

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

1219

SMOKING OUT A PSYCHIC BID

All expert players recognize that the redouble of a negative double in no way affects the duties of the doubler's partner. He should respond in exactly the same manner that he would have responded had the redouble not intervened.

East, Dealer East and West vulnerable

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

MISS JANET RITSON OF FALMOUTH DIES.

(From our Correspondent.) FALMOUTH, Nov. 2.—Another of our aged and respected citizens Miss Janet Ritson, died on Tuesday night after a protracted illness.

The late Miss Ritson was of a quiet and retiring disposition, a trait which won for her the esteem of not only those who enjoyed her friendship but all who came into contact with her.

The funeral took place yesterday. The Rev. E. L. Waite of the Presbyterian Church officiated at the service which was held at the Rock, where Miss Ritson had been living for some time.

Among those who attended the funeral were Dr. and Mrs. I. H.

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

The Second World War

By Johannes Steel

Instalment Four.

IT WAS TRUE that employment had increased in certain industries which were directly or indirectly profiting from the armament budget, which had been raised by 600,000,000 marks that year, but this increase of employment, significantly enough, was accompanied by a fall in the total of the pay roll expended by these industries.

For example, the Krupp works, employed 43,409 people in 1933, as compared with 35,647 in 1932. In spite of which this firm's pay roll decreased from 69,000,000 marks in 1932 to 67,000,000 marks in 1933; or in other words, the average income of the workers sank from 1,932 to 1,543 marks a year.

West has a close choice since from the point of view of general strength his negative double was slim, but if East can make a business pass of the double, then obviously East and West hold the majority of the clubs and a really lucrative penalty is in the offing.

West opened the club King. The details of what followed need not detain us. The unhappy declarer might have cashed four top tricks, but he was not quick enough to collect only two of his Aces before his trumps were extracted and the diamond suit run down. The penalty for the psychic bid was thus 2000 points.

TOMORROW'S HAND

West, Dealer Both sides vulnerable

East, Dealer East and West vulnerable

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

Copyright 1934, Ely Culbertson

Mr. Culbertson will be very glad to answer questions on bridge in a column in this newspaper.

In spite of the fact that the external value of the Reichsmark had been reduced by 30 per cent. in order to enable Germany's export industries to do some effective dumping, the German trade balance was in January 1934 passive for the first time in four years. The deficit amounted to 5,500,000 dollars and had increased by the first of March to 8,750,000 dollars. It was not likely that the Government's further restriction of imports would affect Germany's trade balance substantially in the face of the continuous decline of her exports.

France had already reduced her purchases by four hundred million marks the year before and was continuing to apply strict quotas, while Finland and Scandinavia reduced their imports from Germany during 1933 by sixty and forty-one million marks, respectively.

(1) Prices had risen and wages had fallen; the national income had been reduced and the living standard of all wage earners had been lowered.

(2) As a result of the curtailment of the social services, there were 20 per cent. more suicides and a marked decline of national health and general welfare of the people.

(3) There was a slightly increased employment and a vastly decreased consumption of all vital foodstuffs and household goods. Fantastically increased profits for the big producers and decreased purchasing power of the consumer, as well as continued proletarianism of a large section of the populace.

(4) An export trade that had dwindled to nothing. A budget that was dishonest and unintelligible. A currency that was not safe and a credit that was nil.

By the first of August, 1934, the German money market had been congested by the issuance of a total of 2.3 billion marks or government bills which were spent in support of the dumping efforts of the German export industries for the creation of work and armaments. Apparently, as far as the Nazi economists are concerned, there seems to be no limit to these "wonder bills." But it must be kept in mind that it is impossible for Germany to buy the raw material she needs so badly with the scrip.

Further dumping efforts on the part of the German heavy industries, supported by government subsidies and invisible exports, will inevitably force England and France and later also the United States into retaliation a development which in itself contains many imponderables conducive to political incidents. The more difficult it is for Germany to sell abroad in order to procure foreign exchange with which to pay for raw material, the sooner she will be forced into an aggressive policy to bring about the creation of an economic unit of Middle Europe, which will give her sovereignty and access to the raw material sources she needs.

The very moment Germany begins to devalue the mark, which is absolutely unavoidable, it probably means the end of the gold standard in France, Holland, and Switzerland, where deflation has reached its utmost limit.

Such a development will be the signal for an onslaught upon markets by the respective industries of all industrial nations of Europe, an onslaught which will quickly find military expression.

Holland and Belgium will probably not be able to maintain the gold standard beyond January, 1935, with the result that France and Switzerland will immediately have to follow.

Once the international dumping race has started, there can be only one end, and that is the transformation of the economic war into a military war. While it is quite possible that further loans and barter agreements will save Germany from a total economic collapse, eventually Germany will have to expand territorially or abandon her autarchic policies. This would mean the end of a capitalist Germany and necessitate a form of state capitalism as the only means of keeping the German economic machine going.

International banking circles are fully aware of such a possibility and are doing all they can to prevent its development.

For example, immediately after Montagu Norman's July visit to the United States a concerted drive began in Washington to grant, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, credits for German raw material purchases. This came on the heels of the Anglo-German agreement, which was concluded during the third week of July 1934 resulting from the pressure of the Manchester spinners upon the British Foreign Office.

The German Government into a relaxation of the exchange regulations for German imports from England. This, in turn, culminated in the appointment of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as supreme economic dictator of Germany. All these manoeuvres, however, can only bring temporary relief and cannot prevent the place of continental expansion for Germany, which would give her industries unhampered access to ample raw material sources.

Thus, for example, the Nazi drive to co-ordinate Austria with Germany is not an end in itself. It is but an initial step in the realization of German aims of a self-contained Reich stretching from the Baltic to the Adriatic. Only a Third Reich of these territorial dimensions would make Germany independent of the world for all vital raw material sources.

Mussolini, however much he may dislike the idea of an aggressive Germany with a population of seventy million people as a neighbour of Italy, cannot successfully prevent it but by war. He has played his cards badly and lost much prestige. In the early days of the Hitler dictatorship, Goering, Goebbels and others among Hitler's collaborators made several trips to Rome with the double purpose of obtaining advice on matters of government and of using the good offices of Mussolini to placate world opinion, which was shocked and bewildered at the development in Germany.

Mussolini hoped that in return he might succeed in diverting Nazi foreign policy into channels which would lead to Italy. In this he has failed completely, and Italian troops will march into Austria when its co-ordination with Germany takes place.

In addition, Mussolini will have to consider the Austro-German minority in the Southern Tyrol comprising 250,000 people who will soon become articulate in any case. Italy's efforts are now directed to the formation of an Italo-Austro-Hungarian bloc, with an eventual re-orientation of the Hapsburgs and the creation of an economic union in view. Since the realization of such a plan would drive an effective wedge into the French system of alliances, it will encounter the immediate hostility of France and her satellites, of Yugoslavia in particular.

Thus it became clear that the co-ordination of Austria is but a single point in the Nazi programme, and while Italy and France are crying over spilled milk, the Nazis are actively going ahead with the execution of their expansionist plans. These plans are not new; Nazi foreign policy as a whole is based upon the plans of Alfred Rosenberg, now the head of the Foreign Office of the National Socialist Party.

As far back as 1926, Rosenberg, through his secretary, Dr. George Bell, a Scotchman naturalized in Germany, established contact with Sir Henri Deterding, the British oil magnate. He informed Sir Henri of the foreign political programme which the National Socialists intended to pursue when they achieved power. He also informed him that a Polish-Czech understanding in regard to the Polish Corridor would be possible under Hitler if Poland would allow Germany a free hand in the Baltic. In return, Germany would actively support any Polish attempt to regain the Ukraine, which had belonged to Poland in the days of the old kingdom.

Sir Henri, as well as the directors of the Lena Goldfield, who for a long time had been advocating foreign action against the U.S.S.R., saw great possibilities in this plan, and from that day on Deterding supplied the Nazis with money. (To be continued)

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew Annual Convention, Old Capital.

This afternoon sees the return of one of our past glories of the ancient capital, with all its splendour—the Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

This is the 37th annual convention, is scheduled to begin at 3.45 p.m. in the Cathedral Church Hall, where the delegates attending will be welcomed by Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly, Rector of the Cathedral. The Conferences will be held throughout the day to-morrow, and the anniversary service which will be held to-night in the Cathedral, promises to be a big affair.

There is to be a grand procession of the Clergy, Lay Readers and Catechists, and Brotherhood men and boys from the Church Hall, into the sacred edifice, where special music will be sung by the choir. All Clergymen attending are invited to robe. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

The many chapters that have registered to attend, is an indication of the success of this year's convention. The General Secretary and Treasurer are both busy enrolling delegates and the folk in Spanish Town who are making the necessary provisions here had to get helpers. The general subject of the Convention is "Some of our needs," and the papers to be read will be very inspiring and helpful.

There is to be presented to the Hon. W. M. Fraser, I.S.O. an address, which has been illuminated by Miss Foster Davis, in appreciation of the honour conferred on him by His Majesty the King. This will take place to-morrow afternoon.

As is customary, the Brothers will assemble outside the Cathedral after the Corporate Communion service, to-morrow morning to be photographed.

The Railway authorities have again granted the special concession to the members travelling by rail. On the whole a bright time is anticipated.

THE PROGRAMME. Thursday, 8th November. 3.45 p.m. The Cathedral Church Hall, Spanish Town. 1. Address of Welcome: Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly. 2. Reply. 3. Tea. 4.15 p.m. 1st Business Meeting. 1. Opening prayers: Rev. W. L. Brown. 2. Welcome to President: Bro. B. Magnus. 3. Appointment of Convention Officers: (1) Secretary; (2) Assistant Secretary. 4. Remembrance of the Departed. 5. Apologies for absence. 6. Letters of greeting. 7. Report on last Convention. 8. Council Report. 9. Discussion of Report. 10. Suggestion of Date and place for 1935 Convention. 11. Nominations to Council. 12. Notices of motion and question. 5.30 p.m. Dinner. 7.00 p.m. Anniversary service in the Cathedral. Preacher: Ven. Archdeacon J. L. Ramsay, M.A. 8.30 p.m. 2nd. Business Meeting. 1. Election to Council.

As far back as 1926, Rosenberg, through his secretary, Dr. George Bell, a Scotchman naturalized in Germany, established contact with Sir Henri Deterding, the British oil magnate. He informed Sir Henri of the foreign political programme which the National Socialists intended to pursue when they achieved power. He also informed him that a Polish-Czech understanding in regard to the Polish Corridor would be possible under Hitler if Poland would allow Germany a free hand in the Baltic. In return, Germany would actively support any Polish attempt to regain the Ukraine, which had belonged to Poland in the days of the old kingdom.

Sir Henri, as well as the directors of the Lena Goldfield, who for a long time had been advocating foreign action against the U.S.S.R., saw great possibilities in this plan, and from that day on Deterding supplied the Nazis with money. (To be continued)

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew Annual Convention, Old Capital.

This afternoon sees the return of one of our past glories of the ancient capital, with all its splendour—the Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

This is the 37th annual convention, is scheduled to begin at 3.45 p.m. in the Cathedral Church Hall, where the delegates attending will be welcomed by Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly, Rector of the Cathedral. The Conferences will be held throughout the day to-morrow, and the anniversary service which will be held to-night in the Cathedral, promises to be a big affair.

There is to be a grand procession of the Clergy, Lay Readers and Catechists, and Brotherhood men and boys from the Church Hall, into the sacred edifice, where special music will be sung by the choir. All Clergymen attending are invited to robe. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

The many chapters that have registered to attend, is an indication of the success of this year's convention. The General Secretary and Treasurer are both busy enrolling delegates and the folk in Spanish Town who are making the necessary provisions here had to get helpers. The general subject of the Convention is "Some of our needs," and the papers to be read will be very inspiring and helpful.

There is to be presented to the Hon. W. M. Fraser, I.S.O. an address, which has been illuminated by Miss Foster Davis, in appreciation of the honour conferred on him by His Majesty the King. This will take place to-morrow afternoon.

As is customary, the Brothers will assemble outside the Cathedral after the Corporate Communion service, to-morrow morning to be photographed.

The Railway authorities have again granted the special concession to the members travelling by rail. On the whole a bright time is anticipated.

THE PROGRAMME. Thursday, 8th November. 3.45 p.m. The Cathedral Church Hall, Spanish Town. 1. Address of Welcome: Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly. 2. Reply. 3. Tea. 4.15 p.m. 1st Business Meeting. 1. Opening prayers: Rev. W. L. Brown. 2. Welcome to President: Bro. B. Magnus. 3. Appointment of Convention Officers: (1) Secretary; (2) Assistant Secretary. 4. Remembrance of the Departed. 5. Apologies for absence. 6. Letters of greeting. 7. Report on last Convention. 8. Council Report. 9. Discussion of Report. 10. Suggestion of Date and place for 1935 Convention. 11. Nominations to Council. 12. Notices of motion and question. 5.30 p.m. Dinner. 7.00 p.m. Anniversary service in the Cathedral. Preacher: Ven. Archdeacon J. L. Ramsay, M.A. 8.30 p.m. 2nd. Business Meeting. 1. Election to Council.

As far back as 1926, Rosenberg, through his secretary, Dr. George Bell, a Scotchman naturalized in Germany, established contact with Sir Henri Deterding, the British oil magnate. He informed Sir Henri of the foreign political programme which the National Socialists intended to pursue when they achieved power. He also informed him that a Polish-Czech understanding in regard to the Polish Corridor would be possible under Hitler if Poland would allow Germany a free hand in the Baltic. In return, Germany would actively support any Polish attempt to regain the Ukraine, which had belonged to Poland in the days of the old kingdom.

Sir Henri, as well as the directors of the Lena Goldfield, who for a long time had been advocating foreign action against the U.S.S.R., saw great possibilities in this plan, and from that day on Deterding supplied the Nazis with money. (To be continued)

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew Annual Convention, Old Capital.

This afternoon sees the return of one of our past glories of the ancient capital, with all its splendour—the Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

This is the 37th annual convention, is scheduled to begin at 3.45 p.m. in the Cathedral Church Hall, where the delegates attending will be welcomed by Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly, Rector of the Cathedral. The Conferences will be held throughout the day to-morrow, and the anniversary service which will be held to-night in the Cathedral, promises to be a big affair.

There is to be a grand procession of the Clergy, Lay Readers and Catechists, and Brotherhood men and boys from the Church Hall, into the sacred edifice, where special music will be sung by the choir. All Clergymen attending are invited to robe. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

The many chapters that have registered to attend, is an indication of the success of this year's convention. The General Secretary and Treasurer are both busy enrolling delegates and the folk in Spanish Town who are making the necessary provisions here had to get helpers. The general subject of the Convention is "Some of our needs," and the papers to be read will be very inspiring and helpful.

There is to be presented to the Hon. W. M. Fraser, I.S.O. an address, which has been illuminated by Miss Foster Davis, in appreciation of the honour conferred on him by His Majesty the King. This will take place to-morrow afternoon.

As is customary, the Brothers will assemble outside the Cathedral after the Corporate Communion service, to-morrow morning to be photographed.

The Railway authorities have again granted the special concession to the members travelling by rail. On the whole a bright time is anticipated.

THE PROGRAMME. Thursday, 8th November. 3.45 p.m. The Cathedral Church Hall, Spanish Town. 1. Address of Welcome: Rev. Canon F. J. Jolly. 2. Reply. 3. Tea. 4.15 p.m. 1st Business Meeting. 1. Opening prayers: Rev. W. L. Brown. 2. Welcome to President: Bro. B. Magnus. 3. Appointment of Convention Officers: (1) Secretary; (2) Assistant Secretary. 4. Remembrance of the Departed. 5. Apologies for absence. 6. Letters of greeting. 7. Report on last Convention. 8. Council Report. 9. Discussion of Report. 10. Suggestion of Date and place for 1935 Convention. 11. Nominations to Council. 12. Notices of motion and question. 5.30 p.m. Dinner. 7.00 p.m. Anniversary service in the Cathedral. Preacher: Ven. Archdeacon J. L. Ramsay, M.A. 8.30 p.m. 2nd. Business Meeting. 1. Election to Council.

As far back as 1926, Rosenberg, through his secretary, Dr. George Bell, a Scotchman naturalized in Germany, established contact with Sir Henri Deterding, the British oil magnate. He informed Sir Henri of the foreign political programme which the National Socialists intended to pursue when they achieved power. He also informed him that a Polish-Czech understanding in regard to the Polish Corridor would be possible under Hitler if Poland would allow Germany a free hand in the Baltic. In return, Germany would actively support any Polish attempt to regain the Ukraine, which had belonged to Poland in the days of the old kingdom.

Sir Henri, as well as the directors of the Lena Goldfield, who for a long time had been advocating foreign action against the U.S.S.R., saw great possibilities in this plan, and from that day on Deterding supplied the Nazis with money. (To be continued)

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew Annual Convention, Old Capital.

This afternoon sees the return of one of our past glories of the ancient capital, with all its splendour—the Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

TRINIDAD FLOWERS FOR ROYAL WEDDING

With the approval of His Excellency the Governor, plans are being made to carry out a suggestion made by Mr. Raymond Warnman, A.R.C.S., of the presentation of native grown flowers to be sent to England, as a gift from Trinidad for the Royal Wedding of H. R. H. the Duke of Kent, to the Princess Marina, which takes place on November 29, next.

The Orchids and other flowers will be sent frozen in a block of ice and it is hoped that they will reach here by steamship for England on November 7.

The Anthuriums, of which about one hundred and twenty are needed, will be sent in the Elders and Fildes Steamship Coronado leaving here about November 13.

Trinidad Orchids—Butterflies, Brown Bees, Yellow Bees and Anthuriums—are needed and offers of these can be made in writing to Mr. Joseph da Silva of 54 Richmond Street who, assisted by the Department of Agriculture, is in charge of local arrangements.

George F. Huggins and Company, Ltd., the Royal Mail Lines and the Trinidad Trading Co., Ltd., the Manufacturers have kindly consented to do what they can to ensure the success of the scheme.

REICH REFORM. LONDON, Oct. 19.—A Berlin correspondent states that in completion of a step in the elaboration of the plans for Reich reform, the Reich Ministry of Justice and the Prussian Ministry of Justice have been merged into one Ministry, the head of which, Dr. Gurtner, will be known as Reich and Prussian Minister for Justice.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt scanned another "Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt" to-day, and commented, "Why, it's taller than I am." The other and taller one is a Japanese chrysanthemum.

When she went to the Department of Agriculture for a preview of its chrysanthemum show, she found several pots of the "Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt" with plants more than six feet tall, topped by the great yellow blossoms.

A Thrill for those who Suffer from PYORRHOEA. We offer you an admirable preparation for this distressing malady. If you find your gums are weak and spongy, or bleeding, it's bad. If there is separation from the teeth, with formation or pus, that's the dreaded Pyorrhoea. Make up your mind at once to use "NU-MO". A month will work wonders for you.

"Robinson's NU-MO" Price 2/- (By Post 2/8) Sold by H. U. Robinson — 102 Orange St., Kingston. E. D. Kinkead, Kingston; D. D. Clementson, Port Maria.

DEMAND — "ALFA" MACARONI

1 lb. PACKETS

AT ALL GROCERS

Adolph Levy & Bro.

ACTUALLY WILTS WHISKERS! Mennen Lather Shave. TODAY there