> <li>[24] significant number of our current customers."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[2] "The first two routes are the most attractive</li> <li>[3] long-term and strategically useful."</li> <li>[4] So in other words, tying up Sainsbury's in to Air</li> <li>[5] Miles, of which Shell were a member, but also a true</li> <li>[6] universal lifestyle promotion for customers collecting</li> <li>[7] generic points, that is the Shell-led consortium, we</li> <li>[8] say, and expressed in a few lines.</li> <li>[9] My Lord, it is important to recollect that the</li> <li>[10] claimant's idea was first ventilated in its fuller form</li> <li>[11] in 1990 by means of an approach to Sainsbury's. It was</li> <li>[12] known to Mr Lazenby, it is our case, as a consequence of</li> <li>[13] 12th May discussions because it is the evidence of both</li> <li>[14] men that they mentioned that they had made an approach</li> <li>[15] to Sainsbury's and explained how, what had been done.</li> <li>[16] Mr Watson wrote a letter at page 1323 to</li> <li>[17] Sainsbury's on exactly the lines that Mr Lazenby had</li> <li>[18] suggested two days before. He wrote that letter on 13th</li> <li>[19] October 1992; 1323.</li> <li>[20] My Lord, I am going to move to the bottom of the</li> <li>[21] page. (3) deals with the Air Miles' suggestion:</li> <li>[22] "Whilst it appeals only to a minority of our</li> <li>[23] customers, to those people it clearly appeals</li> <li>[24] strongly Sainsbury's could offer Air Miles."</li> </ul>

__

[1]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: What I am saying, Mr Cox, is this is a		1] but just a few days before he and the claimant spoke on
[2]	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·		a) the phone, he asked to see a copy of that letter,
[3]		1	knowing that it existed. He had minuted
101	you go and redeem it in a catalogue, a mail order		MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Does he admit that he asked for the
1	catalogue.		5] letter?
	MR COX: My Lord, it could be -	1.000	6] MR COX: No. He says he can see no reason, why he would have
[6]	The literation is a second to be a s	1	7) asked for it.
[7]
	about anything.	-	<ul> <li>MH JUSINCE LADDLE: 1 understand. He can see no reason wh</li> <li>g he should have asked for it, no reason why he should</li> </ul>
[9]			of have looked at it, because he was already in discussions link-up, no third party intervening, between Sainsbury's	1.	E man a set a s and Shell, issuing a common currency, issuing and	-	1] with Sainsbury's.
	redeeming a common currency. The mail order catalogue	[12	The second is merely one way it could be done. It could be done	-	al at paragraph 30 of his statement:
	for their own commodities. It is a direct approach, my	[14	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
	Lord, which is not compatible with a third party scheme		5] a July 1990 letter he had written to Sainsbury's of this
-	being operated, like GHA; in other words, they are	[16	s) meeting. I have no recollection of ever requesting already exploring direct relationships with partners in	117
	a joint promotion, issuing and redeeming a common	-	s reason why he would have brought it along to the 19]	currency.	1.	n meeting, let alone handing it to me in the context of 20]		120	of this meeting, and my note makes no reference to any of the year that this forms conclusively in the minds of	[2	, 22]	Mr Lazenby and Mr Watson, because it is important to		2] added nothing to our already existing thinking on
23]	trace it step by step.	[2:	a) loyalty schemes."
24]	My Lord, in November, this is a second important	124	4] Paragraph 30, my Lord.
25]	period, Mr Donovan telephoned Mr Lazenby with a view to	12:	5] Although it is couched as having no recollection,
		_
11	putting forward further proposals of a short-term	1	] it seems to us, with respect, to be a clear denial and nature, believing that Shell was interested in		i i is denied in the pleadings – short-term promotions. During that telephone	[3 conversation it is our case that Mr Lazenby asked him some time in early November, "Could you bring with you,	4 or send me a copy of the letter you wrote to Sainsbury's		is some days before, he asked to see that letter, he had back in July 1990?" Mr Donovan and Mr Lazenby agreed to	[6]	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
	meet on 24th November 1992.		] immediate superior to write to Sainsbury's, approaching
9]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a second.		them for a direct common currency promotion, just as he
ני נו	MR COX: My Lord, Mr Lazenby, they did -	1.000	knew the claimant had done -
1]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: They met when?	[10]	,
2]	MR COX: 24th November, 1992.	1.0	the moment that Mr Iazenby knew of the letters that he
1	My Lord, Mr Lazenby admits that meeting but says		wrote to the internal memorandum to senior management and the fact that he was going to write to Sainsbury's, that he cannot recall seeing, reading or receiving the letter of 24th July 1990 that is and cannot thick as		and so on and so forth, why is that inconsistent with letter of 24th July, 1990 that is, and cannot think, or indeed, more than that:		paragraph 30, having decided to do it all himself,
יני ו		100000000	having told management that he was going to do it, why
	"There is simply no reason why John Donovan should have brought that letter to the meeting". I am		did he need to see a letter from Don?
	should have brought that letter to the meeting" - I am	[18]
	quoting verbatim from his statement at paragraph 30 –		reason is that when you are making an approach along
	"let alone hand it to me in the context of this		exactly the same or very similar lines to one that you meeting. My meeting note makes no reference to any		know has been made before by Shell, or at least with discussions on this subject."		Shell's direct approval, Sainsbury's being a prize
1	He says:	[23]	partner in the market for this kind of promotion, you
]	"It would have added nothing to our thinking."		would want to establish in your own mind what has gone
]]	My Lord, one knows not whether he had forgotten,		before.
	Page 126		Page 12

	· ,
<ul> <li>It would be the most ordinary activity of a</li> <li>professional man to say, if one knows you are entering a</li> <li>negotiation with a major partner, potential partner,</li> <li>like Sainsbury's, the first thing you do is ask to see</li> <li>what has happened before. "What have we discussed in</li> <li>the past with Sainsbury?" You know, because you have</li> <li>had disclosed to you in May, that an approach was made</li> <li>directly on behalf of Shell, with Shell's approval and</li> <li>Shell's textual input and it would be, I submit, not</li> <li>only natural but possibly negligent not to say, "We need</li> <li>to see what was said before, how was it put, and more</li> <li>importantly, how was it left with Sainsbury's, with what</li> <li>expressions of interest, with what understandings?" To</li> <li>have the letter then was the natural thing that any</li> <li>reasonably competent man would have done. My Lord, in</li> <li>ould see that you were not making incompatible</li> <li>statements.</li> <li>In this case, it is very significant, because if</li> <li>he asked for that letter from Mr Donovan and Mr Donovan</li> <li>jaw it to him, as he and Sotherton brought it on 24th</li> <li>November, because they had been asked to, and the reason</li> <li>why they had been asked to was because unbeknownst to</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>MR HOBES: It is a second copy of a letter. 450/A is the</li> <li>one with the annotation on it. You need to contrast it</li> <li>with the one which precedes it at 449.</li> <li>MR COX: I am very grateful. It has been filed there</li> <li>because it would have borne a date in July.</li> <li>Page 450/A.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. That does not -</li> <li>MR COX: My Lord, no.</li> <li>MR COX: My Lord, no.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It does not suggest that that was</li> <li>contemporaneously written on the document. This looks</li> <li>like it could just be a note to solicitors, or something</li> <li>like that.</li> <li>MR COX: One does not know. It is the only note</li> <li>MR HOBES: Yes, it is suggested.</li> <li>MR HOBES: Yes, it is suggested.</li> <li>MR COX: Mr Sotherton does say that he made a note on the</li> <li>document at the time and if I can take your Lordship to</li> <li>that witness statement, it is in the claimant's bundle.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: For example, on 24th November, or 25th</li> <li>November, he wrote on it:</li> <li>Recox: 450/B I am told.</li> <li>MR HOBES: The manuscript note is on 450/B.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>[11] same department. He asks for that letter. It does</li> <li>[12] rather suggest that May and November hang together.</li> <li>[13] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you tell me this: is there any</li> <li>[14] evidence other than the witness statements of</li> <li>[15] Mr Sotherton and Mr Donovan that the letter was in fact</li> <li>[16] handed over?</li> <li>[17] MR COX: My Lord, there is the evidence of Mr Sotherton;</li> <li>[18] there is a note Mr Sotherton made on his copy there was</li> <li>[19] such a letter.</li> <li>[20] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Can you tell me where that is?</li> <li>[21] MR COX: My Lord, I can. It is to be found at - if your</li> <li>[22] Lordship will give me one moment. Would your Lordship</li> <li>[23] bear with me for just a moment? It is E1, my Lord,</li> <li>[24] 450/A.</li> </ul>	<ol> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Quite right. Just leave it for a</li> <li>moment. (Pause) I see.</li> <li>MR COX: My Lord, Mr Sotherton says he made a note on the</li> <li>letter -</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes, I see.</li> <li>MR COX: - at paragraph 22. That appears to be it.</li> <li>But, my Lord, the position is that that is a</li> <li>straightforward issue of fact. We submit, we say the</li> <li>letter was handed over; it was brought to that meeting</li> <li>as a result of a request. Unbeknownst to Mr Donovan,</li> <li>there is a very good reason why it would have been</li> <li>required and asked for by Mr Lazenby. That has emerged</li> <li>on discovery with those two documents on 28th and 30th</li> <li>October.</li> <li>Sainsbury's was a sensitive issue. It was</li> <li>perceived as the prize grocer supermarket. It was known</li> <li>to be very hard to get. Unquestionably arose issues of</li> <li>some sensitivity and, therefore, to determine what had</li> <li>happened in 1990 would have been important. We say</li> <li>Lazenby got that letter.</li> <li>My Lord, it is important to recollect something</li> <li>because of course it is said – there was no mention of</li> <li>giving that letter over by Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton</li> <li>when they wrote subsequently to Mr Lazenby on 3rd</li> <li>December 1992. On 3rd December 1992, which was the next Page 132</li> </ol>

 $\widehat{\phantom{a}}$

		F41	recollection. This is an exercise in deliberate deceit,
[1] ]	piece of correspondence -		if you are right.
[2]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: 1345?		MR COX: Yes.
[3]	MR COX: I think so, my Lord, yes. 1345. Mr Donovan writes	[3]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: There is really no alternative to that
[4] :	about the recent presentation of Hollywood Collection	[4]
5	and Make Merry concepts and deals exclusively with the		suggestion. MR COX: There is not, I am afraid. The only reason -
[6]	Hollywood Collection and Make Merry concepts and	[6]
7	proposals.	M	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Fine.
[8]	The reason for that is we submit that Mr Lazenby	[8]	MR COX: The only reason I have been diffident about it is
191	told Mr Sotherton and Mr Donovan that there was no		that one is reluctant to make such an allegation and one
0]	prospect of a long-term loyalty promotion for a long	[10]	is reluctant, but the fact is that the facts, we will
1]	time yet to come. In other words, Mr Sotherton and	[11]	have to submit, drive one to the conclusion that this
- T	Mr Donovan did not understand there to be more than a	[12]	young man was on the make, wanted to make a name for
2] 3]	passing interest; Mr Lazenby asking to see it, a brief	[13]	himself, did not tell his superiors that he was
41	discussion with no immediate relevance, because	[14]	receiving good ideas from Mr Donovan and drove the
	Mr Lazenby –		project along the lines suggested by Mr Donovan, no
	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Wait a minute. Once again, to be	[16]	doubt not telling his superiors that the input, what he
6]	perfectly clear, what this must mean, if that evidence		was being fed was from somebody else.
7]	perfectly clear, what this must mean in that evidence	[18]	UP ULOTION LADDE. Is maken life to much engine when I know
8]	is right, is that Mr Lazenby, who was deeply in		that no prisoners are being taken.
		[20]	and an and for tables principal May Lake
20]	letter, which he did not have in his files.		say that I suppose I would not be here if this were the
21]	MR COX: Yes.	[21]	nature and nub of the case for your Lordship to decide.
22]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Because he knew it existed, and	1000	the support to DOLE to be abused as in a band
23]	deliberately and dishonestly said, There is no	[23]
24]	long-term project going on", so that Mr Donovan and	10.00	fought action.
25]	Mr Sotherton would not realise that this information was Page 133	[25]	MR COX: The fact is that we submit Mr Donovan was being Page 13
		-
	being furnished to help them with precisely such a	1.000	made use of and if your Lordship has already opened the being furnished to help them with precisely such a long-term loyalty.	1.000	tempting pages in Pandora's box ~
	long-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly.	[2] [3]	tempting pages in Pandora's box - MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary - I mean,
(2) (3) (4)	long-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if	[2] [3]	tempting pages in Pandora's box -
(2) (3) (4) (5)	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of	[2] [3]	<ul> <li>Itempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5)	long-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5)	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6]	<ul> <li>Itempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8)	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9)	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved ~ these are all questions that will have</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with	[2] [3] [4] [6] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved ~ these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> </ul>
(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (0) (1)	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved ~ these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary – I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved ~ these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit – to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [4] [5] [6] [7]	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box ~</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary ~ I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved ~ these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit – to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> </ul>
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [6] [6] [7] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6] [6	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and butings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> </ul>
[2] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and butings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [7] [7] [8] [9] [7] [8] [9] [7] [7] [8] [9] [7] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [8] [7] [8] [7] [8] [8] [7] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8] [8	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and butings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [7] [8] [9] [9] [1] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2] [2	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and butings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> </ul>
[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] 11 [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] 11 [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [7] [8] [9] [0] [1] [2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [6] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7] [7	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar. There is no other alternative; he is a liar. If I think	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> <li>telling them in May and in November, "It is a long way</li> </ul>
	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar. There is no other alternative; he is a liar. If I think he is a liar, I will say so. There is no two ways about	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16] [16] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> <li>telling them in May and in November, "It is a long way</li> <li>ahead, we will keep it in the locker. It is all far,</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Iong-term loyalty.</li> <li>MR COX: Exactly.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if</li> <li>your clients are right, unquestionably an action of</li> <li>deccit.</li> <li>MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and</li> <li>Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with</li> <li>just that thing which Shell said they were not going</li> <li>ahead with.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go</li> <li>for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all</li> <li>on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have</li> <li>for future consideration.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch</li> <li>choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar.</li> <li>There is no other alternative; he is a liar. If I think</li> <li>he is a liar, I will say so. There is no two ways about</li> <li>it.</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [13] [14] [14] [16] [17] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> <li>telling them in May and in November, "It is a long way</li> <li>ahead, we will keep it in the locker. It is all far,</li> <li>far off. We think it is too ambitious", you were not</li> </ul>
	Iong-term loyalty. MR COX: Exactly. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: No if ings and but ings. That is, if your clients are right, unquestionably an action of deceit. MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with just that thing which Shell said they were not going ahead with. MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have for future consideration. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: That does clear the air a bit. MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar. There is no other alternative; he is a liar. If I think he is a liar, I will say so. There is no two ways about it. MR COX: I do not think so.	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [16] [17] [18] [20] [21] [22] [23]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR COX: No, not really. That might look a little bit to</li> <li>ask Sainsbury what Shell had done in the past?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> <li>telling them in May and in November, "It is a long way</li> <li>ahead, we will keep it in the locker. It is all far,</li> <li>far off. We think it is too ambitious", you were discussing</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Iong-term loyalty.</li> <li>MR COX: Exactly.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDE: No if ings and but-ings. That is, if</li> <li>your clients are right, unquestionably an action of</li> <li>deccit.</li> <li>MR COX: Unscrupulous and unethical conduct, we agree.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDE: Designed to hide from Mr Donovan and</li> <li>Mr Sotherton the fact that they were going ahead with</li> <li>just that thing which Shell said they were not going</li> <li>ahead with.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes, they were told it would be too ambitious to go</li> <li>for a multipartner scheme in the immediate future, all</li> <li>on the back burner, but no doubt it was helpful to have</li> <li>for future consideration.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out.</li> <li>MR COX: Yes. I know you have been trying to draw me out.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On this one I do not think you havemuch</li> <li>choice. Your case on this is that Lazenby is a liar.</li> <li>There is no other alternative; he is a liar. If I think</li> <li>he is a liar, I will say so. There is no two ways about</li> <li>it.</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16] [16] [17] [18] [19] [20] [21] [22] [23] [24]	<ul> <li>tempting pages in Pandora's box</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is an extraordinary I mean,</li> <li>Mr Lazenby has to be a great poker player.</li> <li>MR COX: Not really.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes. He could just find out from</li> <li>Sainsbury's what contact they had had in the past. Why</li> <li>get involved these are all questions that will have</li> <li>to be canvassed at some stage. It is a high-risk</li> <li>strategy, is it not, to discuss this issue with Don just</li> <li>when he could find out all that he needed from Sainsbury</li> <li>direct?</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It did not matter, they could just carry</li> <li>on with Sainsbury and say, "Let us work out how we can</li> <li>co-operate together". You know the expression "sleeping</li> <li>dogs", why wake up Don about the Sainsbury</li> <li>MR COX: But you were not waking him up. You had been</li> <li>telling them in May and in November, "It is a long way</li> <li>ahead, we will keep it in the locker. It is all far,</li> <li>far off. We think it is too ambitious", you were not</li> </ul>

[1] :	actively considered for short-term promotions.	[1]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just a moment. 1356.
[2]	It is not, in fact, as I will submit to your	[2]
	Lordship during the trial, a very difficult trick; it is		was not found at all, even though Mr King would have had just ordinary stuff of the criminal court, albeit in		one in 1990.
~~~*	this case it does not have the elements that will bring	5
	it before those courts. It is not a criminal offence to	[6] steal somebody's idea.
	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It is criminal to commit perjury.	[7]
1	MR COX: That is another matter, as your Lordship knows.	[8]
9		[9]
ŋ	Either Mr Donovan is telling a lie and Mr Sotherton or		other documentation which confirms that. You have it may very well be -		already told me that there has been no discovery, or
]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: As I said, no prisoners in this case.	[12]
ŋ	MR COX: Yes. My Lord, moving forward, not to take up your	[13]
	Lordship's time too much longer, on 24th December 1992,	[14]
	Mr Lazenby, and that, my Lord –	[15]
ŋ	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: 1356, this is a note to Mr Leggatt.	[16]
1	MR COX: It is the note to Mr Leggatt, my Lord, yes. I seem	[17]	example, have discarded it at the time.
ŋ	to have the wrong bundle here.	[18]
ŋ	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: E3, 1356.		uments,
ŋ	MR COX: Yes, my Lord, I am grateful. Mr Lazenby urgently	[19]	to lose one letter is a misfortune, to lose two ] :	minuted Mr Leggatt, a senior man at Shell, to say with a	[20]
1	launch date of October 1st 1993 for Project Onyx and, of	[21]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: It was a great misfortune really to lose
1	course, this is one feature, that they were moving	[22]	two.
1	forward with a very ambitious date, they wanted to get	[23]
1	this on by 1st October 1993.	[24]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: On the assumption that there were two
	Page 137	[25]	MR COX: Yes. Mr Donovan is absolutely clear, as is
1	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just one second. Was there a copy?	-
	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Just one second. Was there a copy? MR COX: No.	[1]	Mr Sotherton, that it was given to him.
1		[1]	-
1	MR COX: No.	(2)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No.	(2) (3)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue.
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is	(2) (3) (4)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited
1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No.	(2) (3) (4) (5)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says,
1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case.	(2) (3) (4) (5) (6)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see –
1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond	(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was
1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it.	(2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8)	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being
1 1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like
1 1 1	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your ordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that
l 1 I S	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That
l 1 I S	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case.
l 1 I S	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes.
l I I S	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your ordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your ordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [16]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to th King, as far as we can see. There were no letters,	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of
l I I Shon Ma	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fr King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, nd so on, relating to that. I will have to take	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation.
lı ı Isk onNaii	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fr King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, nd so on, relating to that. I will have to take tstructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [13] [13]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means
IIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIIII	<ul> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery?</li> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case.</li> <li>MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it.</li> <li>It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were cost or destroyed.</li> <li>MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fir King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, and so on, relating to that. I will have to take the taxen that as to the reason why he could not find</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee.
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your ordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ ny Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to the King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, nd so on, relating to that. I will have to take istructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is efferring to that as to the reason why he could not find ertain documents of Mr King's, I will have to check	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] ; 20] ; 21]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Lazenby, but it is not as simple as
	MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery? MR COX: No. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case. MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it. It is quite right, I should have reminded your ordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were ost or destroyed. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I see. Okay. MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ny Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to the King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, nd so on, relating to that. I will have to take instructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is efferring to that as to the reason why he could not find ertain documents of Mr King's. I will have to check hat.	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [16] [17] [19] [20] : [21] [22] 1	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR COX: Yes. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Lazenby, but it is not as simple as that because your client has gone around saying – not
	<ul> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery?</li> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case.</li> <li>MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it.</li> <li>It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were cost or destroyed.</li> <li>MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ ny Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fir King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, and so on, relating to that. I will have to take instructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is efferring to that as to the reason why he could not find certain documents of Mr King's. I will have to check hat.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: There is no copy of that.</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [16] [13] [20] : [21] [22] 1 [23] ]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Lazenby, but it is not as simple as that because your client has gone around saying – not pust your client but some of the other witnesses –
	<ul> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery?</li> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case.</li> <li>MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it.</li> <li>It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were cost or destroyed.</li> <li>MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ ny Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fir King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, and so on, relating to that. I will have to take instructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is efferring to that as to the reason why he could not find certain documents of Mr King's. I will have to check hat.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: There is no copy of that.</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [9] [11] [12] [13] [14] [15] [15] [15] [16] [17] [19] [20] : [21] [22] 1	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Lazenby, but it is not as simple as that because your client has gone around saying – not
	<ul> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: In discovery?</li> <li>MR COX: No.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: So we have not just that Mr Lazenby is ying but that he has destroyed the documents. That must be the case.</li> <li>MR COX: He may not have retained it at the time, beyond reading it.</li> <li>It is quite right, I should have reminded your cordship, there was an office move in which Mr Lazenby ays quite a lot of his documents went missing or were cost or destroyed.</li> <li>MR COX: I will help your Lordship further with that but one of the questions I propose to ask Mr Lazenby is where ~ my Lord, there was no discovery of the files relating to fit King, as far as we can see. There were no letters, and so on, relating to that. I will have to take astructions about it. It may be that Mr Lazenby is efferring to that as to the reason why he could not find certain documents of Mr King's. I will have to check hat.</li> <li>MR COX: No. Page 1356.</li> </ul>	[2] [3] [4] [5] [6] [7] [8] [10] [11] [12] [13] [14] [13] [14] [15] [16] [17] [18] [20] : [21] [22] 1 [23] j [24]	MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Absolutely. There is going to be a clear difference of evidence on this issue. MR COX: Yes. Your Lordship can see why it has excited strong feeling. If it is right what Mr Donovan says, your Lordship can see – MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Cox, what I gathered when I was reading the papers is that Shell do not like being called liars and fraudsters and your clients do not like being cheated. One of them is justified in that feeling. Your clients may well have been cheated. That is your case. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If so, no wonder they are exceedingly upset. If, on the other hand, they have not been cheated, Shell have been accused of being liars and no doubt they are upset and that is why no doubt a lot of money is going to be spent on this litigation. MR COX: Yes, a great deal. When I say "Shell", one means at least a single employee. MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Mr Lazenby, but it is not as simple as that because your client has gone around saying – not pust your client but some of the other witnesses –

<ol> <li>Ianguage on either side.</li> <li>MR COX: What I would not want to do is lay against some of</li> <li>the individuals in this case any such allegation. I am</li> <li>conscious very much that this is being fought in open</li> <li>court and we are responsibly bound to be careful about</li> <li>what one says. I am not suggesting in the case of</li> <li>Mr Leggatt or Mr Pirret, or whatever it may be, that</li> <li>these things could possibly apply.</li> <li>MR JUSTICE LADDIE: 1356.</li> <li>MR COX: Mr Lazenby is minuting quite urgently because of</li> <li>the looming rapidly date option 5, "Various options and</li> </ol>	<ul> <li>[1] he calls it just a few months later, the Aladdin's lamp,</li> <li>[2] is a scheme of a multipartner consortium with issuing</li> <li>[3] and redeeming what he calls full partners. Despite the</li> <li>[4] rather interesting questions we were asked during</li> <li>[5] pleadings about what was a partner, discovery showed</li> <li>[6] that Shell knew full well what a partner was because</li> <li>[7] they used those very terms, "We will have a full partner</li> <li>[8] and we will have an associate partner". The full</li> <li>[9] partner was defined in the documents as issuers and</li> <li>[10] redeemers, fully on board inside the consortium; the</li> <li>[11] other kind was just redeemers.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>(12) current status report on the project, summary of options</li> <li>(13) open to us" and, my Lord, the relevant one is at option</li> <li>(14) 5, what he calls "the ultimate".</li> <li>(15) Your Lordship will remember that in the concept 4</li> <li>(16) document -</li> <li>(17) MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I remember it.</li> <li>(18) MR COX: It is no more than a passing fancy of mine to refer</li> <li>(19) it to you and probably with no relevance.</li> <li>(20) "Option 4, but with partner promotors both</li> <li>(21) redeeming and issuing electronic points. Each</li> <li>(22) individual partner promotor will not necessarily both</li> <li>(23) issue and redeem points."</li> <li>(24) That is the claimant's idea. If I can take your</li> <li>(25) Lordship back in recollection only to that idea, there</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[12] So this idea, by December, was entrenched within</li> <li>[13] at least what became the project manager of Hercules,</li> <li>[14] the implementation project to launch the Smart scheme,</li> <li>[15] in his mind. Nowhere, we submit, does it show in these</li> <li>[16] documents where that idea came from, neither in the</li> <li>[17] evidence of the witness statements; it has simply</li> <li>[18] evolved, but your Lordship knows what our case is.</li> <li>[19] It is significant that when one comes – they also</li> <li>[20] by now had decided that persons who were going to</li> <li>[21] implement their Shell scheme were not going to be GHA</li> <li>[22] and Senior King, they got rid of them and they brought</li> <li>[23] in Option One. My Lord, the terms on which they brought</li> <li>[24] in Option One are quite interesting. I need not take</li> <li>[25] too much of your Lordship's time with this. Suffice it</li> </ul>
<ol> <li>(1) will be some partners both issuing and redeemers; there</li> <li>(2) will be others merely redeeming. They will be partners</li> <li>(3) in a consortium and they will be with a common</li> <li>(4) currency. He goes on to say:</li> <li>(5) "Options 1, 2 and 3 can be implemented by 1st</li> <li>(6) October Option 4 will be more difficult since it</li> <li>(7) will require some investment and technological hardware</li> <li>(8) input from partner promotor and hence it is unlikely</li> <li>(9) that third parties' redemption of electronic points</li> </ol>	<ul> <li>[1] to say that Mr Lazenby himself, my Lord, says they were</li> <li>[2] brought in to do no strategic work, no work of any kind</li> <li>[3] of imaginative or character dreaming up the scheme. He</li> <li>[4] says as follows:</li> <li>[5] "We did not want them", this is Lazenby,</li> <li>[6] paragraph 34, "15th January 1993, we considered</li> <li>[7] Powerpoints and Senior King's proposals further and</li> <li>[8] while we were still interested in pursuing those ideas</li> <li>[9] we were not wholly convinced about either of them.</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>o) could be achieved before Q1 1994. Option 5 will take</li> <li>i) even longer with partner promotors issuing and redeeming</li> <li>2) points.</li> <li>a) "It is quite possible that we can launch options</li> <li>4) 4 and 5 on October 1st 1993 in a limited way on the</li> <li>5) basis that our partner promotors are brought on-line as</li> <li>6) soon as possible after the launch."</li> <li>7) He then reviews the competitor position at 1357.</li> <li>8) My Lord, that is how he leaves it at Christmas.</li> <li>9) of the reality that a close and rather lengthy</li> <li>1) examination of these documents we say gives rise to when</li> <li>2) one looks at it.</li> <li>3) What this document is making clear is Lazenby –</li> <li>4) at least Mr Lazenby we submit – has formed a clear idea</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[10] Powerpoints' proposal was a ready-made package and could</li> <li>[11] not be flexible about Shell's needs."</li> <li>[12] There at once they are identifying the difference,</li> <li>[13] a difference, although they do not spell out what the</li> <li>[14] needs were which were not fulfilled:</li> <li>[15] "Senior King were no longer working with Hughes</li> <li>[16] Electronics and they were too small anyway, so we again</li> <li>[17] thought of using Option One, a substantial marketing</li> <li>[18] agency with a proven track record. We thought that</li> <li>[19] Option One would be able to assist with promotional</li> <li>[20] advice as well as PR and design but we did not want them</li> <li>[21] to start acting as general strategic consultants.</li> <li>[22] "They were not cheap. They had a far greater</li> <li>[23] number of contacts than Senior King and would be a good</li> <li>[24] intermediary to approach third parties as promotional</li> </ul>

[1] strategic plan, an implementation plan of the marketing	[1] you intend to refer me to?
[2] offer and the means to present that offer. The idea was	[2] MR COX: I can give you one.
[3] to have several third parties who at least expressed	[3] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Would it be easier if you give me that
[4] serious interest in principle in becoming promotional	[4] list and I promise you I will have read them all
[5] partners within the coming months."	[5] assiduously before we start again tomorrow morning? It
[6] So before Option One were brought on, they were	[6] might save a little bit of time.
[7] brought on, my Lord, not to review, Mr Watson agrees,	[7] MR COX: I am more than happy to.
[8] not rather to do any strategic thinking. In fact, they	[8] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: You have been on your feet all day.
[s] already had what they described as a vision and, at	[9] MR COX: Yes, I have. I am very conscious of the length of
[10] paragraph 36, in terms that even through the dryish
[11] print of a no doubt carefully drafted witness statement,	[11] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: They are serious allegations of
[12] the enthusiasm and pride we submit peeps through the	[12] impropriety.
[13] language used by this witness because he says, my Lord,	[13]       MR COX: My Lord, I will give you such a list.         [14]       MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I will be in my room from about
<ul> <li>[14] at paragraph 38:</li> <li>[15] "I also set out our vision for the next</li> </ul>	[14] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I will be in my room from about [15] 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. As long as you fax it
[16] generation", this is to Option One, "of strategic	[16] through to my clerk by 8.30 will do, that will be plenty
[17] Joyalty promotions. We briefed Option One to act as our	[17] of time.
[18] promotions agency, to review this vision, to participate	[18] MR COX: I am very grateful. My Lord, that will shorten it in our market research exercise and to achieve contact	[19] considerably.
[20] with promotional partners with a view to the joint	[20] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: I understand you will take me through
[21] promotion and to select the correct mechanical and	[21] them. It is just that you will not have to read it line
[22] technical supplier using the experience which Shell had	[22] by line.
[23] already."	[23] MR COX: There are also one or two authorities that at this
[24] He says:	[24] stage I will take your Lordship to.
[25] "We did not have a deficient loop in from	[25] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: If you give me those, I will have read
Page 145	Page 147
<ul> <li>[1] Hercules. Quite fundamental questions such as whether</li> <li>[2] the project should be electronic or paper still remained</li> <li>[3] unresolved."</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>[1] those as well. Would that be a convenient point to</li> <li>[2] leave it?</li> <li>[3] MR COX: Yes.</li> </ul>
[4] That is like saying, we submit, when you take this	[4] MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Thank you very much.
[5] scheme as a whole and refer to quite fundamental	[5] (4.00 pm)
(6) questions such as whether it should be paper or	<ul><li>(i) (The court adjourned until 10.30 am the following day)</li></ul>
[7] electronic, really deciding whether or not - well, it
[8] is an exaggeration, I was going to say whether the	[8]
[9] paintwork was green or red. Your Lordship understands	[9]
	[10]
MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Yes.	[11]
	[12]
(13) say, in that paragraph and the discovery will	[13]
151 Lordship through it that they had also dy not the	[14]
na idea	[15]
	[16]
18 You intend to be? This is a most unusual opening fee	[17]
19 the Chancery Division	[18]
MR COY: My Lord Lam sorry	[19]
MR	[20] 1941
23 We normally expect to see witnesses by the ofference of	[21] International International International International International International International International at the first day
MR COX: Lapologica I think 45 minutes at mening
MR INSTICE I ADDIE: Dovrous harro a list of the dovrous to the
Page 146	Page 148
<ul> <li><sup>23]</sup> the first day.</li> <li><sup>24]</sup> MR COX: I apologise. I think 45 minutes, at maximum.</li> <li><sup>25]</sup> MR JUSTICE LADDIE: Do you have a list of the documents that</li> </ul>	[22] [23] [24] [25]

1

snell UK Ltd

Day 1 June 15, 1999

		26th 96:8; 101:5	142:10, 14		admit 127:4
#	1989 14:14; 29:20;	27 72:17	50 121:20	106:7	admits 93:2; 126:13
	36:17; 38:19, 21;	27/04/92 84:19	50,000 69:6	acceptability 81:4	admitted 37:13, 15;
#2 49:21	43:17; 60:8; 83:24;	27th 72:7; 84:12;	50m 69:6	acceptable 99:2	92:14
#25,000 40:24	105:20	87:15, 24; 119:20;	53 89:2	accepted 11:2; 17:2;	adopt 55:24
#5 49:20		120:25		55:9; 59:24; 89:5; 92:15; 95:5; 97:12	adopted 17:8; 29:11
	17:12, 13: 38:21;	28th 120:20; 121:2;	6		adopting 16:21
1	39:11; 42:15; 43:7; 44:11, 23; 46:4; 48:1;	132:13		accepts 86:4	advance 5:1;18:6;
.	56:12; 58:16; 62:15;		6 10-15-52-22	accessing 122:21	86:15;87:12
	83:25; 105:20; 123:11;	3	6 40:15; 52:23 60 25:6	accompanied 53:25;	advanced 78:11
1 15:2; 18:20; 28:10;	126:7, 15; 127:15;			118:3	advancing 107:7
40:22; 42:5; 75:16;	132:19, 139:4	3 61:9, 21; 67:9, 11;	623 62:22; 63:3, 10; 82:6	according 101:4;	advantage 27:6;
142:5; 149:1	1990s 42:1	84:20; 89:20; 97:25;		112:3	32:25; 33:1, 4, 10, 11 12, 13, 21, 25; 34:12
10 97:17	1991 46:13; 48:20;	98:15; 111:12; 120:21;	64 113:5	account 24:10, 21; 39:21, 95:21	12, 14; 45:7; 104:18
10.30 1:2; 148:6	57:25; 58:4; 60:20, 22,	123:21; 142:5	67 18:21; 20:9; 25:6	accumulate 29:2;	advantageous 8:1
100 25:6; 27:7; 39:9;	25; 61:14, 18, 19, 21	3.00 110:9		32:23	84:3
72:16	1992 14:14; 36:1;	3.15 119:1	7	accumulated 69:25	advantages 26:21
101 74:8, 17	44:25; 63:20; 64:1;	3/1062 100:22			33:17, 18; 34:14, 22
103 82:9	65:25; 66:20, 24; 69:18; 72:8, 13, 18;	30 5:5; 126:19;	7 121:10	accurate 2:3; 50:1; 95:10	64:15, 17; 65:1; 83:1
1062 100:23	73:4, 20, 21; 74:18, 20;	127:13, 24; 128:15	70 121:20	accuse 18:9; 109:4	advantaging 34:21
10th 45:18	75:5; 79:11, 15, 15;	30th 42:15; 100:5;	723 73:23; 74:4	accused 140:16	advertising 43:22
11 97:21	82:21; 83:18, 20:	132:13	729 75:13, 15		45:4; 50:17; 53:17;
110 26:20; 27:3	84:11, 12; 85:20, 25;	31 39:4	73 26:9	achieve 7:22; 145:19	56:7
168 97:25; 98:15	86:6; 87:15; 88:4;	331 30:24	74 26:5, 7	achieved 24:7; 36:13;
11th 103:20	110:13; 111:6; 119:16;	34 144:6	75 27:13, 16	142:10	advise 87:6
12 4:14; 8:8; 49:4;	120:3; 121:1, 2; 123:19; 126:8, 12;	345 36:5	76 27:14, 16	acknowledged 40:9	advising 33:15
75:5;97:17;122:21	132:25, 25; 137:14	36 145:10	768 67:5; 68:2	acquire 34:15	advisor 66:22
1200 111:12	1993 79:9, 12; 102:2;	38 145:14	769 68:3	acquisition 31:12	advocate 114:22
1266 118:3	115:17; 116:4; 119:14;	381 38:25	772 68:22	across 35:20; 54:13;	affair 57:9
1268 117:9	137:22, 25; 142:14;	3rd 132:24, 25	776 68:25	97:4; 112:13	affect 2:25: 3:7
1271 117:11, 25	144:6		783 70:5	Act 4:14; 122:15;	afraid 7:16; 14:24;
1272 117:7, 11	1994 116:4; 142:10	4	787 71:19	145:17	63:22; 65:7, 18; 68:
12th 64:1; 67:12, 13,	1996 39:3		788 71:19	acting 26:7; 144:21	69:10; 135:6
15;68:1:73:21;75:25;		4 36:18; 46:23; 49:4;	/00 /1.19	action 9:11, 23;	aftermath 58:2
77:6; 79:15; 82:21; 84:8, 10, 11; 88:4;	1999 1:1; 53:15	54:19; 59:21; 80:15,	8	21:20; 103:2, 9; 134:5; 135:24	afternoon 146:22
89:15; 95:4; 100:19;	19th 38:21, 39:10	21; 121:9; 123:25;	0	actions 98:5	again 11:15; 18:21
103:21; 105:12, 16,	1st 43:7; 83:18;	124:4; 141:15, 20;		Active 40:8	21:2; 29:8; 34:10; 42:7; 46:5; 51:2;
20; 106:1; 123:13	100:10; 105:22;	142:6, 14	8 147:15	actively 39:15; 103:4;
13 49:4	137:22, 25; 142:5, 14 1 '990 62:16	4.00 148:5	8.30 147:16	116:3; 136:24; 137:1	75:8; 76:19; 96:7;
1318 120:21; 121:1	1 330 02.10	40 25:20	828 79:22	activities 118:1	133:16; 144:16; 147
1323 123:16, 19	2	400 75:16	843 76:18, 22	activity 45:12; 48:19;	against 4:19; 29:5;
1345 133:2, 3	2	417 42:6,9	845 80:15, 20	52:21; 63:12, 14;	49:19; 52:11; 66:4;
1356 137:16, 19;		418 42:23	857 76:22, 22	70:23; 111:15; 121:14;	96:6; 108:24; 111:5
138:25; 139:1; 141:9	2 25:15; 60:19; 62:22;	419 42:12; 43:2	8th 15:8; 66:24	129:1	141:2
1357 142:17	63:3; 67:4; 73:23;	42 1:19, 25; 15:4		actually 20:6:85:7;	agencies 66:21; 80
13th 46:4; 61:21;	75:15; 76:18; 80:2; 122:9; 142:5	420 43:22	9	101:15	99:13; 103:4, 8; 118 agency 40:21; 50:1
95:3; 123:18	2,3,4,5 69:16	421 44:22		adapt 35:15	74:9, 21; 119:18, 22
14 4:15; 8:9; 49:4;	2.00 80:9	425 46:4	9 40:22; 87:22; 104:8;	add 56:4	144:18; 145:18
74:20; 110:16	2.15 88:16	43 1:19, 20	121:10	added 110:18;	agenda 120:22
14th 42:11; 74:18;	2.30 97:18	446 53:25	952 84:14	126:24; 127:22;	ago 2:19; 5:19; 52:8
91:18;93:4 15 72:16	2.45 104:10	449 48:2; 131:3	973 89:20	131:15	54:18
	1 1	45 146:24	980/A 89:21	addition 70:13, 18; 101:21	agree 3:17; 7:5;
15th 1:1; 144:6	20s 79:17	450/A 130:24; 131:1,	981 91:19, 19, 21	address 81:22	86:12; 108:1; 134:7
16 39:20; 72:25 ·	22 132:6	6			agreed 16:18; 46:1
16th 76:1, 18, 19; 79:11; 82:4; 97:13;	22nd 115:12	450/B 131:24,25	Α	addressed 36:9; 48:3; 64:22; 90:19, 19;	47:21; 54:22; 93:7;
100:19; 103:12	23 2:2, 4; 3:19	456 57:17		99:6; 110:4	126:7
17 82:16	23rd 36:9, 16; 37:13; 38:19; 82:4	457 57:20	sheader 63/11	addressing 72:23;	agreement 55:25;
19 74:8, 17; 89:1;	가 있는 것에서 한 것이 가 있는 것이 가 있는 것은 것은 것이 있다. 가 있는 것은 것은 것이 있는 것이 없는 것이 없 않이 없는 것이 없는 것이 것이 없는 것이 없이 없이 않이	459 58:16	abandon 62:11	78:25	56:5, 8; 57:18
104:8; 110:12	24 2:2, 4, 6; 3:18	461 60:10	ability 33:24; 70:20	adds 92:10;98:16	agrees 145:7
1970s 52:1	2436.2 28:16 24th 48:1; 54:2;	467 65:17	able 2:22; 5:20; 9:2;	adequate 4:25	ahead 55:7; 56:23;
1980 52:1	2411 48:1; 54:2; 58:16; 126:8, 12, 15;	4th 42:20; 110:16;	58:22; 75:9; 84:3; 116:6; 121:23; 122:2;	adjourned 148:6	71:11; 92:9; 112:9; 134:9, 11; 136:21
1980s 13:17; 14:7;	129:23; 131:20;	111:11; 116:19	144:19	adjournment 7:8;	Air 33:3, 4, 6, 6; 34:
18:19; 19:8	137:14		aborted 20:7	80:8	49:8; 121:16, 17, 18
1981 52:1	2500 71:8	5	above 40:22	adjust 35:15	19, 122:1, 5, 8, 19;
			and the second s	administration 76:25
1985 15:8; 19:11	25th 44:23; 131:20	1	absolutely 12:2, 2;	administration (0.2)	123.1, 21, 21, 23, 13

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

snell UK Ltd

Day 1 June 15, 1999

Airmiles 76:11	69:16; 92:5; 115:4	arrives 61:5	В		7; 56:21
		aspects 102:11	D	benefit 31:11; 71:9;	build 58:25; 59:12
		aspiration 20:11		77:21	building 59:10, 17, 2
	Appeal 25:1; 35:20,	assembled 25:16	back 13:16; 16:17;		built 59:9
60:23:90:6:99:3:	24; 79:19; 121:19;	assent 20:3	26:9; 27:13; 41:14; 43:23; 61:2; 62:10;	Berkshire 93:23	bundle 14:23; 26:21;
100:17; 101:3; 137:4	122:1	Second States and the second	45:25; 61:2; 62:10; 66:4; 68:22; 69:9;	beside 122:16	30:23; 36:6; 39:1;
allegation 87:7;	annoalad 07.8	assertion 25:7;	70:5; 73:24; 74:13;	best 7:22; 15:16;	42:15; 48:3; 60:16, 18
		93:15; 107:24	80:14; 85:24; 86:19;	58:12, 21; 68:5	61:8; 82:10; 84:14; 98:9, 12, 14; 104:9;
allegations 14:13;		assessing 101:9	92:21; 104:14; 105:24;	better 5:20; 21:22;	131:19; 137:18
	102 00 00	assiduously 147:5	112:4; 115:11; 116:7;	29:2; 30:10; 117:16	bundles 1:11
ailegedly 96:17	appear 1:5; 4:13;	assimilation 27:1	117:2; 126:7; 134:14;	beyond 82:15; 138:8	Burma 102:16;
alleges 127:14	112:8; 120:23	assist 7:17; 20:16;	141:25	bids 76:12	117:14
allow 47:19	appeared 108:14	24:19; 84:1; 110:25;	background 20:23;	big 111:20; 122:20	burner 112:4; 134:1
	appears 1:8; 132:6	144:19	22:15; 29:6; 37:9; 46:1	binding 56:17	Burnett's 56:5
	application 3:3, 5;	assistance 139:6	bad 57:13	bit 21:18; 31:3; 61:13;	burst 72:1
Almost 69:3; 94:2;	20:23	assists 104:2	badly 114:9	65:3, 19; 80:17; 91:15; 134:16; 136:13; 147:6	business 49:16;
95:1	applications 55:14		balance 16:13, 17, 18; 40:25; 111:8		74:25; 96:17; 107:7
	apply 50:22; 70:5;	associate 104:24; 143:8	· ·	bits 7:12;91:12	businesses 31:7,8
127:19	141:8	145:8 associated 111:19	balancing 21:23	blockbuster 55:25	49:13, 22
along 16:6; 23:1, 4;	apposite 106:1		Bank 53:7	blood 84:6	but-ings 134:4
55:6; 87:1; 127:18;	appreciated 67:19	Associates 64:10;	banks 124:9	blue 6:12	buy 33:5; 35:9; 76:1
128:19; 135:15	appreciates 76:12	80:11; 119:6	Barciays 53:7	board 12:5; 143:10	78:8; 105:3, 6
alongside 81:17	approach 45:10;	assume 21:4, 9, 12;	barest 64:6	body 10:8; 96:16, 20	buyers 97:14
Iternative 134:20;	86:17:97:14:103:5,	22:22; 78:1; 113:16; 128:10	base 70:21	bore 64:11	buying 76:14; 78:1
135:4	13; 105:18; 120:13;	assumes 99:6	based 29:13; 30:11;	borne 20:22; 131:5	wwying /0.14, /0.1
alternatively 98:25	123:11, 14; 125:14;	Second Second Second Second Second	46:7; 47:8; 48:24;	boss 61:11	C alternatives 109:13	128:19; 129:7; 130:2;	Assuming 23:6; 106:19	68:12; 71:14, 20; 75:21	both 10:25; 14:15;
although 11:11; 13:1;	144:24	AND A DEPARTMENT OF THE	basic 32:10; 53:19;	19:22; 41:9; 88:22;
18:10; 42:3; 52:9;	approached 12:22;	assumption 17:24,	117:8	108:10; 119:21, 25;	C2 61:8
53:15; 55:5; 66:18;	29:7, 15; 43:21; 52:5	25; 139:24	basics 97:23	123:13; 124:8; 125:3; 141:20, 22; 142:1	call 4:21; 8:8; 45:8;
67:22; 71:17; 73:17;	approaches 116:25	AT&T 110:18		bottom 28:16; 57:22;	77:3
77:24; 113:13; 127:25;	approaching 43:12;	attached 42:24; 49:6;	24:25; 49:14; 55:24;	112:11; 117:11; 123:1	called 8:13; 13:21;
130:10; 144:13	103:11; 120:17; 128:7	50:21	98:24; 121:17; 142:15		14.2, 17.24, 19.24, altogether 102:4	appropriate 39:24,	attempt 51:18; 115:5	Bass 27:14	bound 141:5	28:4; 31:6; 39:9;
always 6:25; 17:15;	25; 40:3, 5; 43:24;	attempting 13:25	bath 20:21	box 5:6; 87:8; 91:14;	45:24; 57:20; 61:23 23; 74:7, 9, 21; 82:2
107:14; 113:13, 14	50:7, 13; 52:18; 81:2	attend 4:8; 92:3	battery 69:24; 71:24	136:2	119:18, 22; 140:9
ambition 36:4	approval 48:8, 25; 54:5; 128:22; 129:8	attention 8:10; 13:3;	batting 7:7	brain 20:12	calis 77:4; 141:14;
ambitious 134:12;	approved 47:25;	15:24; 113:20	battleground 21:3	brand 34:6, 23; 40:7;	143:1,3
136:22; 137:24 amended 48:5	49:3; 51:6; 52:14	attitude 14:16; 29:17	bear 42:20; 64:12;	61:6; 77:12; 83:8, 13;	Cambridge 53:13 amendments 49:3	April 84:12; 87:15, 24	attracted 92:8	114:2; 130:23	121:6	came 16:6; 19:23;
	area 70:6; 134:24, 25	attraction 79:18	Bearing 26:23; 37:7;	branding 77:21	21:11; 30:13; 34:7;
amnesia 36:14; 37:23, 24; 38:1	areas 121:15	attractive 5:6; 22:1;	52:20	brands 22:15; 33:25;	61:17;97:4;109:21
among 115:25	Argos 68:21	121:13, 22; 123:2	became 29:3; 47:3;	34:7; 49:11; 81:17	113:7; 119:18; 143:
amongst 23:18;	argument 1:19; 3:21;	audience 121:13	50:2; 53:21; 61:23;	breach 9:11, 23	campaign 56:7
76:14; 86:1; 88:12	4:17; 6:7; 11:21	August 39:21;	81:13:95:25:98:21:	breakthrough 23:9	Can 1:22; 3:8, 20, 2
amount 22:21; 32:13;		100:10:104:4:110:11,	and a second sec	Brian 45:4; 48:3	4:9, 15; 5:7; 6:4, 5; 7
41:7: 57:11	arise 4:13; 109:9;	13; 111:11; 116:19; 120:15	become 14:4; 68:24;	brief 1:18; 29:24;	7, 11; 8:5, 9, 20; 10:
amplification 8:2	114:21	authentic 9:4	70:7; 71:5; 110:22;	41:15; 54:20: 97:13.	17:18, 22; 18:18; 23
amplify 31:18	Armstrong-Holmes		114:3; 115:4	23; 117:6, 7, 22; 118:6;	8, 17, 20; 24:4, 4; 25:17; 26:9; 27:13;
analising 55:21	93:22, 22; 94:2, 8, 22;	authenticity 9:1;91:2		133:13; 144:25	28:21; 31:5; 33:2, 3
analysed 101:11	95:2, 16; 96:4, 23;	author 19:4	61:5; 111:16	briefed 145:17	5, 6, 9; 36:25; 42:12
analysis 55:1;	97:10; 100:7, 9	authorities 1:11;	becoming 85:19; 145:4	briefly 21:1; 58:6;	43:11; 50:18; 59:9;
109:15; 110:23;	Armstrong-	12:19; 20:15; 21:21; 24:18; 147:23	Bedfordshire 93:23	120:2	60:13; 62:21, 24;
114:21	Holmes's 95:4, 9;	authority 52:4; 91:25		bring 22:17: 126:5;	63:14; 65:14; 66:25
Andrew 79:17; 86:1	104:1	Autumn 28:10, 11;		137:5	67:16, 21; 68:9, 12;
Anne 78:19	arose 132:17	61:18	began 19:21; 26:18; 28:23: 77:7: 105:22	broad 13:17; 103:10;	69:3; 70:4, 25; 71:1 79:22; 84:7; 87:6, 7
annotation 131:2	around 20:1; 58:13;	avail 119:13	28:23; 77:7; 105:22 begin 142:19	121:17	1
announced 36:3	87:21; 88:2; 96:8; 119:11; 140:22	available 3:14; 7:20;	-	broadly 62:16:88:12:	18,94:23,97:20;
anticipate 52:22		23:23	beginning 72:18; 105:17; 106:7; 119:7	94:1; 111:1 broom 99:22	98:10; 100:16; 103:
anticipated 98:5	arrange 88:4	avoidance 115:14		broom 99:22	104:18; 105:18; 109
anxious 5:14; 21:3;	arranged 57:7;75:4	awards 19:4; 24:10	begins 26:16; 63:23; 76:22; 105:12	brought 22:17; 120:5	110.0, 1, 110.0, anxious 5:14;21:5; 24:19	arrangement 57:23; 96:10	aware 98:6, 21	behalf 1:5, 8; 2:19;	121:16; 126:18; 127:18; 129:23; 132:9;	116:12; 120:20; 12 anymore 29:13; 70:1	-		40:9; 51:4, 5; 84:9;	142:15; 143:22, 23;	0, 190.19, 20, 21, arrangements 47:20	awareness 122:7	96:21; 129:8	142:13, 145:22, 25, 144:2; 145:6, 7	131:18; 136:16; 138:18; 139:20; 140
	Imperiate F.1 T				11,00.10, 107.20, 190
apart 83:3; 89:25	arrive 5:17	away 62:24; 66:6; 108:3: 121:12: 122:4:		Bruce's 41:1
	arrive 5:17 arrived 2:16; 5:21; 79:17; 85:3, 6; 92:14;	away 62:24; 66:6; 108:3; 121:12; 122:4; 146:12	behind 73:1; 96:16 beings 99:16	Bruce's 41:1 brutally 106:14	6; 141:24; 142:5, 13 146:17; 147:2

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

(2) Airmiles - cancellation

Sneu UK Ltd

Day 1 June 15, 1999

cancelled 57:11 candidates 117:6	causing 67:5 cent 121:9, 20	claimant's 1:19; 36:2; 68:20; 81:23; 85:22;	combination 34:7	computer 68:12, 13, 15	consequences 5:1, 9; 106:9, 13 canvassed 136:9	centerpiece 95:21	88:25; 123:10; 131:19;		concede 11:11;	consider 22:11;
capable 9:13, 22;	central 35:18; 64:18;	141:24	69:9; 103:17; 107:15;	16:23, 23	48:11, 24; 69:16; 71:8
10:2; 11:2; 20:17;	68:15; 83:23; 104:21;	claims 24:11	114:10; 145:5	conceded 12:17	79:1; 96:3; 112:4
22:24; 24:17	105:11	Clark 23:15	commencing 39:20	conceived 32:18	considerable 41:7
capacity 74:25	centre 111:15	classic 77:2	commendable 106:8	and the second	considerably 86:2;
capital 70:11;71:7	certain 8:2; 10:11;	clean 99:22; 108:8, 9	comment 43:24;	concept 25:24; 26:6;	147:19
capture 31:24; 53:4;	12:19; 103:5; 138:22	clear 6:23; 7:4; 42:21;		36:9, 18: 40:7, 24;	consideration 16:1 64:18; 70:20	certainly 10:10;	45:10; 50:4; 56:13;	comments 61:7,9	41:2, 5; 45:8; 46:4, 23, captured 35:5	20:14; 52:1; 54:8;	67:14; 87:5; 99:19;	commercial 27:25;	23; 49:4; 50:8, 14, 19;	56:24; 59:14; 134:15
card 32:18; 33:2;	69:3; 78:20; 80:14;	100:12; 101:25;	101:23	54:19; 55:6, 12; 57:24;
34:15, 17, 17, 17, 18,	85:25; 86:25; 93:12;	105:19; 108:12; 110:3,	commercialise 21:8	58:1; 59:21; 79:20; 80:22, 25; 86:17;	45:15, 17, 17; 54:15;
18, 18; 35:5, 6, 11;	95:3, 20; 100:11, 24;	22; 114:3; 116:18;		88:14, 15, 20; 89:5, 6,	65:12; 88:10; 95:7;
50:20, 23; 53:2, 12;	105:10; 106:9; 110:3;	128:1; 133:17; 134:16; 139:25; 140:3; 142:23	lace alor iles	24; 90:2, 3; 92:13, 14;	137:1:144:6
64:11, 16, 17; 66:11;	111:3, 6; 112:15, 25;	24	commission 40:21;	93:3, 4, 5, 7; 94:4, 6,	considering 39:19;
67:4; 69:5; 71:13, 21;	114:14; 120:1, 3	cleared 54:6	50:16, 21	23; 95:22; 96:10;	41:12; 44:9; 59:15; 66:15; 122:11
72:3; 73:23; 74:7;	cetera 124:10	clearest 43:5	commissioned	98:17; 99:12; 100:8;	considers 14:12;
83:1; 104:18; 105:2	chain 115:21		29:19	115:15, 19; 116:13,	46:3
cardholder 33:1	chaired 20:4	clearly 63:10; 66:17; 101:20; 103:23;	commit 137:8	23; 119:5; 141:15	consist 49:10
cards 33:9; 53:1, 8;	challenge 91:1	105:22; 123:23;	commitment 45:13	concepts 133:5,6
63:11, 11, 15, 16, 17;	challenged 54:20	146:14	commodities 125:14	concern 45:19	consistent 16:22; 24:1; 89:13
64:25, 25; 65:2, 2, 6;	Chamber 3:25	clerk 7:19, 19; 147:16
18:6; 69:4; 72:2;	Chambers 56:5, 10	client 10:8; 17:3, 4, 5,			consolution 55:18
/4:23; 77:1; 96:11; 101:10	chance 6:6	7; 21:4; 77:17; 86:11;	32:2; 35:19; 49:17; 53:2; 125:11, 12, 18;	concerning 71:16;	consortium 25:14, care 114:13	Chancery 146:19	96:15; 103:16: 130:9;	128:8; 130:3; 142:3	74:19; 88:18; 109:14; 118:9	15; 27:7, 12; 31:25; 32:19, 23; 34:7; 35:14
Cardination Converting and Her	changed 47:2; 79:11	140:22, 23	commonness 11:24	concludes 41:10	19; 47:8; 48:24; 49:10
careful 141:5	changing 2:20;	client's 8:17; 89:11	communicate 70:16	concluding 84:1	52:9; 64:19; 76:9;
carefully 53:23; 57:7; 145:11	85:13, 13; 86:7	client/consumer	communicated 9:14;		81:11; 83:10, 11;
	chap 16:12	101:21	10:19	111:10; 112:25:	104:22, 23; 111:24;
carried 55:1,3	character 144:3	clients 9:18; 11:21;	communication 63:6		112:2; 123:7; 142:3;
carry 6:4; 73:7; 136:15	charge 13:22; 40:20	16:4, 5; 34:9; 37:23;	communications	conclusions 64:7;	143:2, 10
Carson 15:20; 17:19,	chart 14:24	38:13; 86:22; 87:6, 7; 90:20; 106:20; 108:13,	1000-0	72:22; 82:7, 24, 24	consortium-based
23; 42:8, 18, 21; 43:6;	cheap 144:22	17; 122:4; 134:5;	companies 32:9, 12,	conclusively 125:21	118:24
44:15, 19, 23; 45:25;	cheated 140:10, 11,	140:9, 11	13, 21; 43:14; 58:21;	condition 25:8; 118:6	constantly 75:1
46:11; 54:6; 55:21;	16	close 23:22; 79:22;	76:9, 11; 105:8; 118:4;		construction 106:11
58:19	check 12:13; 138:22	142:20	119:3, 19	43:3; 81:2	a second second second second second second
Carson's 15:18	chiefly 13:22	closely 26:24; 41:18;	company 2:10, 11,	conduct 12:9; 14:15;	construe 4:19
case 5:3; 7:25; 8:17;	chip 63:19, 19; 66:12;	88:15;90:2	19, 21, 23; 5:15; 13:6;	81:25: 134:7	consultants 144:21
9:6, 9; 11:5, 18; 13:5;	68:12	club 32:19; 34:1	20:8; 25:19; 29:14; 35:6; 38:17, 22, 24;	conducting 5:6; 51:4	consulted 130:10
14:2; 16:13; 21:9, 25; 22:16; 23:21; 25:10,	choice 134:19	co-operate 136:17	41:12; 42:6; 44:5;	conduit 84:4	consulting 83:9
13; 28:18; 30:23;	choosing 57:25	coroperating 81:17	47:24; 56:18; 58:11.	confidence 9:11, 23;	consumer 33:4, 10,
37:19; 47:1; 48:2;	chose 35:3	co-ordinate 115:23	20; 64:10; 69:18;	10:20; 12:1, 4, 16;	19, 19; 34:15, 20; 49:12; 70:17
51:3, 16; 56:22; 62:4;	chosen 99:14; 119:13	Coco 23:15	77:11, 12, 13: 140:24	14:17; 20:18; 23:5, 8;	consumers 27:9;
63:24; 77:20; 78:17;	Christmas 39:23;	coincide 7:3	compatible 120:18;	25:13; 27:18; 46:24;	29:3; 39:8
80:15; 83:5, 6, 23, 23;	40:3; 75:17; 142:18	collaborating 51:25	125:15	49:1; 51:7; 56:16, 16;	contact 23:21; 42:2;
84:5; 85:1, 21, 22;	chronological 42:14	colleague 38:16;	compelling 56:13	68:20; 93:12, 17; 94:8 confidential 9:13:	52:17; 57:4; 78:15;
86:16; 87:11; 88:17, 22; 97:3; 104:2;	chronologically	88:5	competent 129:15	10:3; 11:2; 12:18;	101:4, 5; 136:7;
107:16, 17; 108:16;	65:24	collect 27:9; 28:5, 23;	competing 31:7, 13	21:16; 23:4; 25:7;	145:19
100.6 10 15.112.2 6	chronologies 1:11	29:22; 30:2, 6, 7, 10,	competition 68:3;	36:6; 47:17; 51:11, 15;	contacted 29:20;
114:15, 21; 119:23;	chronology 28:6, 13;	15, 17, 18; 37:8; 39:6;	116:2	54:3; 56:14; 85:16;	94:2
	61:22; 65:21; 84:16, 20	40:18; 41:16; 55:5;	competitive 68:17,	106:18, 19, 23; 118:15	contacting 91:25
129:19; 134:19;		60:9, 20, 21; 61:2, 13; 62:12; 66:4; 122:13;	18	confidentiality 43:5;	contacts 93:1; 99:21;
	12:23:93:12:109:23;	124:7, 23	competitor 142:17	109:19; 118:5, 9, 11	144:23
		collected 28.24	competitors 73:2,	confirm 48:13; 55:25;	contained 1:18;
	The second se	122.14		97:23	35:25; 71:15; 118:17
	1	collecting 122-15		confirmed 89:12	contains 84:18
and the second		123.6		confirming 54:4	contemporaneous collection 28.4.55.8		confirms 139:10	91:5; 95:1; 139:9
		77:3. 5: 102:8: 133:4.6	10.00	confronting 11:7	contemporaneously
3:23: 117:20: 124:11.	20:19; 22:22; 26:19;	collections 102:5		Commeetion 40.10,	131:10, 15
7, 18, 21, 24; 125:4,	27:20, 24; 28:14; 29:7,	collective 37.22	n/		contend 81:23
5,12	15; 56:18; 58:10;	collector 75.31			contends 88:11
	67:13, 21; 79:18; 84:2;				content 52:14; 82:9
	87:11,88:11,23;				contents 25:12;
				147:9	58:22; 89:13
	114:16; 127:1; 128:9;	colossal 26:14	comprehensive	consequence 28:1;	context 14:15; 95:25;

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

(3) cancelled - context

1

Day 1 June 15, 1999

Shell UK Ltd					June 19, 1999
continue 6:14; 30:25;	118:21-121-25:	credited 19:3	11; 68:13, 14; 88:23;	deliberate 86:25;	59:6; 69:17; 76:16;
71:4; 101:18; 103:3;		criminal 137:4, 6, 8	97:22; 146:23; 147:8;	114:8; 115:5; 135:1	78:16: 79:6, 7, 13;
140:24	an and a the second cost of the	criticised 37:23	148:6	deliberately 133:23	81:7, 18: 82:1: 86:8;
continued 103:2	0 ( 10 10= ( 1 (1.F.	crook 140:25	days 34:24; 91:19;	delivered 54:21	98:17; 102:15, 15; 105:8, 8, 14; 118:1;
continuing 112:23	148:6	cross 65:16, 19;	95:3; 106:4; 123:18;	demonstrate 146:14	120:12; 122:14
continuity 27:6	courts 137:6	67:22	127:1;128:5	demonstrates 29:17;	difficult 43:24; 74:6;
continuous 53:19;	cover 40:21; 125:7	cross-examination	deafening 112:8 deal 1:20; 3:4, 8, 9;	39:14	106:16; 109:2; 110:7;
59:9	covered 25:9; 87:1	4:8:6:25:86:24;	8:10; 9:7; 27:1; 41:1;	demur 92:25	137:3: 142:6
contract 81:4	covering 50:15	100:18; 109:8; 114:24;	61:17; 66:25; 73:21;	denial 128:1	difficulty 8:25;
contrary 6:16; 17:17;	COX 1:4, 5, 18, 23;	115:5	76:18: 140:19	denied 17:12;37:17;	108:25
85:23; 92:24; 112:22	2:2, 6, 14; 3:5, 8, 10,	cross-examine 4:23;	dealing 18:5; 25:25;	89:3; 128:2	diffident 135:8
contrast 131:2	11, 19; 4:2, 5, 12; 5:12, 14, 18, 23; 6:5, 11;	24:14;99:25	39:4; 58:2; 80:16;	deny 17:3	dimmed 134:25
contributing 99:1	7:14, 16, 22; 8:14, 24;	cross-examined 4:18;92:21	99:16	Department 13:21; 15:19; 16:3; 56:20;	direct 30:19; 36:7;
control 35:3; 70:8,	9:24; 10:4, 10, 14, 17,	cross-referenced	deals 48:16; 64:16;	57:10; 61:10, 12, 18,	81:12, 15; 94:14, 15; 116:25; 120:16, 17;
22; 76:16; 78:12	21, 24; 11:10, 14, 22;	98:8	72:6; 74:8; 123:21; 133:5	20; 79:16; 82:13;	125:9, 14, 17; 128:8, controllable 70:10	12:7, 9, 14, 19; 15:2, 4,	crossing 22:20	dealt 3:20; 122:8	83:17; 85:6; 101:16;	22; 136:12
controls 77:12	12: 16:13, 20: 17:11,	crucial 19:5; 42:17;	Dear 44:23; 48:13;	105:2; 109:18; 130:11	directly 30:14; 70:16;
convenient 148:1	17; 18:2, 9, 15; 19:20;	82:20; 107:6; 115:19	54:4	department's 111:15
conversation 46:20; 52:16; 90:7; 95:2;	20:9; 21:7, 17, 21; 23:10, 12, 19; 24:3, 9,	crystallised 111:7	deceit 134:6; 135:1	depend 17:14;99:24	11; 116:5, 11, 15, 20;
126:4	18: 25:3: 26:9; 28:7,	cure 30:12	December 75:20;	dependent 26:18	120:25; 129:8
conversations 100:6	10, 12, 14, 17, 21;	curious 57:8	132:25, 25; 137:14;	derivation 24:2	Director 50:6, 12; 96:9
convey 54:13	30:5; 31:3, 15, 18;	currency 31:5; 32:2;	143:12	describe 74:10	directors 52:8
onvinced 144:9	32:17; 33:15, 21; 34:22; 36:23; 37:17;	35:19, 20; 49:17, 19,	deception 86:25	described 33:23;	disagree 92:25
.onvinces 112:21	34:22; 50:25; 57:17; 38:3, 7, 15; 39:13;	24; 51:23; 53:3; 64:20;	decide 4:20; 16:10;	74:22; 145:9	disc 7:16, 21
Coop 68:4	42:13; 43:2; 44:19;	76:13, 15; 77:10, 14;	20:11; 41:17; 55:8; 83:24; 101:14; 108:6;	description 50:2; 125:2	discarded 139:17
cooperating 44:13	46:11; 47:15; 48:7, 10;	78:3, 6, 7, 15; 83:11; 104:19; 124:25;	135:22	design 53:9; 144:20	discernible 9:20
cooperation 27:4	50:24; 51:2, 9, 14;	125:11, 12, 19; 128:8;	decided 39:1;40:17;	Designed 134:8	disclose 52:5; 75:18;
Coordinator 54:2	53:15; 57:6; 59:5, 23; 60:17; 63:1, 3, 18;	130:3; 142:4	41:22;48:18;52:11:	designing 21:20	86:11
coordinators 26:7	64:14; 65:5, 12, 18;	current 40:11; 70:11,	79:5, 12; 120:3, 9;	desirable 111:18	disclosed 49:1; 64:2;
cope 68:9	66:10, 24; 67:10; 68:1;	13, 106:17; 117:13;	128:15; 143:20; 144:25	desire 39:22; 106:3	93:16; 118:16; 129:7
copies 1:10; 49:4	69:3, 8, 22; 70:1, 4;	121:24; 141:12 currently 55:21; 70:7;		desk 35:11	disclosure 67:12, 13;
copy 88:20; 93:6; 99:8; 117:13, 14;	72:3, 16; 74:4, 14, 17; 77:19, 22; 78:5, 20, 23;		52:24	despite 115:19;	88:12; 90:24; 93:11 disclosures 36:15;
126:6; 127:2, 14;	79:5; 80:7, 10, 21;	customer 35:8;	deciding 20:17;	116:2; 143:3	101:2; 103:24; 110:6
130:18: 131:1; 133:19;		48:25; 53:16; 69:4;	24:16; 146:7	destroyed 138:6, 13	discounts 124:25
138:1, 24	12; 86:12, 19; 87:4, 9,	77:1, 25; 121:10;	decision 27:25;	destroying 68:19	discovered 97:2
Copytext 107:1	14, 20; 88:8; 89:14, 17, 20, 22; 90:18, 21, 25;	No. 2	43:13; 62:20; 85:14;	detail 7:25; 94:18;	discovery 8:3; 14:23;
core 30:23; 48:2	91:3, 5, 10, 15; 92:13,	customers 61:14; 74:24; 115:25; 121:11,	102:1; 108:3	117:10	97:3, 4, 24; 110:4;
corner 66:2	23; 93:10; 94:1, 13, 19;	20, 24; 122:13; 123:6,	deed 65:6	detailed 52:19	112:6; 113:6; 116:15;
corporate 36:14 correspondence	95:11, 15, 19; 96:14,	23: 124:7	deep 79:20	details 55:21; 88:18	124:20; 130:1; 132:13; 138:3, 17; 139:11, 12;
93:13; 133:1	18, 22, 25; 97:2, 8, 17, 20, 25; 98:3, 12, 14,	cut 6:10; 78:7, 10, 10;	deeply 60:1; 133:18	detain 6:8 detect 60:2	143:5; 146:13 cost 5:1; 32:11, 12,	16; 99:22; 100:1, 22;	94:4	defence 4:17; 16:23	determine 132:18	discuss 6:6; 52:18;
15; 71:10; 99:1;	105:5, 10; 106:8, 10;	cutting 6:20	defendant 1:8; 9:14,	determined 120:7	65:20; 67:1; 99:8;
101:25	107:2, 13, 17, 25;	cyclical 52:21	15; 13:4, 7; 29:19;	develop 70:18;	112:23; 136:10
costs 27:8; 49:18;	108:5, 19, 25; 109:7; 112:6, 15, 19, 25;	n	30:20; 36:8, 13, 25;	115:16; 116:7	discussed 36:18;
53:17; 57:18; 66:11; 81:12	112:0, 19, 19, 29, 113:13, 19, 22, 24;	D	37:13, 21; 42:7, 9; 43:6; 47:22, 22; 51:4,	developed 70:15;	38:23; 39:25; 40:4; 46:21; 53:7; 54:17;
couched 127:25	114:7, 14; 115:1, 9;		6; 57:1; 60:6; 62:4;	71:4; 81:15	89:5; 92:1; 129:5
Council 93:24	124:4, 18; 125:1, 6, 9;	D 98:14; 103:11	63:25; 89:3; 92:14;	developing 40:16;	discussing 127:17;
counter-allegations	126:10, 12; 127:6, 12; 128:4, 18; 130:17, 21;	daily 51:24	93:2;95:19	41:8; 43:16; 71:10	136:23
14:13	131:4, 8, 13, 17, 24;	damage 6:15	defendant's 4:16;	development 15:7; 61:25; 71:2; 72:12;	discussion 36:7;
counterclaim 2:10	132:3, 6; 133:3, 21;	damaging 31:6	8:8, 11; 11:18; 28:19; 37:3; 47:1; 101:4	73:4; 90:8	56:9; 89:4; 90:13;
country 20:2	134:3, 7, 12, 17, 23;	Danson 15:7; 40:9; 56:9	defendants 2:10;	develops 65:25	92:6; 95:6; 103:21; 133:14; 146:10
County 93:24	135:3, 6, 8, 20, 25; 136:5, 13, 19; 137:9,	Danson's 15:9	3:23; 10:19; 16:23;	devise 29:24; 54:20	discussions 15:10;
couple 42:4	13, 17, 20; 138:2, 4, 8,	data 53:4, 17; 64:18;	17:1; 47:2; 51:21;	devised 18:23; 19:1,	39:5, 24; 40:2, 3, 6;
coupled 86:16	15, 25; 139:2, 8, 14,	71:19; 74:25; 118:7	60:2; 61:8, 24; 69:11;	8: 56:7	47:11; 48:14; 52:11, course 11:19; 15:15, 25: 16:21: 21:17:	16, 20, 23, 25; 140:4,	database 35:14;	106:21	devisor 13:15	13; 54:1; 88:24; 91:22; 92:3; 123:13; 126:22;
25; 16:21; 21:17; 23:15; 33:15; 38:18;	7, 13, 19; 141:2, 10,	76:17	defer 113:13, 14 deficient 25:25;	diagram 76:21;	127:10, 21
44:2; 49:2; 55:20;	18; 146:12, 17, 20, 24; 147:2, 7, 9, 13, 18, 23;	date 38:9; 48:21;	145:25	104:15	disgraceful 140:24
59:6; 64:14; 65:20;	148:3; 149:1	52:18; 55:8; 57:18; 70:24; 131:5; 137:22,	defined 143:9	died 32:4	dishonestly 133:23
67:25; 68:23; 77:18;	Cox's 7:11	24; 141:11	definitions 25:21	difference 78:3; 80:1; 105:7; 140:3; 144:12,	disk 84:23
80:13; 85:9; 89:24; 91:6; 93:2; 96:4, 7;	create 41:3	dated 39:10; 74:20;	deflect 16:21	13	Disney 43:10, 11
99:16; 102:18, 22;	created 56:17; 77:25	84:11	degree 6:23; 53:8;	differences 81:9	Disneytime 48:17
104:17; 107:18;	creative 56:21	David 99:5; 108:24	115:24, 25; 117:16, 18	different 8:22; 23:6;	disposal 14:8; 47:12;
114:25; 117:24;	credit 33:9	day 4:24; 17:7; 67:9,	deleted 54:10	27:16; 32:8; 49:19;	56:19

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

(4) continue - disposal

UNLI UN LIU

disposed 95:18 dispute 10:23; 17:6 disputed 38:2 dissimilar 12:22 dissonance 101:18 distant 53:1 distinct 117:16 distinction 9:4; 60:6; 76:13 distinguish 8:22; 60:2 distribute 78:24 distributed 61:16 distribution 32:6 divide 79:20 Dividend 68:5 dividends 55:17 Division 146:19 divisions 58:11 document 14:20; 18:23; 25:12, 20; 26:4, 20, 24; 36:9; 37:12; 38:8, 24; 48:2; 64:15; 55:21, 22; 67:6, 6; /5:11; 80:12; 84:22; 38:20; 90:24; 92:15; 96:12; 100:18, 23; 103:20; 106:3; 112:7; 118:20, 22; 131:10, 18; 141:16; 142:23

documentation 139:10

documents 19:3: 30:22; 33:23; 34:3; 38:5; 46:2; 60:5; 62:8; 67:24; 74:5; 75:12; 76:22; 84:19; 104:2; 105:12; 112:17; 113:10, 11; 118:17; 119:3; 132:13; 138:6, 12, 22; 139:18; 142:21; 143:9, 16; 146:25 dogs 136:18 dollar 76:15 Don 16:14, 19; 26:5; 28:1; 42:22; 44:9; 17:3, 6, 8; 48:7; 50:5, 11; 52:17; 55:3; 56:4, 6; 84:9, 12; 94:16, 24;

95:24; 99:11; 112:23, 24; 115:6; 128:17; 136:10, 18 done 6:15; 7:7, 18; 8:5; 17:15; 21:6;

27:17; 57:12, 19; 58:9; 67:8; 82:24; 84:22; 123:15; 125:13, 13; 128:9; 129:15; 130:4; 136:14; 146:21

donee 23:25 donor 23:24

Donovan 13:9; 15:9; 19:1, 20; 20:4; 22:23, 24; 25:19, 23; 29:20, 23; 30:7, 11, 20; 31:4; 32:18; 33:15; 36:15; 38:20, 24; 39:4; 41:13; 42:1, 20: 43:8, 12; 44:5, 14, 22; 45:22; 46:5, 16; 47:16, 18, 23; 108:12; 111:23 48:14; 50:6, 12, 19;

58:7, 17; 59:15; 62:15; 126:5 64:2: 81:11: 84:8; 85:12, 17, 18, 22; 86:5; 87:25; 88:5, 10; 89:2; 90:1, 14; 91:19; 92:10; 93:14; 97:4, 6; 103:25; 104:13, 22; 106:1, 2; 107:9; 111:20, 23; 112:3, 9; 113:8; 117:4; 125:25; 126:7, 17; 129:20, 20, 23; 130:1, 15; 132:10, 23; 133:3, 9, 12, 24; 134:8; 135:14, 15, 25; 137:10; 139:25; 140:5 Donovan's 19:6; 25:8; 29:14: 38:16; 41:24: 42:6: 59:20: 60:24; 105:11 door 107:21 doubt 5:1: 17:10, 11; 23:15: 24:13: 38:18: 48:11; 57:16; 83:8; 87:10; 88:9, 23; 90:20; 92:19; 95:19; 96:4; 107:19; 111:18; 114:9; 134:14; 135:16; 136:25, 25; 140:17, 17; 145:11 down 3:11; 5:13; 6:23; 18:14; 32:10; 39:17; 40:8; 41:23; 45:18; 54:15; 78:22; 97:19, 21; 107:5, 15; 119:4 down-market 34:3 drafted 52:15; 139:6; 145:11 drafting 117:5 draw 13:3; 15:24; 60:6; 134:17 drawing 112:13; 113:19 drawn 113:1 dream 21:11 dreaming 144:3 drive 124:2; 135:11 driven 108:8.9 drivers 115:14 drove 135:14 dryish 145:10 due 15:25; 16:17; 23:15; 38:18; 65:19; 68:23; 70:19; 80:13; 117:23; 121:5 during 46:19; 93:1; 102:2; 126:3; 137:3; 143:4 dweil 18:22; 20:25 E E 14:23 e.g 49:20 E1 130:23, 25 E2 89:21 E3 137:19

51:11, 12, 52:7: 56:4:

earth-shattering 24:6 easier 84:21: 135:18: 147:3 effect 6:17; 32:5; 83:11; 98:19; 105:1; 120.10 effectively 33:5; 71:10; 81:20; 98:18 efficient 5:7 effort 20:13; 21:5, 11. 15,20 eight 66:13 either 8:21; 32:24; 45:14; 52:17; 100:23; 102:3; 124:7; 137:10; 141:1; 144:9 electrical 72:1 electronic 62:2, 18: 63:8, 15; 66:11; 67:3; 71:25; 72:7, 10, 18; 73:8, 12; 102:5, 8; 110:21; 141:21; 142:9; 146:2.7 electronically 124:8; 125:3 electronics 64:10; 67:4; 71:13: 72:17; 76:8:144:16 element 42:18; 59:11 110:22; 115:19 elements 59:10: 82:18; 137:5 else 11:18; 16:9; 21:13; 23:1; 44:13; 86:17; 87:10; 93:19; 135:17 else's 7:3; 107:22 elsewhere 9:20 embarking 8:4 emerge 22:12 emerged 132:12 emerges 110:2 emotion 113:14 emphasis 75:19 employ 140:25 employee 140:20 employees 109:17 enable 70:16 encapsulate 8:17; 71:12:99:3 Enclose 93:6 enclosed 54:11 encompass 102:11 encouraging 68:7 end 1:18; 4:24; 8:20; 16:24; 17:7; 21:19; 26:20; 57:25; 60:15, 17:70:3:71:16: 100:11; 101:4; 109:15; 111:6; 120:3; 125:20 ended 58:4 ending 116:22 endorsement 103:10 enforced 15:13 enfranchise 122:6

42:1; 72:12; 73:20;

81:12 enhance 55:5; 121:19 enormous 57:11; 104:18 enough 7:6; 24:14; 72:1; 107:1 enquiries 60:1 enquiry 60:12 ensure 84:23; 103:7 enter 109:14; 118:8 entered 84:6; 102:13 entering 1:12; 129:2 Enterprise 57:20 entertained 112:16 entertaining 86:7 enthusiasm 22:4: 106:8; 145:12 enthusiastic 20:3; 45:25; 106:12 enthusiastically 46:12; 58:9 entirely 24:11 entitle 4:7 entitled 53:24; 93:13; 113:16 entrenched 143:12 entrusted 62:13 entry 32:19, 22 equally 3:20 especially 55:22 essence 31:24 essential 11:8; 129:16 essentially 31:2; 59:8; 72:3 establish 128:24 established 19:6: 41:25; 42:2 et 124:10 ether 22:12 ethical 96:20 EU 76:14 European 25:1 evaluate 63:10 evaluates 64:15 even 8:15; 9:19; 10:23; 12:16; 23:9; 42:15; 49:15; 53:6; 55:9, 16; 64:7; 72:23; 78:11, 17; 119:14; 139:3; 142:11; 145:10; 146:14 events 18:18; 60:8; 83:24:106:17 everybody 5:13 everyone 7:3 everywhere 33:10, 20 Evidence 4:14: 8:4: 17:14, 18; 22:21; 37:3; 57:1; 60:2; 72:15; 81:21; 82:15; 86:4; 88:25; 89:25; 90:19; 93:20; 94:25; 95:4, 5, 6, 9; 97:9, 10; 98:16; 99:9, 10; 101:5; 104:1;

113:1; 114:23; 119:25; 93:15 123:13; 130:6, 14, 17; 133:17; 140:3; 143:17 evidenced 38:25 evolved 143:18 Exactly 6:11, 17; 9:24; 10:17; 21:24; 25:3; 33:15; 59:23; 65:5:94:3:95:1; 107:2; 109:7; 123:17; 128:20:134:3 exaggenation 13:11; 146:8 examination 8:2: 110:2; 142:21 examine 114:2 examined 67:23; 120:5 examines 24:18 example 14:10; 15:4; 22:14; 24:24; 33:2; 34:2; 42:5; 43:10; 58:16; 75:25; 76:15; 84:19; 107:19; 109:24; 131:20; 139:17 exceedingly 140:14 exchange 32:15 excited 8:12; 140:4 exclusive 31:25: 32:19, 22; 34:1, 13; 35:18; 49:14; 64:19; 77:18; 104:23 exclusively 133:5 exclusivity 32:3 exegesis 31:19 exercise 14:22; 55:16; 86:25; 112:13, 24; 135:1; 145:19 exhausting 22:16 exhaustion 60:22 exhibited 88:17 exist 64:21; 77:21 existed 127:3; 129:22; 133:22 existence 2:14 existing 22:3; 79:14; 102:12; 127:22 exists 28:2 expand 31:4 expanded 54:22 expansion 41:6 expect 111:4; 146:22 expected 12:12 expended 20:13 experience 7:2: 27:1: 30:11; 62:12; 145:22 experienced 51:22 64:4; 109:12; 110:2; expert 80:15; 81:21 135:10 expertise 59:20 fading 30:3; 37:9 experts 8:12, 19: fail 29:4 25:23; 69:12; 77:4; failed 43:12 81:23:98:12,13 failing 39:6, 7, 8 expired 60:22; 78:23 failings 54:23 explain 22:19; 85:10 failure 91:17 explained 12:5: 46:24; 61:12; 79:19; fair 22:21; 24:14 123:15 fairly 25:11: 28:3: 105:18; 108:2; 109:15; explanation 95:22 93:5; 109:17; 110:22 engaged 29:10; 51:6; 110:24; 111:9; 112:21; explicit 25:7; 89:23; fall 121:15 explicitly 13:9 explorations 105:25 exploratory 64:6; 92:3 explore 39:1; 45:12; 52:6; 82:25 explored 81:19:83:2 exploring 125:17 exposure 53:18 expressed 44:20; 45:1; 80:25; 123:8; 145:3 expresses 106:3 expressing 42:16 expression 136:17 expressions 113:14; 129:13 expressly 59:21; 87:2 extend 108:21; 121:19 extended 58:14 extending 118:19 extends 118:11 extension 3:5 extent 10:22; 13:6, 10; 16:22; 18:10, 24; 49:23; 82:22; 103:22 extra 16:16 extracting 7:12 extraordinarily 19:20 extraordinary 136:3 extremely 19:22: 48:4; 122:19 eyes 60:7 F fabricate 95:20 tabricated 91:8 facilitating 117:17 facility 68:16 tact 4:13; 8:11; 16:16: 23:2; 40:10; 42:3; 44:10, 14; 84:22; 85:22; 86:6; 93:18; 95:25; 115:14; 116:5; 128:4, 13; 130:15; 132:8; 134:9; 135:10, 25; 137:2; 145:8 factor 24:20 factors 12:13; 21:23; 22:10; 82:20 facts 12:24; 63:22;

Day 1 June 15, 1999

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

earlier 100:18;

early 12:21; 13:16;

Min-U-Script®

(5) disposed - fall

falling 73:1 faise 112-13 famed 135:20 familiar 8:24; 68:24 fancy 141:18 fantastic 21:14 far 4:15; 8:10; 13:16; 64:4: 76:2: 122:3: 136:21, 22; 138:18; 144:22 faring 115:12 farm 53:14 fascinating 46:7 Fast 49:12; 102:14 fatique 67:6 fault 74:16 favour 24:25 favourable 52:10 fax 147:15 fear 38:3 feasibility 101:9; 124:12 feature 36:12: 37:19: 5:21; 99:14; 104:12; 137:23 features 9:20: 10:7. 11, 13, 16; 11:16, 19, 24: 20:14: 22:10: 61:24; 64:21; 69:12; 91:10 February 38:21, 21; 74:18, 20; 83:18; 105:22 fed 62:7; 135:17 fee 40:21, 24; 41:1; 50:8, 14, 19, 21; 56:1; 58:1 fee 17:23 feeling 140:5, 11 feels 87:18 fees 40:6: 41:11 feet 67:11: 147:8 felt 73:1 few 3:1; 29:5; 57:22; 123:8; 127:1; 128:4; 143:1 fewer 71:6 field 43:19:71:25 fields 32:1 fighting 57:15 file 3:15: 79:22: 93:8 filed 4:14:131:4 files 133:20; 138:17; 139:12 fill 57:10 final 36:4; 116:9 financial 16:24; 53:6 find 1:22; 24:24; 32:7; 36:12; 42:24; 56:21; 67:10; 124:3; 136:6, 11; 138:21 finding 107:10 findings 54:11 Fine 87:13; 135:7 finished 61:13 Finland 60:11 Finnish 60:11

6:2: 12:25: 14:20: 15:2; 22:5; 29:24; 67:1; 78:5; 79:7; 81:6; 88:13; 90:4; 100:22; 101:5; 117:9; 123:2, 10; 129:4; 146:23 fishing 53:13 five 19:2; 32:21 FKB 52:6, 10 flat 69:24 flesh 54:17 flexibility 117:17,18 flexible 144:11 floated 78:1 floor 105:3, 4, 6, 7 floors 105:7 flourish 58:13 flyers 35:22 fmcg 49:11 focal 30:22; 43:13 focus 7:1: 75:9; 90:7; 92:6 foisting 13:5 foided 27:23; 28:2; 39:3 folding 20:8; 28:8 follow-up 91:21; 95:2 followed 52:7;75:2 following 9:12; 15:10; 52:15; 58:23; 85:5; 97:22; 119:25; 121:15; 148:6 follows 144:4 force 3:23; 4:1; 96:16 forcefully 67:20 forces 100:5 forecourt 24:7; 69:1 forecourts 30:3: 32:8: 52:22: 57:15 foresee 49:6 foreseeable 55:11 foreshadow 91:16 forget 37:24 Forgive 95:11; 104:14 forgiveness 82:8 forgo 56:1 forgotten 96:19; 126:25; 127:12 form 25:23; 26:1; 28:14; 47:10; 68:8; 72:22; 82:17; 107:5; 117:8; 123:10; 124:8 formal 42:24; 115:11 formative 19:5 formed 64:6; 67:14; 82:23; 90:12; 98:21; 100:12, 13, 24; 142:24 former 93:22 forms 11:4; 86:13; 102:15:125:21 formulation 31:23 forth 76:17; 128:14 fortissimo 18:12 Fortnum 33:14; 34:17 Fortronic 100:6 fortune 122:3 66:16; 69:19; 70:14;

fortunes 41:13 forward 8:18: 9:12: 10:9: 11:5: 13:24: 17:2, 7: 25:24; 26:2; 37:5, 7, 12; 38:24; 39:5, 15; 41:18, 20; 42:6, 14; 43:9; 44:5, 6, 9; 45:23; 46:5; 47:2; 54:21; 58:8; 59:25; 60:14:69:19:71:22: 73:9; 77:7; 94:3; 98:17; 99:5; 101:13; 103:17; 104:4, 12, 21; 105:19; 106:10; 110:10, 16; 120:11; 126:1; 137:13, 24 fought 135:24: 141:4 found 10:7; 16:13; 24:20; 130:21; 139:3 Four 88:20; 92:13, 14; gaming 29:13 93:3, 4, 5, 7; 97:19, 21; gap 29:9 119:8 foxed 22:7 framework 63:13; 67:15; 71:17; 82:17; 101:1; 120:10 Frank 83:21; 105:20; 106:15 frankly 109:1 Fraud 69:8 fraudsters 140:9 free 33:19 frequent 35:21; 68:4 friend 1:7; 7:6; 65:15; 96:5; 113:9, 13 frightfully 22:24 front 5:25 frustrated 29:3 frustration 30:9 fuel 117:17 fulfilled 144:14 full 27:10; 74:24; 104:20, 24; 143:3, 6, 7, 8 fuller 123:10 fully 100:13: 111:14: 122:24; 143:10 fun 24:13 function 53:9 functioned 65:6 functioning 42:3 functions 53:3 fund 41:9 fundamental 9:5; 30:6; 81:8; 146:1, 5 fundamentally 76:16; 105:13; 107:13 Fundraiser/FCB 55:1 furnished 134:1 further 5:10; 25:5; 47:10; 57:25; 60:13; 66:15:93:1:95:5,6; 107:19; 113:1; 116:8; 119:9; 126:1; 138:15; 144:7 future 14:19; 26:23; 27:5; 52:18; 53:1; 55:11; 63:12, 14; 64:7;

86:11: 118:13: 134:13, goldmine 35:4 15 G gains 101:23 game 15:6; 18:25; 19:13, 24; 20:2; 21:10; 26:5, 15, 18, 21; 27:17; 39:2: 41:5, 19; 42:25; 45:8, 11, 24; 48:19; 50:20; 56:8; 57:15; 59:10 games 19:22; 30:16, 17:40:1, 5;44:12; 45:2, 21; 58:21; 59:6, 7, 11, 15, 21; 60:3, 4; 61:4;85:9 garages 68:13 garden 100:7 gardening 94:4,6; 95:22, 25 gathered 140:7 gauge 103:7 gave 11:3: 23:24: 27:19; 29:23; 32:18; 34:14:39:14: 52:9; 61:20, 22; 91:24; 97:13:129:21 general 13:11; 75:14; 144:21 generally 15:20; 62:17:122:1 generate 142:19 generates 72:1 generation 70:21; 71:3; 145:16 generic 122:14; 123:7 Geoffrey 1:7 germ 26:17 gets 43:6; 106:3 GHA 64:10; 76:1, 17, 19:79:1:80:11.18.18: 82:6; 83:7; 103:5; 119:5, 25; 120:1, 6, 12, 18, 23; 125:16; 143:21 gifts 29:3; 33:19; 39:24; 40:4; 50:16; 76:25; 124:24 93:12 Gill 5:14, 22, 24; 6:4; Hague 25:2 55:1 haif 5:18; 19:14; given 4:25; 24:14; 29:10; 40:24; 41:1 41:15; 43:5; 52:4; 56:25; 63:25; 66:5, 16; Hallagan 36:11, 16 92:7; 97:4, 23; 111:9, halves 25:21; 40:7; 23; 119:15; 140:1 41:2, 4 gives 33:3; 67:2; hand 14:23: 37:20: 95:21; 142:21; 146:12 95:16; 98:8, 10; giving 17:20; 34:22; 120:12; 126:20; 35:6: 73:2; 78:9, 10; 140:15 122:5; 132:23 handed 11:16, 25; 24:1; 98:11; 130:16; go-ahead 92:7: 111:24 132:9 goal 75:16 handing 12:16; 127:19 goes 23:4; 50:3; 68:13; 69:24; 71:5; handling 40:23; 142:4 74:25 handwritten 89:17: 99:5 good 16:5, 6, 8, 12; 19:8, 22; 20:22; 21:5; 27:1: 41:22; 46:15; 55:22; 122:3; 132:11; 135:14: 144:23 goods 28:25; 30:10; 34:16; 49:12; 54:21 Gosh 21:8; 107:8 grant 77:15, 16 granted 15:21, 22; 16:1 graphic 76:23 graphics 80:16 grapple 106:7 grass 82:12 grateful 2:6: 8:14; 87:14; 89:22: 131:4: 137:20; 147:18 great 3:25; 7:25; 8:10; 51:12, 12; 55:18; 136:4; 139:21; 140:19 creater 144:22 Green 68:5: 69:7: 77:9; 78:18; 79:3; 146:9 Greenshield 31:13; 32:4.14:125:2 arocer 121:18: 122:5 12, 15, 18; 132:16 grocers 103:6; 122:21 around 22:9 group 31:7; 65:10; 79:15; 96:24; 115:20, 23 groups 80:23; 115:13 grousing 46:14 grudge 96:6 grumble 4:4.5 guarantee 79:23 guess 41:7;75:10 guidance 7:4; 18:11 guide 2:3; 8:7 Gulf 57:13; 58:3 H habit 13:23 habits 35:8,8 habitually 25:9;

hang 130:12 Hannagan 37:11, 16, 17; 38:13, 13, 16; 61:20, 22, 25; 62:13; 63:4:66:2.5.16: 72:21:82:5:85:16: 104:5; 110:13 Hannagan's 63:6 happen 105:8 happened 6:1:44:16; 46:3: 50:25: 57:17: 89:12; 111:22; 129:5; 132:19; 139:13 happening 70:25: 104:4happens 23:6: 37:6, 24; 42:17; 53:22; 99:24 happy 5:25; 18:2; 33:19; 51:10; 115:18; 147:7 Harbour 39:10, 11; 45:16 hard 5:10; 99:7; 108:2; 132:17; 135:23 hardly 112:7 hardware 65:3; 76:24:142:7 Harman 55:22 Harris 74:9, 19, 21 Harrods 33:13; 34:17 headed 39:11; 101:6 heading 48:22 headlined 79:6 hear 55:13, 22; 109:8; 112:21 heard 67:19; 87:25 hearing 8:4 hearsay 4:6, 11 heart 69:11 heavily 25:4 heavy 69:11 heid 25:12; 27:18; 88:9, 24; 95:23 help 7:4: 58:22; 68:11; 98:9; 124:1; 134:1; 138:15 helpfui 11:1; 12:21; 24:20; 38:10; 134:14 helpfully 38:25; 76:21 helps 25:6; 76:22; 104:8; 116:25 Helsinki 60:13 hence 45:8; 106:2, 4; 142:8 Hercules 111:17: 143:13; 146:1 herring 113:20; 114:6.7 herrings 114:15 hiatus 42:4 hide 134:8 High 19:9; 20:1; 22:14; 26:11; 27:15; 31:25; 35:23; 64:19; 75:13, 22; 115:14, 18;

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

first 1:20; 2:7; 3:3, 5;

Min-U-Script®

(6) falling - High

117:16, 17; 121:12 high-risk 136:9 higher 29:2 himself 30:7; 66:6, 17:84:15:87:25; 109:20; 114:22; 120:16; 128:15; 135:13; 144:1; 146:12 historically 90:2 history 28:18 Hobbs 1:7; 3:11, 13, 17; 5:8; 6:7, 14, 19, 22; 7:10, 13; 11:1, 11; 21:4; 37:23; 65:15, 20; 79:21, 25; 80:4; 86:21, 21; 87:6, 9; 89:9, 10, 21;94:10; 108:9, 13, 21; 113:5; 131:1, 16, 25 Hobbs's 94:20 hold 47:9, 11; 60:18, 19 holding 56:18 hole 66:1 lollywood 133:4,6 Holmes 42:8, 16, 19, 19, 25; 58:9 home 3:15 honest 109:5 hope 1:9; 14:21; 29:25; 41:10; 58:22: 67:23; 86:13; 87:9; 111:8; 114:1 hoping 6:11; 14:10; 120:6 Horley 43:22; 45:4, 20; 46:20, 24; 47:25; 48:3, 13 hour 5:18; 90:21 hour's 79:25 House 13:21; 25:1: 54:3; 92:4; 97:13 huge 68:8 Hughes 67:4; 71:13; 72:8, 17; 144:15 human 99:16 hundreds 71:7 hysterical 6:18 I idea 5:4; 13:24; 14:1, 5, 8; 15:20; 16:6, 8; 17:4, 14, 15; 19:23; 20:11, 17, 20; 21:14, 25; 22:11, 15; 26:17; 29:18; 31:21; 33:22; 34:1; 35:18; 36:2, 4, 5, 17, 18; 41:17, 19, 19; 42:6, 19, 21; 43:10; 44:7; 45:23; 46:5, 21; 47:4, 8, 11, 11: 50:5, 11, 25; 51:12, 23; 56:14; 60:24; 64:1, 18; 65:5; 67:20; 78:9; 83:25; 84:1, 6; 94:4; 98:22; 100:12; 103:17; 105:11, 19, 107:22; 109:22; 111:3, 4, 6; 116:3; 118:23; 120:8, 11; 123:10; 137:7;

141:24, 25; 142:24; 143:12, 16; 145:2; 146:16 ideal 54:14; 121:4 ideas 19:23; 20:22; 26:3; 30:17; 37:11; 43:9, 16; 44:6, 21; 64:7; 105:17; 109:24; 135:14; 144:8 identical 8:21; 23:3 identified 30:7; 54:24 identify 74:24 identifying 144:12 identity 47:10; 53:20 if-ings 134:4 ignore 69:11 illness 51:17 ills 30:12 illuminated 116:10 illustration 76:23 illustrative 80:16 image 77:12; 83:13; 121:6 imaginative 144:3 imagine 106:5 immediate 55:17; 83:19; 88:18; 94:14; 128:7; 133:14; 134:13 immediately 22:1, 1; 98:4 imminently 85:25 impact 79:19; 122:5 impacted 36:5 imperfect 134:24 implausible 91:17; 107:13 implement 102:4; 120:12; 143:21 implementation 143:14; 145:1 implemented 142:5 implementing 101:22 implications 39:20 importance 139:18 important 14:12; 15:15; 18:20; 20:9; 29:16:31:20;32:3; 34:24; 41:3; 42:1; 44:4, 24; 46:1, 22; 48:4, 11; 51:15; 54:8; 57:3: 59:18: 68:18: 72:11; 73:16; 76:2, 7; 83:15, 15; 85:21; 93:2; 99:14; 103:9, 13; 104:12; 107:7; 111:17, 21; 122:11; 123:9; 125:22, 24; 132:19, 21 importantly 129:12 impossible 109:2 imprecise 125:7 impression 13:8 improper 96:17 impropriety 147:12 improve 63:6 improvements 103:3 in-between 100:19 inappropriate 57:16; 81:6

inaudible 109:12 incidentally 54:25 include 40:23; 57:23 included 87:2;92:13 including 4:15; 49:7; 53:4; 80:24; 115:21 incompatible 26:2: 129:17 inconsistent 120:23; 128:14 incorporated 96:1 increase 58:25; 59:12 increased 31:9; 68:6 increasingly 29:5 indeed 7:14; 12:9; 17:20; 21:12; 22:5; 45:25; 46:11, 12; 47:19; 65:12; 72:20; 79:6; 82:24, 24; 85:17; 90:3; 92:23; 94:25; 95:11; 97:2, 10; 126:16 independent 24:2; 77:11 indicate 7:6; 69:14; 75:20:76:2 indicated 118:25 indicates 23:25; 44:22 indicating 38:6; 43:23 indication 16:11; 43:5; 56:13; 118:19 indications 38:11; 67:21 individual 9:20; 10:6; 22:9; 53:10; 74:24; 141:22 individuals 107:18; 141:3 inevitably 4:19 inference 119:24 influenced 103:23 inform 2:24; 58:3 information 9:12; 10:3; 11:2; 12:10; 13:6, 13; 14:17; 21:16; 23:25; 35:4, 7, 15, 16; 43:25; 49:6; 53:5; 63:19; 68:16, 20; 99:7; 102:24; 106:18, 19, 24; 118:10, 12, 17, 20, 21; 119:9, 11; 133:25 informed 3:1; 43:9; 47:6; 52:13 ingenuity 20:12, 24 inherently 14:6,6 initial 7:7: 54:17 innovation 41:3; 101:17 innovative 54:20 innovatively 69:17 input 40:21; 48:9; 129:9; 135:16; 142:8 inquiry 63:22 insert 35:7 inside 72:1; 143:10 insight 22:13

insofar 112:22 inspected 113:7 inspiration 20:21 instant 50:16 instead 78:7 instigation 45:11 instigators 26:6 instructed 2:19 instructing 2:18; 5:19 instruction 113:17 instructions 39:19; 40:14; 54:10; 90:21; 92:4; 113:15; 138:20 integrated 122:24 intellectual 20:12, 23 intelligence 71:1 intelligent 70:14 intend 4:17; 101:17; 146:18; 147:1 intended 83:12 intention 79:6; 85:24 interactive 70:14 interest 41:4; 42:16; 44:16, 20; 45:2; 54:16; 69:24; 80:25; 88:18; 92:11; 98:19; 101:12; 129:13; 133:13; 145:4 interested 44:8, 12; 47:5; 62:6; 79:8; 95:7, 13; 107:8; 126:2; 144:8 interesting 30:16; 31:22; 35:13; 47:4; 55:13; 67:22; 75:11; 93:18; 111:12; 116:9, 24; 124:5; 143:4, 24 interests 103:7 intermediary 144:24 internal 128:12 International 50:15 interval 52:23 intervene 113:5 intervening 30:8; 125:10 into 1:12; 5:6; 13:23; 14:14; 17:5; 21:20; 22:13; 24:10, 21; 28:2; 29:14; 30:17; 34:7; 35:6; 36:4; 39:21; 47:20; 48:19; 59:10; 61:2, 17; 62:1, 16; 63:8, 22; 66:6; 85:15, 24; 86:3; 87:8; 96:2; 100:11; 106:25; 118:8; 121:15, 17; 122:7, 14, 25 introduce 1:15: 12:25; 18:22; 39:22 introduces 37:11 introducing 30:16; 84:12, 15; 87:25 introduction 41:24: 68:3; 80:21 introductory 85:1 invade 57:13 invaluable 13:13; 54:25 invent 95:21

inventing 19:22 inventive 9:25 investigate 103:4 investigations 105:25 investigative 64:6 investing 73:4 investment 70:11; 71:8,9; 122:25; 142:7 invitation 93:6 invitations 92:3 invite 14:20; 26:9; 37:1; 50:9; 51:13, 16; 120:20 invited 62:1; 108:7; 109:1 inviting 87:17; 98:23 invoiced 40:25 involve 26:10; 102:6 involved 19:25; 32:13; 66:12; 83:9; 107:18; 136:8 involvement 73:17 irate 61:15 ireland 121:8 ironic 38:3 ironmongers 32:21 irrelevant 69:13 irritable 67:9 issue 6:24; 11:7; 12:16; 38:17; 49:19; 66:18:69:8:72:24; 77:9; 78:25; 94:21; 102:11; 103:22; 109:12; 117:19; 132:8, 15: 136:10: 140:3: 141:23 Issued 77:1 issuers 104:21, 23; 143:9 issues 11:8; 20:10; 109:9; 112:20; 132:17 issuing 32:1; 49:17; 64:20; 102:7; 104:11; 125:11, 11, 18; 141:21; 142:1, 11; 143:2 item 27:10 items 27:10; 40:22; 124:10 J J 44:24 January 66:20, 23, 24; 72:8, 12, 17; 79:9. 12; 119:14, 21: 144:6 argon 8:20 jazzing 30:1 jettisoned 119:17 jettisoning 119:4 job 16:12 John 34:17; 48:14; 50:6, 12; 52:7; 56:4, 5, 9; 87:25; 89:2; 113:8; 126:17 ioin 109:12

joint 27:5, 8; 31:9: 15:12; 52:6; 124:6; 125:18; 145:20 judge 38:4; 103:1 judges 24:19 judging 108:2 judgment 7:15; 9:6; 21:21: 25:4: 100:1 July 42:17; 45:18; 46:4; 48:1; 54:2; 56:12;60:25;61:5; 62:15; 97:13; 100:5, 12, 19; 103:12; 115:12; 116:20; 126:7, 15; 127:15; 131:5 June 1:1; 42:20; 44:23; 92:4; 103:20 junior 7:11, 11 jury 6:15 JUSTICE 1:3, 17, 22, 25; 2:5, 13; 3:3, 7, 9, 11, 14, 18, 23; 4:4, 10; 5:13, 16, 22, 24; 6:9, 13, 20; 7:9, 11, 15, 19; 8:5, 15; 9:8, 25; 10:5, 12, 15, 18, 22; 11:9, 11, 15, 23; 12:8, 11, 15; 15:1, 3, 11; 16:4, 20; 17:13, 21; 18:7, 13; 19:18; 20:6; 21:2, 8, 18; 22:19; 23:11, 13, 20; 24:4, 13, 23; 25:2; 26:8; 28:6, 8, 11, 13, 16, 20; 30:4; 31:2, 17; 32:10, 25; 33:17; 34:10; 36:21; 37:15, 22; 38:5, 12; 39:12; 42:12; 43:1; 44:18; 46:9; 47:14; 48:6, 8; 50:22; 51:1, 8, 10; 53:12; 57:3; 59:4, 19; 60:15; 62:24; 63:2, 17; 64:12, 24; 65:9; 66:8, 23; 67:8, 25; 68:25; 69:6, 20, 23; 70:2; 71:23; 72:14; 74:2, 12, 15; 77:8, 20, 23; 78:17, 22; 79:3, 23; 80:3, 5, 20; 84:10, 16; 85:7, 11; 86:10, 18, 20; 87:5, 13, 19; 88:7; 89:8, 15, 19; 90:16, 20, 23; 91:1, 4, 9, 12; 92:12, 18; 93:9, 25; 94:12, 15; 95:9, 13, 16; 96:13, 15, 19, 23; 97:1, 7, 16, 20; 98:1, 10, 13, 15; 99:18, 23; 100:21; 105:1, 6; 106:8, 12; 107:3, 15, 23; 108:5, 20; 109:3; 112:2, 11, 18; 113:18, 23; 114:4, 25; 115:4; 124:1, 16; 125:1, 7; 126:9, 11; 127:4, 8; 128:3, 10; 130:13, 20, 25; 131:7, 9, 14, 20; 132:1, 5; 133:2, 16, 22; 134:4, 8, 16, 18, 24; 135:4, 7, 18, 23; 136:3, 6, 15; 137:8, 12, 16, 19; 138:1, 3, 5, 14, 24; 139:1, 5, 9, 15, 18, 21, 24; 140:2, 7, 14, 21; 141:9, 17; 146:11, 17, 21, 25; 147:3, 8, 11,

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

(7) high-risk - JUSTICE

joined 83:17, 17;

100:5

-

Day 1 June 15, 1999

	1			1
14, 20, 25; 148:4	19:18; 20:6; 21:2, 8,	Lazenby 83:16; 84:8,	53:22, 25; 54:5, 12, 22		98:6, 12, 16; 99:9;
justified 140:10	18; 22:19; 23:11, 13,	15; 85:2, 3, 5; 86:1, 5;	60:10; 74:18, 20;	139:12; 147:6	100:3, 10, 16; 102:17
1	20; 24:4, 13, 23; 26:8;	87:15, 20; 88:14, 17;	84:11, 13; 85:1, 4;	Liverpool 3:2; 5:18	103:11, 20, 21, 25;
K	28:6, 8, 11, 13, 16, 20;	89:18, 23; 91:13, 20;	87:23, 24; 88:1; 91:18,	local 32:8	104:3, 8; 105:11;
	30:4; 31:2, 17; 32:10,	92:6, 15, 16, 20, 21;	21; 92:21; 93:3; 98:3;	locality 32:8	106:10; 108:25;
	25; 33:17; 34:10;	93:15; 94:2, 7; 95:6,	99:3; 111:12, 23;	location 122:17	109:16; 110:5, 10, 19
keen 54:13; 73:17, 18	36:21; 37:15, 22; 38:5,	10; 96:8; 97:12, 22;	113:3, 22, 25; 114:3,	locker 55:12; 136:21	111:21; 112:6, 15, 25 113:22, 24; 114:20;
keep 55:12; 57:4;	12; 39:12; 42:12; 43:1; 44:18; 46:9; 47:14;	101:5; 104:5; 105:21;	11, 12, 19; 115:9; 116:24; 117:2; 118:3;	logical 90:8	115:9; 116:9, 24;
63:1; 103:2; 116:3;	48:6, 8; 50:22; 51:1, 8,	107:6, 25; 108:17;	123:16, 18; 126:6, 15,	-	117:1, 3, 5, 9, 23;
136:21	10; 53:12; 57:3; 59:4,	109:1, 12, 14, 20;	18; 127:2, 5, 15, 17,	logically 87:12	118:3; 119:2, 8, 13, 2
Ken 40:9, 17: 56:9	19; 60:15; 62:24; 63:2,	111:13, 13, 20; 112:9;		long 13:14; 16:10;	120:14; 122:8; 123:9
Ken's 40:14	17; 64:12, 24; 65:9;		20, 22; 130:7, 11, 15,	18:1; 23:21; 30:9; 52:15; 55:10; 62:1, 6,	20; 124:4; 125:6, 15,
kept 89:18; 93:16;	66:8, 23; 67:8, 25;		19; 131:1; 132:4, 9, 20	11, 14, 16; 66:3; 73:5,	20, 24; 126:10, 13, 2
94:8; 118:14; 119:10;	68:25; 69:6, 20, 23;	123:12, 17; 125:22,	23; 133:20; 139:2, 6,	6, 11; 87:13; 90:17;	127:24; 128:18;
139:16	70:2; 71:23; 72:14;	25; 126:4, 7, 10, 13;	15, 19	108:1:133:10:136:20	129:15; 130:17, 21, 23; 131:8; 132:3, 7, 2
key 103:6; 122:12, 17	74:2, 12, 15; 77:8, 20,	128:11; 129:22; 130:2	letters 128:11; 138:18	3 147:15	133:3; 137:13, 15, 1
kind 7:6; 21:22, 25;	23; 78:17, 22; 79:3, 23;		level 15:16; 40:13	long-term 26:17;	20; 138:17; 139:2;
22:11; 25:7; 43:21;	80:3, 5, 20; 84:10, 16;	133:8, 13, 15, 18;	leveiled 107:21	29:11: 30:5, 19; 82:14,
74:13; 75:2; 83:1;		134:19; 136:4; 137:15	levels 103:7	25; 85:8, 15, 20, 24;	143:23: 144:1: 145:7
110:2; 120:13; 128:23;	87:5, 13, 19; 88:7;	20; 138:5, 11, 16, 20;	Lewis 34:18	86:3; 94:17, 23; 95:23;
143:11; 144:2	89:8, 15, 19; 90:16, 20,		liar 95:20; 108:11;	100:8; 101:1; 102:8;	Lords 25:1
King 13:22; 29:6, 15,	23; 91:1, 4, 9, 12; 92:12, 18; 93:9, 25;	142:23, 24; 144:1, 5	134:19, 20, 21	104:7; 105:24; 110:15	Lordship 1:9, 14, 14
20; 30:8, 13; 36:10, 17;	94:12, 15; 95:9, 13, 16;	Lazenby's 83:22;	liars 108:6; 140:9, 16	20; 117:15; 122:10;	16, 21, 23; 2:8, 24, 25
37:11, 18, 18; 38:14,	96:13 15 19 23:97:1	104:7; 106:16; 110:12;		123:3; 133:10, 24; 134:2	3:13, 19; 4:2, 3, 6, 9;
30, 22; 39:1, 4, 9, 14,	7, 16, 20; 98:1, 10, 13,	113:25; 120:15	lie 137:10	ionger 59:7; 70:19;	7:17, 23; 8:3, 24;
44:15, 19; 45:17; 47:3,	15; 99:18, 23; 100:21;	LE 28:16	lied 108:17	71:9; 102:4; 137:14;	10:24; 11:6; 13:1, 17
14, 15, 22; 48:5, 10;	105:1, 6; 106:8, 12;	lend 27:5; 49:9; 53:24		142:11; 144:15;	14:10, 11, 21, 21, 25,
49:3; 51:4, 18, 20;	107:3, 15, 23; 108:5,			146:17	15:12, 23; 18:3, 4, 9, 15, 19, 22; 19:7, 13;
52:4, 14; 54:1, 2; 57:7,	20; 109:3; 112:2, 11,	leader 93:23	lifestyle 122:13; 123:6	longish 94:4	20:10, 15, 16; 21:1, 2
9; 66:21, 25; 67:2;	18; 113:18, 23; 114:4,	leading 67:12; 78:13	hand Hill same construction and	longterm 66:12, 20;	24; 22:7, 10; 24:19;
68:2; 69:18; 71:13;	25; 115:4; 124:1, 16; 125:1, 7; 126:9, 11;	leads 102:1	light 11:17; 12:8; 23:23; 100:15; 105:17;	10-1-1-	25:10, 17, 18, 25;
73:2; 76:8; 83:5; 85:1,	127:4, 8; 128:3, 10;	leaflets 19:4	106:6	look 1:25; 14:3;	26:23; 27:22; 28:15,
2;88:19;99:16,20;	130:13, 20, 25; 131:7,	leap 54:20	lightly 58:6	42:12; 62:1, 16; 63:8;	17; 30:1, 22, 24; 31:1
119:6; 120:1, 24; 130:10; 131:22;	9, 14, 20; 132:1, 5;	leapfrog 102:9	lights 67:16, 18	66:6; 69:13; 70:8;	22; 32:4; 34:24; 35:10
138:18; 139:3, 6;	133:2, 16, 22; 134:4, 8,	leapfrogging 101:23;	liked 31:18	72:9, 11, 18; 77:9;	36:11, 20; 37:1; 38:4,
143:22; 144:15, 23	16, 18, 24; 135:4, 7,	124:14	likelihood 108:16	79:23; 98:1, 15; 112:2;	7, 9, 18; 39:3, 17;
King's 51:17; 72:5;	18, 23; 136:3, 6, 15;	learn 35:9; 70:25		117:24; 118:18;	41:20; 43:3; 45:16; 46:6; 47:12; 48:12;
99:21; 138:22: 139:12;	137:8, 12, 16, 19;	learned 1:7; 7:6;	likely 11:20; 14:6; 52:22; 102:25	120:20; 136:13	49:2; 50:9, 18, 25;
144:7	138:1, 3, 5, 14, 24; 139:1, 5, 9, 15, 18, 21,	24:19; 65:15; 96:5;	limited 34:20; 59:8;	looked 46:16; 79:3;	53:5; 56:19; 57:10;
knew 21:13; 52:3;	24; 140:2, 7, 14, 21;	113:9, 13	65:10; 80:18; 96:10;	80:3; 119:2; 127:10	58:4; 60:1, 13, 18;
106:23; 128:9, 11;	141:9, 17; 146:11, 17,	lease 77:16	120:8; 125:2; 142:14	looking 26:24; 47:12; 70:10; 72:10, 20; 76:7;	61:7; 62:8, 21; 63:4,
129:22; 130:7; 133:22;	21, 25; 147:3, 8, 11,	leases 77:15	Lindsey 1:6	80:12; 86:3; 119:11	20, 25, 05.7, 10, 00.1,
143:6	14, 20, 25; 148:4	least 9:11; 10:6;	line 35:25; 36:20;	looks 16:7; 21:21;	67:6, 23; 68:11, 23;
knowing 14:18;	iamp 143:1	18:24; 51:5; 54:16;	75:3; 112:11; 147:21,	60:4; 80:1; 116:6, 14;	69:10; 71:15; 73:25;
113:11; 127:3	Lane 1:6; 2:9; 6:11	67:18, 23; 73:15; 76:4; 77:6; 84:4, 5; 87:4;	22	131:10; 142:22	75:8, 24; 76:12; 78:11 79:10, 11, 21; 80:1, 12
knowingly 106:20; 107:22	anguage 141:1;	120:16; 128:21;	lines 55:6; 57:22;	looming 141:11	81:8, 19, 22; 82:4, 6;
knowledge 10:2;	145:13	140:20; 142:24:	87:1; 97:19, 21; 123:8,	loop 145:25	83:4, 7, 23; 84:1, 14, 71:2	arge 13:6; 31:12;	143:13; 145:3	17; 128:20; 135:15	Lord 1:5, 9, 18; 2:6,	23; 85:14, 22; 86:3, 4, known 11:20; 12:4;	34:16	leave 11:12; 80:5;	link 73:13; 75:15;	17, 24; 5:14; 6:5, 19;	12; 87:17, 18; 88:21;
68:6:85:17 18.97.6	largest 20:2	117:3; 132:1; 148:2	76:4; 83:2	7:13; 9:7; 12:25;	89:22; 93:4, 21; 94:6,
23:12; 130:8; 132:16	ast 18:1; 20:7; 24:24;	leaves 142:18	link-up 117:18;	14:20: 15:2, 4: 17:11:	10; 95:15; 96:3, 6, 14;
mows 5-8 9-21-22-	40:7; 102:17	led 52:8	125:10	18:10; 19:11; 20:9;	97:8;98:4, 4, 7, 9;
4:25:66:3:94:10:	ate 46:9; 52:1; 79:17;	left 87:10; 113:8;	link-ups 102:9	25:17; 26:4; 27:12, 21;	102:20; 104:15;
09:9; 126:25; 129:2;	100.11	127:14; 129:12	linked 49:22; 74:23;	28:7, 19, 23; 30:23;	105:16; 108:1, 2;
	ater 19:15; 48:21;	Leggatt 83:21;	75:13, 22; 76:6	31:24; 37:13; 38:25;	109:9, 11, 16; 110:11, 23; 111:8, 11, 22;
	55:8; 59:14; 65:13, 22,	107:19; 137:16, 17,	liquidation 28:2;	41:10; 42:5; 43:8;	113:3, 24; 114:2, 19;
	23; 83:20; 86:2, 2;	21, 141:7	29:15	44:16; 45:22; 46:11, 22, 25; 47:25; 48:10;	118:18; 120:1, 13, 20,
L	91:19; 106:4; 110:3, 4;		list 117:22; 146:25;	53:21; 56:11; 57:8, 14;	21; 130:22, 22;
	112:5: 116:4: 143:1	lengthy 142:20	147:4, 13	59:5, 24; 60:7, 13, 17;	131:18; 135:22; 136:1
	augn 124:1		listed 40:22	62:3, 19, 22; 63:21;	137:3, 9; 138:11, 15;
	Laugnter 53:14		listen 24:21	64:14:65:14:69:9:	139:20; 140:4, 6;
5; 2:5, 13; 3:3, 7, 9, 1, 14, 18, 23; 4:4, 10;	aunch 58:23; 123:25; [		listened 92:9	71:11; 73:10, 20; 74:7;	141:15, 25; 143:18;
10 11 00 01 10		100 mar 10.0, /	listens 24:9	78:5; 80:10, 13, 21;	146:9, 15; 147:24
			liete 1.11	81:5; 82:3; 83:14, 16,	Lordship's 9:5;
	anuched 60.23.67.2				12:20; 13:3; 15:24; 18:11; 25:4; 31:18;
3, 20; 7:9, 11, 15, 19;		104:24			10.11, 47.4, 71.10,
3, 20; 7:9, 11, 15, 19; :5, 15; 9:8, 25; 10:5, 2, 15, 18, 22; 11:9	aw 106:22			-, , ,,,
3, 20; 7:9, 11, 15, 19; :5, 15; 9:8, 25; 10:5, 2, 15, 18, 22; 11:9, 1, 15, 23; 12:8, 11,	aw 106:22 awful 18:25	etter 39:10, 14;	little 14:3; 16:9; 17:6;	89:3, 6, 17, 20, 21, 25;	43:13; 44:25; 59:14;
3, 20; 7:9, 11, 15, 19; :5, 15; 9:8, 25; 10:5, 2, 15, 18, 22; 11:9, 1, 15, 23; 12:8, 11,	aw 106:22 awful 18:25 ay 9:17, 18; 141:2	etter 39:10, 14; 42:11; 43:25; 45:3, 18,	little 14:3; 16:9; 17:6; 21:18; 26:24; 31:19;	89:3, 6, 17, 20, 21, 25; 90:18; 91:10; 92:13,

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

(8) justified - Lordship's

snell UK Ltd

lose 24:25; 69:24;

139:15, 19, 19, 21 loses 37:2 losing 121:23 loss 36:14; 110:7 lost 3:15: 138:13 lot 8:20; 22:8, 16; 32:12:84:21:102:23; 138:12; 140:17, 25 loved 46:12 loyalty 25:24; 30:19; 31:9; 32:15; 33:25; 46:3, 23; 48:22, 25; 52:25; 54:21, 24; 55:12; 56:2; 58:25; 59:5, 9, 10, 12, 17, 21, 25; 60:3; 64:3; 67:1, 15; 68:4, 7; 72:18; 73:5, 12, 13; 74:10, 22; 75:6; 77:25; 82:25; 86:17:88:14;89:4,6, 24; 90:3, 9; 94:23; 95:23; 97:15; 104:7; 110:15, 21; 112:4; 16:13, 16, 23; 17:16; 118:23; 122:10:127:23: 133:10; 134:2; 145:17 loyalty-type 85:20 Ltd 15:8 luck 21:5 lucky 19:15; 41:1 luncheon 80:8 luxury 122:3 lying 107:15; 108:17;

M

138:6

machine 35:6 machines 68:12 Mag 68:6, 15 magicians 9:3 Magnetic 63:10, 15, 18; 64:16; 70:12; 71:6, 25; 74:23; 101:10 mail 124:10, 17, 18; 125:4, 12 mailed 54:12 main 19:9; 48:13; 58:25;90:14 mainstream 111:14 major 22:14; 26:11; 31:25; 35:23; 40:23; 64:19; 80:22; 81:16, 17; 121:16, 18; 122:12, 15, 25; 124:6; 129:3 makes 6:18; 11:20; 101:5; 126:21; 127:20; 135:18 making 52:19; 101:17; 112:14; 128:19; 129:17; 136:24; 142:23 man 16:12; 19:21, 22; 35:11; 41:14; 58:12; 59:15; 60:3, 3; 79:16; 93:21; 129:2, 15; 135:12; 137:21

35:2 management 52:10; 54:7: 55:9: 62:5, 10; 66:3: 67:17; 83:12; 116:1; 128:12, 16 Manager 13:23; 15:8; 29:7; 41:22; 43:23; 45:5; 51:21, 22; 61:6; 64:3; 84:13; 85:4; 90:5; 99:17; 111:16; 143:13 managing 34:25; 50:6, 12; 83:8, 11; 96:9 manipulate 70:23 manuscript 131:25 many 33:24; 53:18; 70:9; 75:2; 99:17; 110:4 March 39:10; 50:3; 60:20, 22; 61:14; 63:20; 65:25; 72:21; 73:21; 75:5; 76:1, 1, 18, 19; 79:11; 82:4, 4 marker 6:23 market 35:1; 41:23; 45:18; 49:14; 54:15; 59:12, 18; 67:2; 70:6, 25: 71:1: 78:22: 81:3; 111:3, 5; 115:11; 121:6, 9; 122:1; 128:23; 145:19 Marketing 16:15, 19; 26:6: 28:1: 32:17; 35:16, 24; 40:1, 5; 42:23; 43:19, 23; 44:9; 45:5; 47:4, 6, 8; 48:7; 50:5, 11; 52:17; 53:10; 55:3, 4; 56:4, 6; 82:19; 84:9, 12; 94:16, 24; 95:24:99:11:117:11; 121:14; 124:14; 144:17; 145:1 markets 55:14 marketshares 59:1 Marks 33:8; 34:18 Mason 33:14: 34:17 mass 35:20; 122:1 massive 35:24 Match 36:6; 39:2, 12, 13, 16, 17; 41:18, 23; 44:7, 21; 45:15; 46:21, 21; 48:17; 56:7 matched 19:16, 16 matching 25:21; 40:7; 41:2, 4 material 8:15; 24:16; 43:5; 89:9; 107:23; 108:23 matter 1:13, 15; 21:23; 38:4; 56:25; 100:17; 106:22, 22; 109:22; 114:17, 23; 130:6; 136:15; 137:9 mattered 110:24 matters 6:6; 7:1; 8:1. 7; 13:2; 92:19; 114:20; 124:19 matures 70:6 maximum 146:24 May 1:5, 15, 20; 2:25; 3:14, 19, 21; 6:17, 17,

manage 34:6, 23;

19; 9:3, 7, 21; 10:6, 24; 21, 21; 127:16, 19, 20; 31:20; 37:7, 25; 52:20; most 51:21; 57:8; 11:11, 17, 24; 12:1, 8, 12, 15, 17, 21, 25; 13:10; 14:3, 9, 20, 22; 16:10; 17:6, 11; 18:2, 3, 3, 5, 10, 11, 12, 16; 19:13; 20:16, 25; 21:24; 22:11; 23:23; 27:4: 28:22: 30:25; 31:2, 19; 32:21; 36:25; 38:7: 42:11, 15; 43:7; 46:13; 49:25; 50:9; 51:15, 17; 54:8; 58:3; 59:2, 2, 12, 20; 60:6, 19; 64:1; 65:20; 67:5, 12, 13, 16, 24; 68:1, 11; 71:25; 75:24; 77:6; 79:15; 80:13; 81:21; 82:3, 21; 83:24, 25; 84:8, 10, 11; 85:10; 86:13, 19; 87:12; 88:4; 89:15, 22; 90:6, 11, 18, memo 56:8 19, 21; 91:15, 18; 93:4, memorandum 10; 95:3, 4; 96:8; 98:7, 8; 99:14; 100:11, 13, 14, 19; 101:4, 5; 103:21; 104:3; 105:12. 16, 20, 21; 106:1; 107:17; 109:11, 14, 14, 20, 110:1, 111:11, 22; 114:3, 7, 18, 22; 115:4; 117:1, 3, 23; 118:15, 15; 119:23; 120:15; 123:13; 125:20; 129:7; 130:12; 135:20; 136:20; 137:11; 138:8, 20; 139:13, 16; 140:11; 141:7; 142:19 May/June/July 100:11 Maybe 58:13; 99:19; 114:8, 9; 128:10 McMahon 96:7, 9, 23; 97:11; 98:16; 100:4, 5; 101:3, 6; 103:12, 14; 116:20:119:5 McMahon's 97:9, 10. 17; 99:9, 10; 103:14, 25 mean 15:4: 33:7: 70:9; 130:5; 133:17; 136:3 means 13:25; 26:2; 49:12; 98:3; 102:2; 113:10; 123:11; 129:22; 140:19; 145:2 meant 14:4; 35:13; 57:14:109:19 Meantime 136:23 mechanic 73:5; 101:19 mechanical 145:21 mechanics 111:2 medium 70:20; 73:3 medium-term 122:23 meet 71:10; 73:19; 126:8 meeting 37:13; 38:6, 8, 19; 52:7; 66:25; 75:5; 88:4, 9, 11, 12; 89:15; 90:4, 17; 91:20; 98:20; 100:19; 101:3; 116:20; 126:13, 18,

132:9 meetings 20:4; 38:19; 66:20; 89:12; 100:5:130:8 Mega 36:6; 39:2, 12, 13, 16, 17; 41:18, 23: 44:7, 21; 45:15; 46:21, 21; 48:17; 56:7 Megamatch 19:24; 30:12; 88:14; 89:5; 90:1.9:92:5,7; 111:21; 112:7, 8, 10, 12, 15, 23; 114:16; 115:10, 12, 16; 116:3, 7, 12, 13, 21 member 81:1; 98:25; 103:16:123:5 members 27:12; 83:10;96:24;104:22 128:12 memory 68:8; 107:12; 110:8 memory/function 68:9 men 88:22; 93:13; 96:5, 5; 123:14 mental 20:19 mention 45:7;94:19; 95:24; 132:22 mentioned 46:20, 22; 49:8; 56:8; 94:16, 25; 95:11; 99:12; 105:15; 123:14 merchandise 50:16 merchanise 75:21 merchant 77:17 merely 35:22; 125:13; 142:2 merit 93:8; 95:8 Merry 133:5,6 mess 61:10.13 message 54:13; 86:21 messed 103:8 met 38:20; 76:1; 84:8; 87:25; 94:3; 110:18; 126:11 method 56:17, 17 Mex 54:3 mid 39:21 middleman 78:10 might 8:8; 22:13; 24:11; 43:15; 44:8; 45:6; 49:22; 51:3; 59:13, 25; 77:14, 15; 86:15; 105:3; 107:21; 121:15; 136:13; 147:6 mileage 115:14, 18; 121:12 Miles 33:3, 4, 6, 6; 34:9; 49:8; 55:7; 121:16, 17, 18, 19; 122:1, 6, 8, 19; 123:5, 21, 24; 124:2 million 121:10; 122:21 mind 8:4; 18:5, 7; 19:21; 22:20; 26:23;

60:5; 61:19; 66:17, 19; 87:13; 96:7; 97:8; 117:1; 120:14, 15; 128:24; 143:15 minds 86:22; 100:15; 111:7; 125:21 mine 70:2; 141:18 minimise 27:8 minor 46:14: 49:3 minority 123:22 minute 20:7; 133:16 minuted 100:20; 121:1; 127:3; 137:21 minutes 3:1; 6:2; 89:13, 16, 18; 146:24 minuting 141:10 miracles 9:1 misfortune 139:19, 21 missed 6:2 missing 138:12 mistake 3:25 mistaken 11:7 misunderstanding 109:17; 128:10 misuse 23:25 misused 9:15 misusing 106:23 Mobil 23:4,7,8; 33:12:68:21:77:14; 102:16; 117:13 mobilise 33:24 modern 101:19 modus 81:14 moment 2:11; 5:8; 21:12; 29:16; 30:4; 50:9; 51:3; 59:2, 4; 64:9; 68:25; 77:8; 86:15; 94:13; 107:20; 109:3; 113:17; 128:11; 130:22, 23; 132:2; 139:1 moment's 20:21 Money 14:3; 16:16; 18:23; 19:12, 14, 19, 25; 28:8; 41:6; 51:13; 69:1; 140:18 monies 16:14 monitor 70:22 month 3:12; 75:17, 20; 101:1, 2 months 27:23; 40:15; 54:18; 143:1; 145:5 more 17:20; 25:13; 26:24; 30:16; 31:21; 41:3; 56:13; 60:1; 64:5; 65:25; 66:15; 70:8, 10; 71:5, 5; 75:24; 77:16; 80:17; 82:25; 89:7; 97:11; 101:19; 102:23; 122:6; 126:16; 129:11; 133:12; 141:18; 142:6; 146:14; 147:7 morning 2:16; 15:10; 45:4, 9; 81:20; 120:2; 147:5, 15 Moses 8:25

Day 1 June 15, 1999

68:8; 87:14; 92:9; 103:6; 115:15; 121:20; 98:1; 114:1, 13; 116:4; 123:2; 129:1; 146:18 motorists 29:3: 115:18.121.13 mount 15:14 mounted 40:20 move 14:14: 28:21; 41:17; 48:19; 65:14; 77:7:82:13; 101:13; 102:14:123:20; 138:11:139:13 moved 60:19 moves 104:3 moving 7:14; 39:5; 49:12; 61:19; 96:16; 100:3; 110:10; 137:13, 23 much 3:10; 6:20; 11:6; 21:20; 33:11; 43:10; 45:19; 65:22; 70:11, 19; 71:21; 72:5, 23, 24; 75:3; 77:20; 89:18; 109:22; 134:18; 135:18; 137:14; 141:4; 143:25; 146:17; 148:4 multi 40:6; 77:3.5 multibrand 25:24; 26:10; 41:2; 45:8, 11; 46:3, 23; 48:22; 52:25; 55:12; 56:1, 3, 8; 59:5; 64:3, 77:24, 89:4, 6, 24; 90:3; 92:1; 97:15; 116:13, 16, 23 multiconcept 49:5 multipartner 19:24; 134:13:143:2 multiple 68:9; 102:10; 117:25 multiples 26:11 multiply 81:25 multipurpose 53:1 must 4:22, 23; 71:8; 101:14; 113:5; 114:22; 133:17; 138:7 N name 39:13; 45:16; 79:16; 93:21; 94:24; 96:19:99:11:135:12 named 39:9 namely 90:9 naming 108:22 narrowed 119:4 National 13:22; 22:15; 26:13, 13; 29:6; 51:20; 85:4; 90:4; 99:17; 102:3; 121:17; 122:21 nationalrepresented 20:1 natural 90:5, 8; 129:10,14 nature 7:25; 8:18; 21:9; 52:21; 56:14, 14; 70:19; 72:22; 76:6; 82:17; 87:10; 126:2; 135:22

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

NatWest 33:2

near 26:13 nearest 75:11 nearly 40:15; 76:21 necessarily 7:3; 59:11: 109:11: 120:18; 141:22 necessary 14:22: 65:8; 80:13; 87:18; 107:16, 17; 109:10: 113:2; 115:2 need 5:10; 6:7; 7:9; 17:21; 22:25; 24:15; 26:25; 36:19: 41:8: 45:19; 46:6; 81:22; 87:8: 91:6; 128:17; 129:10; 131:2; 143:24 needed 136:11 needs 60:5; 71:10; 73:19; 81:7; 117:24; 119:2; 144:11, 14 negligent 129:10 negotiation 129:3; 133:19 negotiations 51:6 Neither 97:1, 2; 122:16:143:16 network 81:2; 104:16 new 11:17; 22:3; 41:5; 58:14; 70:10, 14; 72:7; 79:2, 15; 82:25; 84:13; objecting 114:6 90:4; 98:11; 99:22; 119:18, 21 next 3:1; 16:10; 18:18; 27:21; 29:5; 37:6; 57:8; 71:11; 101:12; 117:15: 132:25; 145:15 nibble 44:14 nice 55:11 Nimoy 46:8,9 Nobel 24:6 nobody 16:9; 21:13; 87:10 non-competing 31:8; 32:1; 35:20 non-competitive 26:12 - non-trite 9:22 noncompetitive 81:3 None 92:23, 23 normal 25:19; 41:4 normally 146:22 Norske 58:17 Northern 121:8 notably 103:6 note 19:14; 44:4; 48:4; 51:15; 63:3; 91:3, 5, 5, 7; 92:6; 99:5; 101:7; 110:16; 126:21; 127:20; 130:18; 131:11, 13, 14, 17, 23, 25; 132:3; 137:16, 17; 139:2 noted 92:11; 100:20 notes 89:17, 18, 23 notice 2:20; 4:11, 25; 106:17 notices 4:6, 14 notionally 6:10 Nottinghamshire

94:1 nove 21:13:97:14: 98:17 November 15:8: 38:21; 79:15; 125:24; 126:5, 8, 12; 129:24; 130:12; 131:20, 21; 136:20 nowadays 33:2 Noway 58:23 Nowhere 143:15 nth 6:22 nub 135:22 Nudge 113:23, 23 nuisances 13:12 number 1:13; 8:1; 17:7; 19:8; 20:4; 28.25; 34:20; 44:6; 89:10:91:10:100:4: 104:6; 110:14; 121:5, 21, 24; 124;4; 144;23 numbers 1:24: 31:12: 34:22 0 o'clock 80:2; 147:15 object 9:9 objection 94:20 objections 94:11 objective 58:25; 63:8. objectives 53:10; 63:7 obligation 11:3; 12:1, 4; 20:18; 86:10 obligations 14:18 observation 71:1 observed 27:22 observes 32:4 obsolete 70:7, 12 obvious 12:3; 101:22; 128:18 obviously 11:10; 12:23; 106:6; 131:23; 135:23 occasion 75:3 occasions 14:7: 89:11 occur 26:18 occurred 13:18; 37:25; 54:9; 60:14 occurs 41:21 October 36:10, 17; 37:12, 14; 38:19; 119:16, 19, 21; 120:21.25:121:2: 123:19; 132:14; 137:22, 25; 142:6, 14 odd 112:15, 19 off 78:1; 112:24; 115:6; 136:22 offence 137:6 offensive 7:12 offer 45:5: 70:13: 75:18; 78:18; 101:20; 121:19, 22; 123:24; 125:3; 145:2, 2

office 87:21; 88:3, 9; 138:11 officer 36:8 officers 36:24 offices 38:22; 112:1 often 13:8: 20:22: 31:24;99:15 Oil 15:8; 32:20; 54:2 on-line 142:15 onboard 111:14 Once 11:15; 21:2; 26:16:34:10:64:2; 133:16:144:12 one 1:21; 2:1; 3:20; 6:5, 22; 9:15; 11:12; 12:23; 13:11, 25; 14:12; 17:3, 9, 20; 19:1, 15; 20:6, 10, 14, 16; 21:21, 23; 22:2, 3, 10; 24:8, 9, 9, 11, 18, 21; 25:3; 26:16; 28:14, 17, 18; 30:22; 31:18; 32:5; 34:18; 37:2, 2, 19; 38:9; 43:9, 18; 46:2, 13; 49:20, 21; 56:12; 58:20; 59:2, 18; 60:4, 5; 63:1, 7, 24; 66:21; 67:1; 70:5; 73:22; 74:25; 75:24; 77:8, 16, 16, 23; 78:20, 23; 79:10; 82:20; 84:20; 87:4; 89:15; 90:23; 91:18; 93:2; 96:15; 98:11, 22; 99:3 4, 6, 9, 15, 16; 102:10; 104:19; 105:3, 10; 106:5; 108:7, 21; 109:7: 110:3: 113:6: 114:17; 115:17; 116:14; 117:3, 24; 119:18, 22; 120:6, 10; 124:20, 20; 125:13; 126:25; 127:12; 128:20; 129:2; 130:5, 22; 131:2, 3, 13; 134:18; 135:9, 9, 11; 137:23; 138:1, 15; 139:4, 15, 19; 140:10, 19; 141:6, 13; 142:22; 143:19, 23, 24; 144:17, 19; 145:6, 16, 17; 147:2, 23 one's 37:2 ones 63:18 only 2:22; 17:18; 19:9: 24:18: 29:18: 34:23; 35:1; 49:23; 53:2, 22; 56:6, 15; 59:14; 66:2, 10; 83:2; 86:8; 97:3; 98:20; 100:17; 102:6, 10; 105:7; 106:24; 116:12, 16; 117:22; 121:23; 122:2; 123:22; 129:10; 130:8; 131:13; 135:6, 8; 141:25 Onyx 61:23:62:19. 22; 64:22, 25; 65:25; 82:5, 5; 83:3; 85:16; 110:17; 116:18; 117:8; 122:10; 137:22 open 84:15; 114:13; 119:10; 141:4, 13 opened 3:22; 136:1

Opening 1:4; 87:9; 146:18; 149:1 operandi 81:14 operate 72:2 operated 28:3; 34:8; 125:16 operating 26:11; 49:13:75:16 operation 17:5; 36:5; 57:19 operations 35:23 opined 50:1 opinion 82:12 opportunities 121:2 opportunity 27:9; 45:7; 48:20; 67:3; 70:18.22 opposition 55:7 option 15:6, 12; 16:16; 17:12, 13, 16; 22:5; 53:21; 56:1; 57:5:83:1:87:4: 90:11:94:24:95:10, 12, 24; 102:19, 23; 103:1; 119:18, 22; 120:6, 10; 122:23; 124:13; 141:11, 13, 20; 142:6, 10; 143:23, 24; 144:17, 19; 145:6, 16,17 options 15:20, 25; 17:20; 49:7; 66:15; 101:9; 103:5; 119:10; 141:11, 12: 142:5, 13 oral 90:19:97:13; 118:10 onaily 79:19 order 7:7; 20:13, 20; 42:14; 124:10, 17, 18; 125:4, 12 ordinary 51:23; 129:1:137:4 organiser 104:17 organising 49:9; 78:13 orientated 85:19 oriented 121:12 original 19:21; 20:7; 27:17; 29:14 originality 9:18 originally 2:17; 139:7 originators 50:5, 11 OSI 23:20 Oslo 58:18 others 12:21; 19:8; 33:24; 67:2; 86:1; 142:2 otherwise 14:9; 17:25; 50:17; 67:14; 109:25 ought 1:21 ourselves 122:16 out 4:13, 14; 6:10, 20; 8:1; 11:5; 13:9, 18; 15:5; 25:7, 13, 21; 26:4, 21; 27:13; 28:25; 38:9; 43:4, 14; 45:11; 54:22; 55:1, 3, 10; 61:2; 63:9; 65:21; 68:13, 17; 73:24; 74:2; 76:21; 80:17; 85:15; 74:8, 17; 75:8; 80:15,

107:9, 10; 117:12, 25; 119:21; 122:5; 124:2; 134:17; 136:6, 11, 16; 144:13; 145:15 outcome 5:2 outlets 53:18; 71:7; 124:9 outline 1:19; 7:23; 9:10; 11:1; 92:2 outlined 66:1 outrageous 113:9 outstanding 16:14 over 7:7: 8:12; 11:16, 25; 12:16; 17:1; 24:1, 20; 29:5; 30:8; 33:12, 13; 40:2, 6; 44:17; 45:21; 46:16, 18; 61:19; 63:25; 70:5; 71:18; 73:10; 90:21; 107:10: 115:13: 122:8: 130:16; 132:9, 23 overlapping 114:1 oversimplification 31:3 own 18:6; 35:3; 49:14 58:11:78:7:83:11; 92:6; 99:7, 20; 125:14; 128:24; 130:9 owning 98:23 Р package 9:21, 21; 10:12, 15, 15; 11:16; 12:18; 144:10 packages 10:7 page 1:20, 24, 25; 15:4; 18:21; 20:9; 25:6; 26:5, 7, 9, 20; 27:3, 13; 28:10; 30:24; 36:5: 38:25: 39:3: 40:2, 6; 42:5, 9; 43:22; 44:22; 45:22; 46:4; 53:25; 57:17, 20; 58:16:61:21:62:22: 63:3, 10; 65:17; 67:5; 71:11; 72:16; 73:10, 23; 74:8, 17; 75:13, 15; 76:18, 21; 79:21; 80:15; 82:6, 9; 84:20; 89:20, 21; 91:19, 19, 21; 97:25; 104:8; 111:12; 117:9, 25; 122:9; 123:16, 21; 131:6; 138:25 pages 1:19; 25:20; 49:4; 71:19; 136:2 paid 8:10; 41:1 paintwork 146:9 palming 69:1 Pandora's 136:2 paper 73:7, 13; 117:14; 124:8; 146:2, papers 34:11;97:5; 140:8 paragraph 2:2, 2, 4, 6; 3:18, 19; 25:6, 15; 40:7; 57:22; 72:16, 25;

89:23; 101:11; 102:3; 21; 82:9, 10, 16; 87:17, 22; 89:1, 2; 93:6; 97:16, 21; 101:12; 102:17; 104:8; 110:12; 116:10; 122:9, 11; 126:19; 127:13, 24; 128:15; 132:6; 144:6; 145:10, 14: 146:13 paragraphs 88:24: 97:17 parallel 9:4 pardon 1:23; 69:22 part 9:5; 86:14: 94:23; 95:23, 25; 98:25; 114:14; 119:15; 124:5 part-owner 99:1 participants 103:1; 115:23 participate 81:1; 98:24:145:18 participating 26:14; 115:20 participation 41:4 particular 1:15: 10:11: 13:24: 14:2: 22:18; 25:21; 27:10; 33:25; 44:7, 22; 57:4; 89:9; 118:23 particularly 8:7: 47:6; 56:25; 62:17 parties 15:16; 73:14, 15, 18; 76:5; 83:2; 102:14; 103:6, 11, 19; 117:1, 19, 20; 118:16; 142:9; 144:24; 145:3 partly 100:16, 17 partner 34:4; 40:11, 25; 41:23; 43:20, 20; 49:9, 13; 52:13; 53:24; 54:14; 78:13; 121:5; 128:23; 129:3, 3; 141:20, 22; 142:8, 11, 15; 143:5, 6, 7, 8, 9 partners 20:5; 27:2; 33:21; 34:1; 35:2; 40:17; 41:9; 49:16, 18; 52:20; 53:10; 76:14; 78:14; 81:3, 11; 92:1; 98:20; 99:2, 2; 104:20, 20, 24, 25; 105:2; 116:5, 12, 15; 118:24; 120:16, 17, 25; 125:17: 142:1.2: 143:3; 144:25; 145:5, 20 partnership 77:5, 13; 78:9; 81:10; 83:10; 85:8; 98:18; 104:17; 118:24; 121:14; 130:3 partnerships 117:20 parts 8:2 party 34:8; 45:14; 64:8; 76:20; 77:2; 78:8, 14; 81:20; 83:7; 102:9; 103:15; 108:7; 116:21; 117:18; 120:4; 125:10, 15 passage 57:21; 117:10 passages 6:9 passing 13:8; 90:11; 133:13; 141:18

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®

Day 1 June 15, 1999

Snell UK Ltd					June 15, 1999
past 7:2; 17:19;	picked 86:20, 21	policy 29:4; 51:5;	72:6; 73:22; 74:5,6;	23:1; 25:6; 26:7; 27:7,	126:1; 133:7; 144:7
				22; 39:9, 10, 11; 40:16,	propose 28:21;
	proming Jane		82:7; 83:6; 91:24;	17; 45:16; 49:8; 50:7,	40:20; 73:25; 75:10;
1267 16	Pioturo Conta	poor 107:12		13; 55:2, 20; 57:5;	87:11; 93:20; 138:16
	Piece > 5.201 > 2.201	popular 19:20		61:21, 23; 62:19, 22;	proposed 25:15;
		position 2:21; 23:11,		64:3, 22, 23, 25; 65:2;	26:10; 27:12; 40:11;
		12; 53:23; 61:1; 65:14;	presenteu 25.7, 50.7,	66:2, 17; 67:17; 83:3; 85:9, 16, 16; 94:17;	52:24; 55:6; 62:15;
B	pinpoint 74:6; 84:3	75:17; 78:16; 84:25;	18, 49.5, /0.19, 20,	101:22; 110:17;	79:14; 80:18; 81:10,
26.10. 52.4. 54.1 1 4.	Pirret 141:7	88:8; 100:3; 109:3;	80:19, 22, 151.22	111:16, 18; 116:22;	11; 103:2
121.22	place 60:23; 70:7, 9;	114:18; 122:20; 132:7;	preservation 118:9,	117:8; 118:13; 122:9;	proposing 26:22;
Dates (0-25-50-0-	90:9; 104:16; 107:10	142:17	11	125:2; 133:24; 135:15;	47:7
59.2 4.64.14:77:8:	placed 35:1; 75:19	positioning 121:6	preserving 139:18	137:22; 141:12;	proposition 22:2;
132:2	placement 41:16	positive 80:25	presumably 39:21	143:13, 14; 146:2	39:8, 16; 46:17
	places 31:4	possessed 90:11	pretty 66:4; 76:21;	projects 17:2, 8; 23:2;	proprietary 50:15
pay 78:6	plain 91:18; 100:10;	possibilities 26:22;	100:12; 115:12	27:5: 51:25: 65:4:	prospect 133:10
payments 50:18	104:13; 119:23	53:7	previous 88:1	113:25	protect 23:16, 16
neene 1/5-12	plainly 15:21; 27:18;	possibility 39:2;	pride 145:12	promiscuous 32:6	protected 20:17
peeps 143.12 pencil 6:12	61:17, 19, 64:5;	42:21; 45:12; 46:23;	principle 52:9; 65:6;	promise 42:15; 57:4;	protesting 96:16
1.0.10.00.17	111:17	52:6; 115:3	116:2; 145:4	147:4	proved 55:15
people 8:13; 22:17;	plaintiff 47:23	possible 45:20; 53:8;	print 145:11	promoter 33:18	proven 144:18
29:11; 32:14; 35:1; 107:9; 108:6; 123:23	plaintiff's 113:7	58:24; 60:5; 70:24;	printed 19:3	promoting 74:10, 21;	provide 27:9; 53:3;
	plaintiffs 47:23; 48:2;	84:17; 106:10, 13;	prior 8:4	75:12	70:15,22
people's 23:2	61:22	107:7; 110:16; 112:25; 115:22; 116:18;	priorities 73:11;	promotion 14:2;	provided 7:16;
per 54:10; 92:4;	plan 97:14; 102:3, 4;	139:14; 142:13, 16	82:16	15:6, 14; 16:24; 19:6;	118:11
121:9, 11, 20	103:2, 9; 145:1, 1	possibly 49:11;	priority 76:4	23:5; 26:10; 27:4; 40:20; 44:9; 46:10, 15;	provider 80:23
> serceived 34:4, 5; 39:7; 79:13; 101:21,	plans 86:11; 103:10	77:22; 106:5; 121:20;	prisoners 135:19, 20;	40:20, 44:9, 40:10, 15,	provides 54:23;
24; 107:21; 109:20;	plastic 52:25	129:10; 141:8	137:12	17; 52:6; 58:23; 73:11;	76:24
	play 96:20	postdates 82:6	private 58:24	101:14; 115:20;	providing 16:15;
perceives 37:5;	played 20:3; 26:5	postulating 78:12	prize 40:23; 41:9;	117:17, 20, 20, 21;	27:16; 31:8; 118:6
69:14	player 136:4	potential 20:5; 40:16;		121:23; 122:2, 13, 21;	proviso 109:13
perception 30:3;	playing 18:25; 19:25	42:8; 52:20; 68:6;	128:22; 132:16	123:6; 124:7; 125:18;	public 23:17; 34:25;
34:25; 83:13	plays 5:10	91:25; 97:14; 98:20;	prizes 24:7; 39:22;	128:8, 23; 130:3;	122:7
perfectly 16:1; 66:14;	Plc 44:24	104:6; 110:14; 120:25;	61:15, 16	133:10; 145:21	Publicity 76:25
90:5; 133:17	pleadings 7:20; 11:1;	129:3	probabilities 111:9	promotional 15:6; 19:23; 27:5; 32:2;	published 81:24
performance 118:7	43:4; 61:24; 128:2;	power 4:10; 27:7;	probable 84:5	35:20; 39:20; 41:13;	pull 115:22 performed 9:3;	143:5	72:1; 76:1, 17, 19, 24;	probably 5:21; 7:24;	44:12, 21; 45:2, 12, 20, 115:12	please 1:5; 42:24;	77:2; 78:6; 79:1, 8, 18	19:18; 23:20; 68:5;	23; 48:19; 49:17, 24;	punching 35:10
perhaps 12:21;	65:16; 93:5, 7	powerful 33:22; 124:13	102:20; 106:21;	51:5; 52:21; 53:3;	purchase 49:19;
31:22; 32:7; 36:19; 49:7; 52:23; 56:17, 25;	plenty 147:16	Powerpoints 80:11,	129:16; 141:19	58:21; 63:12, 13;	68:14; 70:17
57:21; 58:12; 62:9;	plus 49:11, 50:16,	18, 19; 81:1; 102:17,	problem 22:19, 20;	64:20; 67:14; 70:23;	purchases 34:19
66:25:90:13	92:3	19. 23. 24: 103:4:	29:1; 30:9; 60:21; 61:1	71:16; 73:3; 75:12; 82:17; 85:8, 8; 100:25;	purchasing 27:7;
period 15:13; 39:20,	pm 80:9; 88:16; 97:18;	104:15, 16; 105:13;	problems 29:22; 30:15; 58:3; 60:9;	101:6, 19; 117:25;	35:8
23, 25; 40:3, 4; 65:22;	104:10; 110:9; 119:1;	144:7, 10	61:14, 16, 20; 65:13;	118:1; 120:9; 121:2, 4;	purely 45:11
83:15, 15; 125:25	148:5	PR 144:20	106:6; 121:7	122:7; 144:19, 24;	purpose 24:16;
	pockets 69:2	practicability 111:5	proceed 4:22, 22	145:4, 20	67:11;94:19;105:1;
	point 6:16; 10:1;	practical 71:2	proceedings 25:5	promotions 13:16,	113:20: 114:4, 11, 12
	11:13; 16:4; 17:21; 18:16; 23:14; 25:22;	practice 88:2	proceeds 37:5; 49:8	20, 21, 23; 15:19; 16:3;	purposes 6:24; 59:17
	31:15; 42:1; 43:8, 13;	practices 96:17	process 20:19:	19:2; 24:7; 29:7, 13,	pursue 103:4
	49:20, 21; 56:24; 58:5;	precedent 17:19	25:16; 53:2; 119:15	23, 25; 51:20, 22; 52:3;	pursuing 52:11;
Barrow and the second sec		precedes 131:3	produce 20:13, 20;	54:2: 57:10: 61:12;	102:18, 22; 103:8;
	17; 72:4, 4, 12; 74:23;	precise 16:24	21:15; 64:17; 84:18;	62:2, 17; 73:7, 12; 74:25; 79:16; 82:13,	144:8
	78:8, 8; 79:1; 80:10;	precisely 83:24;	144:25	14: 83:17: 84:13: 85:4;	push 108:15
	81:8; 83:14, 16; 86:19;	134:1	produced 30:21;	88:1; 90:5; 99:17;	put 3:24; 4:1, 12, 18;
	94:22; 102:1; 108:11; 112:14; 113:18; 115:8;	predecessor 28:1	90:24; 110:16	101:18; 102:3; 109:18;	8:18; 9:11; 10:8; 11:5;
persons 110:25;	TTTTT A TT J. TO T T J. Of	preferred 52:13;	producing 16:15	116:4; 117:14; 118:1;	13:24; 17:2, 7, 22;
145:20	122:18; 146:10, 12;	99:13	product 20:23; 26:25	126:3; 136:24; 137:1;	21:20; 22:2, 8; 25:19, perspective 37:1, 2	148:1	preliminaries 1:13	products 27:16;	145:17, 18	23; 26:2; 28:2; 31:22; 35:11; 36:4; 37:4, 7, persuade 24:5, 23;	points 29:2; 31:5, 8,	premature 86:14	63:11	promotor 141:22;	12; 38:24; 42:6; 43:9;
62:10	10, 11, 13, 17; 32:24;	Premier 68:22	professional 129:2	142:8	44:9, 21; 45:22; 47:2;
	48:14; 50:20; 62:2, 18;	premium 27:5, 10	Professor 49:25	promotors 141:20;	54:17; 55:7; 58:8;
	63:9, 15; 68:22; 69:25;	prepare 4:23	profile 121:11	142:11, 15	59:25; 61:10; 62:24;
	73:8; 76:1, 17, 20, 24; 77:2; 78:6; 79:8; 83:8;	prepared 1:25; 4:18;	Programme 48:22;	proper 14:15	69:19; 71:2; 81:16;
Fener 21.11 201, 12, 1	1 / / / / A'D' / Y'A' XA'X'		49:15; 53:19; 59:22;	proposal 8:18; 21:10; 42:25; 49:5; 54:17, 22;	84:7; 91:13; 92:20, 25;
13; 35:9; 52:21; 121:9		47:18		a / / 1 / / / 1 / / / / / / / / / / / /	94.20.94.3.96:12:
13; 35:9; 52:21; 121:9 Pharaoh 8:25:9:1	89:23; 102:7, 7, 11;	47:18 present 36:16: 37:16	112:4	55.74.64.0.75.2.
13; 35:9; 52:21; 121:9 Pharaoh 8:25; 9:1 phase 27:21	89:23; 102:7, 7, 11; 104:11; 105:4; 117:18,	present 36:16; 37:16,	112:4	55:24; 64:9; 75:3;	98:17; 104:12, 21;
13; 35:9; 52:21; 121:9 Pharaoh 8:25; 9:1 phase 27:21	89:23; 102:7, 7, 11; 104:11; 105:4; 117:18, 19; 122:14, 14; 123:7;	present 36:16; 37:16, 18, 18; 38:6; 67:3;		55:24; 64:9; 75:3; 92:2; 107:9; 131:22; 144:10	98:17; 104:12, 21; 105:19; 106:10, 15;
13; 35:9; 52:21; 121:9 Pharaoh 8:25; 9:1 phase 27:21 Philip 1:8	89:23; 102:7, 7, 11; 104:11; 105:4; 117:18, 19; 122:14, 14; 123:7; 124:6, 7, 23; 141:21,	present 36:16; 37:16,	112:4 programmes 27:6;	55:24; 64:9; 75:3; 92:2; 107:9; 131:22;	98:17; 104:12, 21; 105:19; 106:10, 15; 107:13; 109:6; 112:3;

Smith Bernal Rep.(0171-404 1400)

Min-U-Script®